Italians Invade Egypt, Somaliland

LIBYAN FORCES REPORT BRITISH ARMY REPELLED

Kenya Colony Third Zone of Attack.

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP).—Italy's offensive to wrest Egypt and eastern Africa from Great Britain has begun with the invasion of Egypt and British Somaliland and Kenya colony by the legionnaires of Premier Mussolini's Roman empire, playing for the highest stakes they have sought since ancient Rome ruled the world.

For such a prize that conquest of British holdings in Africa offers, Italy has an army of 500,000 white and native soldiers. Besides a Libyan army of 250,000 men Italy is believed to have 100,000 white troops in Ethiopia plus 150,000 native Askaris in Eritrea, Ethiopia, Italian Somaliland, and Libya.

Both British and Italian official reports said tonight that Mussolini's troops on the Libyan frontier are on the march.

Libyan Troops Cross Border.

In Rome, Italian authorities announced their Libyan troops had advanced into Egypt and put to flight British forces on the border.

The Italians said their march into Egypt began after intense activity by their air force.

A British communique from Cairo said the Italians began the invasion of British Somaliland on Aug. 4. Three columns drove into that little British possession adjoining Ethiopia, one moving on Oadweina [near the Ethiopian border], one on Hargeisa [just west of Oadweina], and one from Jire toward Gargara. The Italians earlier had advanced into Kenya colony, another British possession, from Ethiopia.

Egypt Keystone of Plan.

Egypt, ancient pawn of conquerors, is the keystone of the Italian plan. Possession of that cotton-rich land would give Italy a complete semi-circle of holdings stretching from Tripoli to the middle of Africa's east coast, a stranglehold on the Suez canal, and an open road to India.

Specifically, Italy is striking at Egypt, with her nearly 700 mile frontage on the Mediterranean sea and nearly 1,200 miles of Red sea coastline of Egypt and Anglo-Egyptian Sudan; British Somaliland, on the Gulf of Aden, and the vast interior regions of Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and Kenya colony, both of which border on Mussolini's Ethiopian empire.

War Zone 5,000 Miles Long.

Thus the war zone extends approximately 5,000 miles along the Mediterranean sea, the Red sea, and the Gulf of Aden, and hundreds of miles inland in the northeast and eastern Africa.

[The advance into Egypt came less than two months after Mussolini declared war on Britain and specifically named Egypt as one of the countries with nothing to fear from Italy as long as Egypt remained neutral. However, Egypt, bound by alliances to Britain, broke off relations with Italy and informed Mussolini that Egypt would go to war if her territory were attacked.]

With French Somaliland out of the fighting because of the collapse of Britain's ally, the Italians, by beating the British would gain control of both the northern and southern entrance to the Straits of Bab El Mandeb, which lie between the Red sea and the Gulf of Aden.

Probable Italian Plan.

FIRST—A drive eastward along the Mediterranean toward Alexandria and Cairo, with the advancing columns mushrooming out as they reach the Nile delta.

SECOND—Concerted drives from Eritrea and Ethiopia's Beni Shangul into Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, smashing at Khartum and other vital points on the Nile, which, winding thru Egypt and the Sudan, is the main means of communication and transport.

THIRD—Purely local engagements along the Kenya frontier to keep South African forces engaged until Egypt is conquered.

Weighing against the success of such a plan are the great distances of Africa, the unknown and almost

New Chairman Has Ideas for a Dream City

George T. Horton, new chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, looks forward to the day when cities will be virtually perfect.

There will be lots of parks, streets will run in back of houses instead of in front, homes will be built entirely without windows and, as Horton put it yesterday at the semimonthly meeting of the commission, there will be no "wretched stoplights at street corners to ruin our dispositions."

Horton's hope for the future was expressed after the commission members, most of them newly appointed, had received a report from Hugh Young, veteran commission engineer, regarding the city's long range planning program. The report dealt with details of the land use survey, the Congress street highway, the extension of Wacker drive, the widening of North State street, the lake front airport, harbor improvements, and the like.

Defer Study of Report.

The members voted to defer consideration of the report until Young returns from his vacation in a few weeks. Then Horton, who is president of the Chicago Bridge and Iron company, spoke.

"It seems to me," he began, "that most of our cities as they exist today are all wrong. Most of them ought to be rebuilt in the years to come."

One bad thing, he said, is that buildings face the street. "This greatly increases all service tasks," he declared. [Later he said that in the city of the future either the streets or houses would have to be turned around. The present streets would be converted into playspots or parks and all motor traffic would run at the back of the houses.]

"There are miles of landscaped parkways which should be used for parks instead of mere ornaments," Horton continued. "Sidewalks are too near the streets and the children playing thereon are a constant terror to their parents and motorists."

The House of the Future.

As for modern houses! Horton described them as "miserably built and horribly ventilated." He told a reporter later that the home of the future should be completely without windows, air-conditioned, and with lighting as efficient and health giving as sunlight.

Horton concluded his remarks with the comment, "All these things considered, it's not surprising to me that the city is losing its population so fast."

Member Frank Rathje, president of the Chicago Bank and Trust company, declared, "Oh, I don't know. Chicago's not so bad."

"That's true," replied Member Albert Lepawsky, director of the Municipal Finance Officers' association and a lecturer at the University of Chicago, "but such criticism of the modern city isn't as screwy as it sounds. It's important to know how high a bridge is to be or how much a street is to be widened—but it's just as important to have these long range ideas, too."

After all present agreed it certainly would be a fine thing to have perfect cities, the meeting adjourned.

GOV. STARK IS AHEAD IN DEMOCRATIC RACE FOR SENATORIAL SEAT

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7, Wednesday (AP).—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's lead for the Democratic senatorial nomination dwindled to 6,000 early today as additional returns from Jackson county, home of Senator Harry S. Truman, and St. Louis ate into the governor's margin.

The vote in 2,483 of Missouri's 4,447 precincts, including 250 of 783 in St. Louis and 165 of 551 in Jackson county [Kansas City] was: Stark 129,014, Truman 123,053; Maurice M. Milligan, former United States district attorney at Kansas City, 58,727.

In the contest for the Democratic nomination for governor, the vote in 1,190 precincts for the two principal candidates was: Lawrence McDaniel of St. Louis, 53,748; State Senator Allen McReynolds of Carthage, 47,552.

Manvel H. Davis of Kansas City jumped far into the lead for the Republican senatorial nomination — a seven way race that included a former Democrat, Ewing Y. Mitchell of Springfield, who served as assistant secretary of commerce in President Roosevelt's first term.

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Aug. 6 (AP).—Monte Carlo's famous gambling casino has been reopened less than a month after the French-German armistice. ## Story of Fort That Held Out Despite Truce

BY PRESTON GROVER.

FORT HOCHWALD, IN THE MAGINOT LINE, Aug. 6 (AP).—The strange story of this French fort, which held out for nine days after the armistice, was told tonight to a party of correspondents taken on a visit to it by its German captors.

Despite its German name, Hochwald [high forest] was one of the two strongest forts in the Maginot system.

When the Germans finally entered it they discovered that a dive bomber raid had paralyzed its strongest turret and cracked its walls of 6 foot reinforced concrete so that daylight shone thru.

Approach Fort from Rear.

The Germans knew it was doomed to easy capture when the Rhine crossings were forced and the Maginot line punctured on both sides of the fort last June 15 and 16.

They approached the fort from the rear and found it guarded by a pair of antitank guns and several machine guns sticking thru apertures in the concrete.

As French capitulation already was imminent and German armies already had passed 100 miles beyond, they made no immediate effort to take the fort.

Refuse to Give Up.

When it refused to surrender, however, a Sutka [dive bomber] attack was launched June 20. Despite the force of the dive bombers' onslaughts the French still refused to give up.

Conclusion of the armistice June 22 meant nothing to its defenders, as they were completely out of communication with other French forces and refused to believe German assertions that the fighting was over.

The Germans said 200 Frenchmen fled to the rear, quitting the fort after the Stuka attack, but that 950 others held out.

Germans said this huge fort, part of a series costing the French a half billion dollars, never fired one shot hindering the German advance.

Its passageways were studded with machine guns for a last action defense, but a joint French-German commission arrived July 1 to tell the French troops inside that an armistice had been reached.

Germans said they found a three months' food supply for the garrison inside.

HOUSE ACTS TO LET FBI LISTEN IN ON 'SPY TALK'

Congress Warned of Dictator Trend.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—In the face of charges that congress is being stampeded into passage of dictatorship legislation in the name of national emergency, the house today by a voice vote adopted a joint resolution giving the Federal Bureau of Investigation authority to tap wires to prevent interference with national defense preparations.

Such wire tapping, the bill provides, is to be only at the direction of the attorney general and only "to ascertain, prevent, and frustrate any interference or attempt or plans to interfere with the national defense by sabotage, treason, seditious conspiracy, espionage, violations of the neutrality law, or in any other manner."

Wisconsin Congressman Protests.

Only a handful of congressmen were on the floor when the measure was jammed thru following a favorable report from the judiciary committee. From the Republican side only Representative John C. Schafer [R., Wis.], rose to object.

Speaking in behalf of his own amendment offered to kill the resolution, he warned that the measure had dictatorship implications.

"I, for one, won't run to cover under this wave of New Deal propaganda designed to set up a dictatorship under a third term administration," he cried. "For 10 years I've sat here in this house listening to other gentlemen orate on the evils of wire tapping. I was against wire tapping then, and I'm against it now.

"Under this law the burocrats will have the right to tap every wire in the land. This is a constitutional democracy. The people still have their rights. The government investigators will now be empowered to violate the laws in not less than 25 of our states. Those laws, don't forget, were passed under the federal constitution."

Only Negative Vote.

Schafer's was the only "nay" in the chamber when the resolution was called up for passage. Previously Representative Emanuel Celler, a member of the judiciary committee, had explained that the resolution has the approval of Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI.

Continuing the Roosevelt administration's alarmist tactics, he asserted that Hoover said the country is "full of spies" and that it is impossible to make proper investigations without permission from congress to tap wires.

"These spies," Representative Celler declared, "are now guaranteed use of public utility wires without surveillance. But criminals and other persons inimical to our democratic form of government must be tracked down and every reasonable means at the command of the government should be exercised to that end."

Reverses Stand of Congress.

The legislation is considered revolutionary in that it is directly contradictory to the previous view congress has taken toward wire tapping. A recent opinion of the United States Supreme court held that wire tapping was outlawed by the federal communications act of 1934.

Today's resolution specifically mentions this act, stating that it is being relaxed only for investigations in connection with national defense. In what is supposed to be a further safeguard, the measure provides that wire tapping can be resorted to only in cases where the attorney general himself finds probable cause that one of the offenses mentioned is being committed and so states in writing.

INDIANS SLAY SIX OIL WORKERS IN COLOMBIA WITH POISON ARROWS

CUCUTA, Colombia, Aug. 6 (AP).—Motilones Indians were reported today to have killed six oil workers, including Robert Wiesner, an oil engineer, with poisoned arrows. The victims were among a group of 60 workmen attacked yesterday in the Catatumbo jungle country at an oil construction company. The Motilones tribe has made a series of assaults on pipe line workers and labor gang encampments.

Call Film Stars as Jury Delves Into Red Plots

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6 (AP).—John L. Leech, former Los Angeles county organizer for the communist party, told a grand jury today, according to the district attorney's office, that the party organized the Hollywood Anti-Nazi league as a rich source of funds from motion picture luminaries.

Leech, a principal witness at the recent Harry Bridges deportation hearing and before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, appeared before the county grand jury at the opening of its investigation of communist activities.

District Attorney Buron Fitts yesterday said he would present "startling" evidence that communists ultimately hope to overthrow the government and would assassinate Henry Ford and other prominent industrialists unless they "play ball" with them.

Call Film Notables.

It was disclosed that subpenas have been issued for Herbert Biberman, motion picture director and husband of Gale Sondergaard, actress; Lionel Stander, comedian, and about 40 other film figures.

"The communist party conceived the idea of playing on the fears of certain racial groups and getting them into the communist party by selling them the idea that the party, being an international organization, was the only agency in position to effectively combat the influence of Hitlerism and afford protection to these groups," Leech was said to have told the grand jury.

He said membership of the Anti-Nazi league grew to 3,000 in Hollywood and was such a success, from the communist party's standpoint, that it was made national in scope. About the time of the Hitler-Stalin pact, its name was changed to the Hollywood League for Democratic Action.

Join EPIC Movement.

Leech was quoted as telling the grand jury that Earl Browder, head of the communist party in the United States, instructed him to arrange for infiltration of party members into the EPIC movement, with the backing of which Upton Sinclair won the Democratic nomination for governor in 1934, in the hope of developing a farmer-labor party.

Two Phases of Inquiry.

Fitts told the jury that Riley's slaying "was prompted by the efforts of the communists and their spies to destroy legitimate unionism by their infiltration process." He said the waterfront killing will constitute one phase of the investigation with the second phase devoted to communist party affairs in general.

"The United States, especially the Pacific coast and in particular Los Angeles county, cannot continue to drift with safety while these people are at work ceaselessly, boring from within," he asserted.

"The proper thing is to fight it out legally under the law, because if we do not, sooner or later we will have to fight it out on some different basis."

U. S. Says Norse Princess May Sail to America

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 [Special]. Crown Princess Martha of Norway and her children will be permitted to come to the United States, on the American army transport American Legion from Finland, if they wish. Arrangements for them to make the trip have been completed, the state department said today. Officials said the crown princess has not revealed her final decision. The transport was sent to Petsamo, on the Finnish Arctic coast, to evacuate Americans from Scandinavian and Baltic countries.

CHARGES SLUSH FUND RAISING TO PROMOTE DRAFT

Senator Holt Hits Conscription.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] infuriated administration leaders in the senate today when he traced the New Deal's conscription bill to a meeting of Wall street lawyers, international bankers, and directors in munitions enterprises at the Harvard club in New York City on May 22.

Senator Holt [top] and Senator Minton.

Senator Holt charged that the same group which met at the Harvard club to discuss the conscription of the youth of America met again at the same place on June 3 and agreed to raise a $250,000 slush fund to finance the propaganda to drive it thru congress.

The group included some of the individuals who were most active in pushing the United States into the world war in 1917 and some who favor an immediate declaration of war against Germany now, the young West Virginia senator declared.

Participants Are Named.

Among those named by Senator Holt as taking part in the meeting to discuss the draft bill were the following: Grenville Clark, member of the New York law firm of Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine; Gen. John F. O'Ryan, New York lawyer and world war commander; Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget; Henry L. Stimson, subsequently appointed secretary of war; Robert P. Patterson, who recently became assistant secretary of war; Elihu Root Jr., also a member of the firm of Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine; Julius Ochs Adler, general manager of the New York Times; K. P. Budd, director of the North British and Mercantile Insurance company; J. B. Taylor, director of several aviation companies; F. M. Weld, director of the Pilgrim Exploration company, an oil concern, and Brig. Gen. Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war and director of munitions in world war days.

Bitter Words Exchanged.

Senator Holt's charges resulted in one of the most vitriolic exchanges in recent senate history. Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], majority whip of the senate and New Deal yes man, questioned the West Virginian's patriotism, charged he came from a family of slackers, accused him of being a Hitler spokesman, and called him a "foul mouthed senator."

Holt denounced Minton's statements as "malicious lies" and asserted that "whenever the administration wants filth to be thrown it gets the senator from Indiana to throw it."

Altho the senate was considering a resolution authorizing President Roosevelt to order the National Guard and the regular army reserve and retired personnel into active federal service, Senator Holt took the floor to discuss the bill authorizing the President to raise a mass conscript army. The conscription bill is next on the senate's program and is the most controversial proposal before congress. It is overshadowed only by the larger issue of the administration's war policy, with which it is closely associated by the senate noninterventionists.

Discusses May 22 Meeting.

In discussing the meeting in the Harvard club on May 22 Holt said:

"Who are those brave patriots who put this bill across? We find Mr. Grenville Clark of the law firm of Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine, who have so loyally fought regimentation in America.

"Who else was there? Gen. John F. O'Ryan; let me read to you what Gen. O'Ryan said before the last war as to why we should draft boys and have them ready for war. This is his language:

"The first thing that must be done is to destroy all initiative, and that, with the training, fits men to be soldiers. The recruit does not know how to obey orders. His mental state differs from that of the trained soldier, who obeys mechanically. We must get our men so that they are machines.

Stimson Also Mentioned.

"Gen. O'Ryan, as most of you know, has already advocated the entrance of the United States into this war. He is in favor of the United States going over there now. He is for conscription, and was present at the Harvard club when this committee was set up.

"Who else was there? Lewis W. Douglas was there. I shall not say about him what the President did.

[Douglas was accused by President Roosevelt of putting dollars above humanity when he declared for Wendell L. Willkie for President.]

"Who else was there? Henry L. Stimson, the secretary of war, who is carrying out in the cabinet the wishes of those who want us to go to war. No matter how he proclaims it to the public, Henry L. Stimson would be for war today if he felt he could get a declaration of war thru congress.

Raises Cabinet Question.

"Henry L. Stimson was present at the meeting, as he was at the meeting that set up the infamous Clark Eichelberger-William Allen White Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. Was that why he was appointed to the cabinet?

[Stimson was appointed on June 20, two days after he came out publicly for conscription. The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, with headquarters in New York City, is the leading interventionist propaganda organization in the country, organized to collect funds to be used for propaganda purposes.]

"Who else was present? Robert P. Patterson, who is now assistant in the department of war.

"Who else was present? Elihu Root Jr. was there. He is also a member of the firm of Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballatine.

"Julius Ochs Adler, general manager of the New York Times, a man who holds stock in corporations in countries now at war, was there. Mr. Adler wants the American boy to protect his investments.

[Senator Holt did not say so, but the Burke - Wadsworth conscription bill, now pending in revised form, was sponsored publicly by the Military Training Camps association, with which Adler is prominently identified.]

Others are Enumerated.

"Who else was there? We find Mr. K. P. Budd. That may not mean anything to you, but he is a director of the North British and Mercantile Insurance company, with headquarters in London.

"We find Mr. J. B. Taylor, whose money is invested in aircraft, and a director of many aviation corporations.

"We find Mr. F. M. Weld. He is in the oil business, in Pilgrim Exploration company, and other things that I could mention.

"Who else was there? Brig. Gen. Benedict Crowell, who was assistant secretary of war and director of munitions during the world war.

Later Meetings Described.

"These men met on the 22d day of May and established this drive for conscription. On the 25th day of May they went back to the same club and there passed resolutions for aid to the allies short of war. I have been advised that their statements there were as bellicose as if we were in war.

"On the 3d day of June they met again. They met to raise money, and they said they were going to raise a quarter of a million dollars. What for? Why should men in business have to raise a quarter of a million dollars to drive a conscription bill thru the congress of the United States? If conscription was a good thing for this country would not our army and navy ask for it? Would we not vote for it without a propaganda drive to whip us into line?

"Think of that! Men raising a quarter of a million dollars to conscript boys in America. Such patriotism!

Not Main Street, He Says.

"The call for conscription did not come from the farms of America, and the farmers are just as patriotic as anybody else. It did not come from Main street. Give me a Main street boy and I will show you a boy who will fight just as much as the boy who is reared on Wall street. The call for conscription came from the lawyers and international bankers of Wall street."

Senator Minton, replying to Holt, said he believed the men who gathered at the Harvard club to "draft the conscription bill were sincere, honest, patriotic men, even if they came from the upper crust, so to speak."

"But I get a little weary of being lectured about patriotism by the senator from West Virginia," Minton continued. "He has told the senate who was at this meeting where patriots met to consider defense measures for this country.

Recalls 1917 and 1918.

"I will tell the senate who was not there. There were not any Holts there, because the Holt family does not teach that kind of doctrine. When I was over in France in 1917 and 1918 the father of the senator from West Virginia was preaching that people should not raise any food to send to me and my comrades who were fighting for this country in France. The father of the senator from West Virginia sent his son, who was eligible for service, to hide away in South America to avoid the draft.

[Minton referred to a brother of Holt. The senator, who is 35 years old, was too young to serve.]

"I get a little impatient at being lectured about what I consider to be my patriotic duty in this crisis which faces my beloved country at this time; I get a little impatient at being lectured from a slacker family."

Barkley Interrupts Holt.

In denying Minton's assertions, Holt declared: "There never has been a time in recent history when the administration wanted some dirty, filthy, low job done that it could not get the senator from Indiana to do it."

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who had listened with obvious approbation during Minton's assaults on the character of Holt and his family, interrupted to call Holt to order under the senate rule which forbids one senator to impugn the motives of another.

Barkley protested that Holt had intimated that Minton could be "obtained to deal in low, dirty, contemptible debate."

After an extended colloquy between Barkley and Senator Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.], who was in the chair, Holt was forced to take his seat under the rule but was permitted on Barkley's motion to "proceed in order."

West Virginian Applauded.

The galleries were filled with spectators, who gave Holt three loud ovations, two of them during his altercation with Minton. The spectators ignored admonitions from the chair that manifestations of applause are not permissible under the senate rules. There was no applause for Minton.

After denouncing Minton's statements as "malicious lies," Holt proceeded:

"My father is dead. He cannot protect himself. My father was a patriot. He enlisted in the civil war when he was 13 years of age. He will be long remembered as a man who stood courageously for the things in which he believed. Yes, he was against the world war; and thousands of American boys would be alive today if my father's course had been upheld by the American people."

Charges False Testimony.

Holt declared that members of his family participated in all the wars in American history, including the revolutionary war. He obtained permission to insert in the record a letter from the war department commending his brother for work in the construction of military camps in the world war.

Holt said the statement that his father opposed sending food to the American soldiers in France was a malicious lie based on the false testimony of a man who was superintendent of schools in Holt's home town—"A man later appointed to office by President Roosevelt in order to smack at me."

When he was 12 years old, Holt said, this same superintendent came to his classroom and said, "Old Doc Holt ought to be lined up against a wall and shot."

Twice after the war, Holt said, his father was elected mayor by write-in ballots, receiving more votes than both his opponents.

Word Battle Renewed.

Later Minton renewed his attack on the Holt family, reading extracts from West Virginia newspapers which quoted the senator's father as saying he sent his son to South America so he would not have to go to war.

"Those statements were denied by my father and proven to be untrue, but like lice, they continue to be carried by rats," Holt interposed. The spectators laughed uproariously.

Holt later asserted that "the senator from Indiana is in no shape to be on the floor of the senate." Minton demanded to know what Holt meant by this statement, but Majority Leader Barkley, who had the floor, declined to yield further and Holt had no opportunity to explain. Previously, however, he had commented that Minton had been "going in and out of the door," apparently for "inspiration."

ADLER GIVES REPLY

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—Julius Ochs Adler, civilian aid to the secretary of war and general manager of the New York Times, issued a reply tonight to an attack made in the senate by Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] on him and other prominent persons. The statement said in part:

"Senator Holt's statement concerning those present at the Harvard club meeting favoring compulsory military service, embodied in the Burke-Wadsworth bill, contained nothing that was not publicly known. There was a meeting of the 2d corps area Military Training Camps association, held at the Harvard club on May 22, and the list of those present, as well as the resolutions adopted, were given to the press and published in the New York Times and other newspapers, and were carried by the press associations.

Tells Long Standing Policy.

"The Military Training Camps association is recognized by the war department. The governing body consists of 9 civilian aids to the secretary of war and 48 civilian state aids of the secretary of war. It represents thousands of world war officers who were trained at Plattsburg and similar camps.

"Almost the first words of the constitution of the association state that the association believes in universal military conscription as the proper means for defense of the nation. This has been in its constitution since the association was founded in 1920. As corps area head for the 2d corps area, I naturally was present at the meeting, held under the auspices of the 2d corps area.

Denies Foreign Investments.

"With respect to charges made that I favored the bill for selective service in order to protect my foreign investments in countries now at war, I have this to say:

"I have no investments of any kind whatsoever in any corporation other than the New York Times company and the Times Printing company, the latter publishing the Chattanooga Times, in Tennessee, and government bonds.

"As I have publicly stated heretofore, I believe that the only way adequately to prepare this country for defense is a selective service bill that will permit a sufficient number of men to be trained before a war emergency arises. The volunteer system, thruout the entire history of this nation, has never worked."

Grenville Clark Replies.

Dublin, N. H., Aug. 6 [Special].—Grenville Clark, chairman of the national emergency committee of the Military Training Camps' Association of the United States, issued the following statement tonight in reply to Senator Rush D. Holt:

"The personal attacks by Senator Holt in the senate today on members of the Military Training Camps association who sponsored the original selective service bill are to be expected in view of the source from which they come. The integrity and character of those concerned rests on many years of private and public life in their communities.

"The origin of the pending bill, the names of those who worked on it, and their reasons for so doing were openly and fully stated at the first session of the hearings in the senate military affairs committee. This body of men has no need to meet irresponsible and false charges, but can stand on their records and the patriotic character of their motives."

MOTHER UNFOLDS 'I AM' CATECHISM IN SUIT OVER BOY

Contests Father's Plea for Sole Custody.

The catechism of St. Germain, savior of the "I Am" cult, was unfolded yesterday by a mother fighting to retain partial custody of her son, 10 years old. She told of her efforts to inculcate the boy with the mystic teachings and of her hopes that he would be a "real son of light."

Harold Moberg.

The mother is Mrs. Naomi Moberg, 33 years old, of 9253 South Damen avenue. Her son, Robert, is a pupil at the Dakota School for Boys in Dakota, Stephenson county. Under terms of a divorce decree entered in November, 1934, she and her former husband, Harold, of Des Moines, Ia., divide the boy's custody while Robert is not in school.

Asks Sole Custody.

Moberg is now asking sole custody of the boy, contending that Robert is in danger of being affected mentally and physically by the "I Am" beliefs of his mother. Mrs. Moberg, a slender, dark haired woman, took the witness stand yesterday before Master in Chancery Thomas J. Sheehan in Circuit court. She is represented by Attorney Benjamin H. Vanderveld.

Attorney Benjamin B. Davis, counsel for Moberg, wanted to know something about "I Am."

"We believe in St. Germain, the ascended being," Mrs. Moberg said. "We believe that everybody in the world needs the great flame, produced in the ascent from the flesh to the 'I Am' presence. There is nothing spiritualistic about this; it is just a mighty divine law."

St. Germain has wandered thru history, the cultists believe, last having breathed earthly air thru the accommodating body of Francis Bacon. Since then, he has spoken only thru Guy Ballard, head of the "I Am" movement. Ballard died [or ascended] last Dec. 29.

24 Leaders Indicted.

Two weeks ago federal prosecutors indicted 24 of the cult leaders, including Ballard's widow, Edna; her son, Donald, and Paul Potter, head of the group in Chicago. They are accused of fraudulent use of the mails to obtain contributions from devotees, who allegedly were promised immortality.

"Do you try to press all these teachings on a boy 10 years old?" Attorney Davis asked Mrs. Moberg.

"I've allowed him a choice," she replied. "I couldn't force anything on him. He's too smart to believe hooey. I took him to an 'I Am' meeting a year ago and I was tickled to death to see that he might become a real son of light. His understanding is great."

Her Letters Introduced.

Eighteen letters written by Mrs. Moberg to her son were then offered in evidence by Davis. Thruout them, she exhorted the boy to follow the 'I Am' teachings. Here are some of her directions:

"Don't forget to make the ascension call several times a day."

"I hope you remember to use the tube of light and the violet flame each day."

"Say often: 'I am always victorious in the light.'"

"You know harmony is the law, not fighting. Football and soccer is fighting. It is best to play at harmonious games."

EACH MUST MAKE REAL SACRIFICE, HULL TELLS U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull called on the American people today for real sacrifice and "hard personal service" to help keep the nation at peace.

Without mentioning specifically the controversial question of conscription, he counseled against complacency in the face of what he termed terrific problems and conditions and declared:

"The one and only sure way for our nation to avoid being drawn into serious trouble or actual war is for our people to become thoroly conscious of the possibilities of danger, to make up their minds that we must continue to arm and to arm to such an extent that the forces of conquest and ruin will not dare make an attack on us or on any part of this hemisphere.

"To this end, each citizen must be ready and willing for real sacrifice of time and of substance, and for hard personal service."

BURGLAR RANSACKS HOME.

GRACIE FIELDS' GEMS AND GOLD STIR PARLIAMENT

Reveal She Took Fortune Out of England.

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP).—Publication of the names of all wealthy residents allowed to take large amounts of money and valuables from England was threatened tonight in a controversy over the naming of Gracie Fields, English commedienne, in the house of commons as leaving the country with £8,000 [about $32,000].

Monty Banks.

In response to a question in the house, a treasury spokesman said she had not sought permission to take more than the regulation £10 [$40] when she left England recently, but had been allowed to take £8,000 [$32,000] last October. Her husband, Monty Banks, was allowed to take £20,000 [about $80,000].

Names to Be Demanded.

Dr. H. B. Morgan, Laborite member of parliament from Rochdale, Miss Fields' home town, said he would demand in commons Aug. 13 that the names of all others given the same permission to take out money and valuables be made public.

"I think it is very unfortunate," he said, "that Miss Fields should be pilloried when some rich and noble people had the same facilities."

[In Hollywood Banks declared that British treasury officials are "trying to make things disagreeable" for his wife "just because I am Italian." He said he and his wife "followed the usual procedure when we left England."]

Hints Diamonds Were Taken.

Noel Coward's "contacts among certain sections of American opinion" ordinarily difficult for Britons to reach were cited today by Harold Nicolson, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of information, in defense of the playwright's current visit to the United States.

Nicolson said Coward went abroad with the approval of the minister of information and was invited to call on President Roosevelt, a friend of long standing.

WYLES ADMITS PROPAGANDA IN FAVOR OF DRAFT

Tells of Fund Raised to Support Bill.

Tom R. Wyles of Chicago, secretary of the Military Training Camps association, admitted frankly last night that he was vice chairman of the group which met in New York last May to boost the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill. He said the group managed to raise $250,000 to be used in informing the public of the merits of the bill.

It was this group that Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] yesterday described as "Wall street lawyers, international bankers and directors in munitions enterprises," and the real backers of the selective draft proposals.

"Old Plattsburg Crowd."

"The men who decided to raise the fund and expend it in persuading the people to adopt the bill are the old Plattsburg crowd," said Wyles. "They want selective service because they know what a mess we'd be in without it."

Wyles, who is chief civilian aid to the secretary of war, said the group formed a committee, known as the National Emergency Committee of the MTCA, but that in this matter the group was acting on its own initiative, and that in collecting and disbursing the $250,000 fund acted without authorization from the association.

Money Buys Radio Time.

"The MTCA has been in existence since 1923 and coöperates closely with the secretary of war," Wyles continued. "The association has not, in its official capacity, had anything to do with the fund or its expenditure. The money has been used in radio programs and other methods of informing the people."

He confirmed the presence at the meeting in New York of practically all those mentioned by Senator Holt and asserted they did not deserve the description given them by the senator.

SEVEN BOOKIES FINED $10 EACH.

Fines of $10 and $8.50 costs each were levied by Judge Lambert K. Hayes in South State street police court yesterday against seven men who pleaded guilty of accepting horse race bets.

WALSH TO FIGHT DESTROYER SALE AS 'ACT OF WAR'

Opposes Pershing Plan to Modify Legal Ban.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, today condemned the Roosevelt administration's project to release 50 or more American destroyers to Great Britain as "an act of war that would plunge this country into war."

Returning to the senate from a trip to Massachusetts, Chairman Walsh commented for the first time on the radio speech delivered Sunday night by Gen. John J. Pershing, who declared it to be the duty of this country to help Great Britain immediately by turning over at least 50 destroyers. Gen. Pershing's speech was broadcast by the three national radio chains, the officials of which yielded to administration pressure and donated the time.

Blocks Sale of Mosquito Fleet.

Last June Senator Walsh blocked an administration scheme, which had been approved by President Roosevelt, to release the navy's mosquito fleet of 23 torpedo boats and submarine chasers for sale to Great Britain. He discovered a 1917 statute making the proposed deal a criminal offense and wrote into a new act a provision reaffirming the original prohibition against transferring vessels of war to a belligerent nation.

Today Walsh served notice that he will "fight to the bitter end against any change in that law to make possible the release of our destroyers."

"It is beyond my capacity," said Senator Walsh, "to reconcile the views of those who, step by step, are urging our participation in the European war and at the same time are saying that we are grossly unprepared for war."

Denies Coercion of Chains.

Altho denying reports current in broadcasting circles that he virtually ordered officials of the three radio networks to allot free time for Gen. Pershing's speech, James L. Fly, chairman of the Federal Communications commission, has admitted that he "discussed" the time allotment in advance of the broadcast.

Fly refused to affirm or deny that he discussed the matter with Joseph W. Alsop Jr., newspaper columnist and a distant cousin of the President, who was described as the go-between in negotiations with the broadcasters. Alsop refused to make any comment when asked what he had to say about his part in the matter.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], chairman of the interstate commerce committee, reaffirmed his intention to investigate the charge that Fly abused his authority in putting pressure on the broadcasters to allot free time for the Pershing speech. Wheeler will begin his investigation tomorrow, he said.

Others Named in Plot.

In addition to Alsop, Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], a red hot New Deal interventionist, and several representatives of William Allen White's Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies have been named by broadcasting officials as instigators of the Pershing broadcast.

It was learned today that the interventionists found the 79 year old retired general of the armies extremely difficult to persuade to make the speech. He agreed tentatively last Wednesday, but did not give final assurance until Saturday, when the broadcasting systems first were permitted to make the announcement.

Alsop and his columnist colleague, Robert Kintner, are the authors of "American White Paper," a book which frankly states the administration's extreme interventionist views and documents the thesis with material supplied by highly placed New Deal officials.

Opposed by Naval Officers.

On the day after Gen. Pershing's broadcast, a column by Alsop and Kintner stated that "the highest naval officers join the President—and virtually every other man in the government to whom the facts are known—in firmly believing that the needed destroyers ought to be made available promptly."

The statement that high ranking naval officers favor releasing the destroyers was denounced as unadulterated propaganda by Senator Walsh, who cited recent official testimony by Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and other officers that the navy has "not a row boat to spare."

Bar's Leaders Debate Legality of U. S. Destroyers' Transfer

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—While noted authorities today went on record almost unanimously in branding a possible transfer of United States destroyers to Great Britain as a violation of international law, it became known that the entire matter will be threshed out by the best legal minds of the nation at the annual convention of the American Bar association, Sept. 9 to 14, in Philadelphia. Gen. John J. Pershing suggested this war aid in a radio address Sunday night.

"As a practical matter of objective law, there is no doubt that such an act would constitute a violation of international law," said James W. Ryan, chairman of the American Bar association's committee on law protecting Americans and their properties in foreign countries. Also a memberof the bar's council of international and comparative law, he added: "It doesn't take an expert to tell that."

Report to Be Submitted.

Ryan said the council would submit its report on the matter to the Bar association's board of governors for action at the convention. He would not anticipate the effect of the report on the convention's attitude because of other "very serious questions" involved. These considerations, he said, include national defense and other government policies, as well as the advisability of taking a stand which might become of political consequence in a Presidential election year.

Possibly influenced by the war clamor prevalent in the east for months, however, a majority of the legal experts who would comment did not hesitate to put themselves in the incongruous position of advocating an action which they were frank to say would clearly violate the international law on which they are authorities.

Cites Law's Suspension.

Maurice Leon, a member of the American Society of International Law, was outspoken in sounding such views.

"If international law," he said, "is presumed to be in force—whereas it actually seems in suspense in favor of the law of the jungle—we could not transfer or sell destroyers. But it would seem that those who flaunt international law scarcely are entitled to the benefits of it."

Other authorities, tho personally favoring the Pershing proposal, warned that such a step should be taken only after a most careful consideration of how national defense best might be served.

John W. Davis, chairman of the committee on international law of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and the 1924 Democratic Presidential nominee, said the supplying of war materials by a neutral to a belligerent "theoretically" is a clear breach of neutrality under international law.

"I hope they do it, however," he said of the destroyer transfer.

Another authority, who preferred to remain anonymous, said bluntly that the destroyer transfer should be a matter of national defense policy rather than law. Stressing the "if," he said law experts should keep quiet if Gen. Pershing and competent military authorities sincerely believe the destroyer transfer serves defense better than keeping the warships at home.

ITALIAN ARMIES BEGIN DRIVES ON BRITISH IN AFRICA

Invade Egypt; 3 Columns Attack Somaliland.

impassable country, its fiendish climate, and British soldiers trained in 40 years of empire wars in India, Burma and Africa itself for just this kind of fighting.

Heat and Water Big Factors.

An Italian column striking eastward from Tobruk into Egypt would face terrific heat, a great ally of the defenders. Temperatures rise to 120 degrees Fahrenheit.

The factor of water intrudes itself on all staff councils, British and Italian. British officers who know the country say Italy's army now near its bases has an ample supply, but when it moves away the situation will change.

To the east, Britain holds great oases. Knowing such tempting prizes might bring about a dispersion of invaders mad for water, the British would be able to strike one column at a time with tanks, armored cars, cavalry and camel corps. In that way, they would not encounter the full force of the invasion in one field.

British Army Smaller.

The British army in Africa is smaller than the Italian, but numbers are cumbersome where a man on the desert can be seen by a plane miles away.

The fighting troops comprise some of the empire's best—tough Scots and Australians, mild "Tommies" who fight with cool indifference, native troops such as the bearded Sikhs from India, agile Ghurkas, and stalwart Negroes just a generation removed from the bush.

On the Kenya-Ethiopia frontier are South Africans, including some crack cavalry units. They guarantee to hold the frontier alone and may coöperate with British troops in the Somaliland in a double drive against Ethiopia if Haile Selassie can rally his tribes.

BUYS 2 ESTATES TO HOUSE LARGE WINDSOR PARTY

Bahama Governor's Quarters Too Small.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 6 (AP).—Two hilltop estates skirting exclusive Cable beach have been purchased by a member of the duke of Windsor's party, presumably to house part of the new Bahaman governor's entourage.

Chosen by Companion.

Capt. Vyvyan Drury, who is traveling with the duke and duchess toward Nassau, picked the two properties, Four Winds and Taiping, and arranged for their purchase. Capt. Drury spent last winter in the Bahamas.

Government house, 20 room official residence of the governor, heretofore has been sufficient to care for the governors' immediate parties, but because of the duke's station he will have more aids than his predecessors.

Bermudans to Hail Couple.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 6 (AP).—A military guard will meet the duke and duchess of Windsor when they arrive in Bermuda on Thursday on their way to the duke's new post as governor of the Bahamas.

A horse drawn carriage will take them thru streets traditionally devoid of motor cars and most of Hamilton's 3,200 residents probably will line the route since a half holiday is observed here on Thursdays.

The duke and duchess will be the guests of Gen. Sir Denis Bernhard, the governor, but no plans for entertainment have been made because they will be making a private visit here.

The Windsors will leave the American Export liner Excalibur at Grassy bay and land by a tender. How soon they will go on to the Bahamas is not known.

BRITISH CRITICIZE CUDAHY'S PLEA TO AID BELGIANS

Envoy Predicts a Famine During Winter.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 7, Wednesday.—London newspapers today sharply criticized John Cudahy, American ambassador to Belgium, who, in an interview yesterday, voiced a plea that the United States, if possible, should do something to avert starvation in Belgium and elsewhere in Europe next winter.

Cudahy predicted a European famine when he was interviewed by newspaper men in the American embassy in London.

"If you think Europe is a howling hell now, there are no words in the English language adequate to describe what it will be next winter unless something is done about it," he said.

To Tell America of Crisis.

The ambassador, who lost his post when the diplomatic corps was dismissed in Brussels July 15, said he was on his way to America, where he would tell the people what he had seen.

"You cannot look at 8,000,000 starving people without doing something about it," he remarked.

Cudahy suggested the possibility of the United States sending food to the civilian population under promises from the German government that none of it would be requisitioned for Adolf Hitler's soldiers.

The ambassador painted a grim picture of Belgium.

"All industry has stopped," he said. "Thousands upon thousands of people left the country and there are still more than 2,500,000 Belgians somewhere in France. Harvests are rotting in the sun.

Imports 75 Per Cent of Wheat.

"Belgium imports 75 per cent of her wheat. Present supplies with severe rationing—225 grams, or a half a pound of bread per person per day—will last until Sept. 1, or at best until early October."

When existing supplies are exhausted, he said, a famine only could be averted by imports. The same situation, he added, exists in a large part of France.

Cudahy recalled that the American relief administration under Herbert Hoover took over the task of feeding the Belgians in 1914. Then the allies still held ports on the English channel. Now the channel ports are in German hands and this "changes the situation entirely."

The ambassador said both British and German coöperation would be necessary before the scheme for aiding Belgium could be organized.

He said he believed the German army was ready to promise not to take over any shipments of food.

Praises Germans Behavior.

Cudahy said he "knew of not one authentic atrocity committed by the German army in Belgium."

"The Germans behaved themselves with great restraint," he declared, adding that "I think these Germans behaved better than United States soldiers would have done."

He said the surrender of the Belgian army by King Leopold was the only alternative to death for his 500,000 soldiers and countless refugees who mingled with them.

"When the truth is known about King Leopold his decision to surrender will not only be accepted but will be applauded," the envoy said. "I saw him before I left. I feel we should try and see both sides of his predicament, not judge harshly on insufficient facts."

Criticizes Envoy's Remarks.

The diplomatic correspondent of the News Chronicle criticized Cudahy's remarks under the headline, "Strange Statements by United States Envoy." The writer said:

"It is generally felt on the grounds of good taste alone that this is hardly the time for a foreign diplomat, ostensibly in England on a purely private visit, to praise openly the German conduct of the invasion of an innocent neutral and by implication making it appear that Britain is responsible for famine in Belgium and other German occupied territories.

"The greatest exception is taken to the suggestion that the United States might have to feed Belgium as she did in 1914."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said Cudahy is an "honest observer—altho, of course, the Nazis were on their best behavior whenever he was observing." The paper said that Britain must consider an answer to his remarks very carefully because "many Americans will be inclined to blame the British blockade for the forthcoming famine."

Despite the fact the Belgians are now facing starvation, the Express said Adolf Hitler started the blockade and he "decided food is a military objective."

"The best reply to Cudahy's story is to tell the world how Hitler hopes to win the war by starving our women and children," the article concluded.

JAPANESE SEIZE SEVEN CHIEFS OF SALVATION ARMY

Hold Them on Suspicion of Being Spies.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 7, Wednesday.—The war office announced today that seven leaders of the Salvation army who were taken into custody last Wednesday were suspected of espionage. The leaders include Lieutenant Commissioner Masuzo Uemura, Territorial Commander Yasoo Sagawa, and the chief secretary.

The war office statement said the army is greatly concerned with the defense of the country in the field of thought. It said the army was impelled to act against those who, it charged, under the cloak of religion, compromised the intellectual life of the people by working as agents of foreign intelligence services, by taking leading positions in drives against Japanese thought, or by allowing themselves to become a hotbed of foreign intrigue against Japanese thought.

Criticized for Stand.

The Salvation army has been widely criticized for several years. The question was brought up in the diet last year when the organization was criticized for treating Corea as a separate country and recognizing Chinese sovereignty over Manchukuo.

The Salvation army was charged with being a catspaw of Britain, "plotting black treason against the national constitution of Japan and attempting to frustrate the work of constructing a new order in East Asia. The lower house was told that a book by Commander Gumrei Yamamuro was disrespectful to the emperor and it was banned.

The ministry of education is understood to be investigating the inner organization of all foreign religious bodies. It is stated that almost all Christian sects have doctrines and theories not in harmony with the national policy of Japan as well as the traditional thought of the people who have been brought up in oriental teachings. It is declared the religious bodies will have to be reformed to harmonize perfectly with Japanese ideas.

Confers with Foreign Chief.

Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka conferred yesterday with Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador. He was reported to have asked an explanation of the arrests of Japanese in London and other parts of the empire. He was understood to have made no demands.

[Two prominent Japanese business men were arrested last Friday night in London under circumstances almost identical with the previous arrest in Japan of a number of Britons. The Japanese ambassador to London made a sharp protest, but the British denied they had acted in retaliation. Yesterday in London the resultant British-Japanese tension was reported to have eased after the release of one of the Japanese, Satoru Makihara, agent for vast business and banking interests.]

Calls Situation Delicate.

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 6 (AP).—William M. Hughes, member of the Australian war cabinet, declared today in a prepared statement that the situation in the Pacific is "delicate and might easily become grave." Developments, Hughes said, would depend on whether the Germans attempted to invade England or postponed the assault.

The 23 year old dancer testified Fitzpatrick refused to provide for her while he was away on trips or take her with him. They were married in Beverly Hills in 1937.

FLEET RETURNS TO HAWAII FOR INTENSIVE DRILLS

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Aug. 6 (AP).—The fleet has moved to the Hawaiian area for an extended stay and will continue intensive training, it was indicated today by the arrival of additional gunnery facilities and two garbage barges from San Pedro, Calif.

The fleet, under command of Admiral James O. Richardson, has been in Hawaiian waters since the March and April war games.

The battleship Utah, minus its main battery but carrying antiaircraft and secondary batteries, arrived Friday for gunnery training. Vessels of the fleet are in Pearl Harbor at present undergoing a fortnight of upkeep. Meanwhile, heavy cruisers of the Hawaiian detachment are operating off Oahu and Maui Islands. Numerous destroyers are participating.

CANADA TO LET FRENCH MINISTER REMAIN AT POST

May Exchange Envoys with Latin America.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6 (AP).—Canada has permitted the French minister, Rene Ristelhueber, to remain at his post in Canada and carry out his duties, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King told the house of commons today.

He said he believed this met with the approval of the British government altho diplomatic relations between Britain and France have been broken.

Canada has maintained close diplomatic relations with France in the past largely because of her large French speaking population.

Premier King said he was sure Minister Ristelhueber, "a very honorable man," would not send his government any information that might be harmful to Canada if it fell into German hands.

Envoys May Go to Latin America.

The prime minister said the government was considering exchange of diplomatic representatives with some of the South American countries, and said Brazil and Argentina were "a good guess" as to those given chief consideration. Several South American states, he said, had intimated they would like such an exchange.

Mackenzie King declared it would be inopportune now to discuss proposals that Canada join the Pan-American union and sign a mutual defense treaty with the United States.

George Fulford, Ontario Liberal, suggested Canada should be a member of the union, and J. F. Pouliot, Quebec Liberal, said President Roosevelt's promise to defend Canada should be implemented by a treaty in which both countries would fight for the other in case of attack.

Dominion Not Yet Invited.

Premier King said the Pan-American union was a union of republics and that the dominion had not yet been invited to join.

"I believe it would be embarrassing to the United States, to the Central and South American republics, and to ourselves, and would create misunderstanding were we to seek at this time to become a member of the Pan-American union," he said.

The prime minister agreed with Rodney Adamson, Toronto Conservative, that any attempt to join the union now would be construed as a sign of weakness.

Plan to Recess British Parliament for 2 Weeks

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP).—Tentative plans were reported today for parliament to recess Aug. 22 for two or three weeks.

FINNS SEE WAR PRIZE—RED TANK FIT FOR A BATTLE

Soldier Drives It Thru Helsingfors Streets.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 6.—A smiling Finnish soldier today drove one of the repaired tanks which the Finnish army captured from the Red army thru the main streets of Helsingfors. A crowd of boys and girls on bicycles followed the tank, which clattered over the granite paved streets of the Finnish capital.

A crowd on the sidewalks smiled grimly as they recalled the battles of last winter when the Russians lost 1,500 tanks before the war ended with the Red army still vainly trying to break the Finnish defense and capture Viipuri.

The unexpected and unheralded appearance of the lone tank trophy, which has been reconditioned for combat, shows the morale of the country, according to the Finns.

Draw Exact Frontiers.

Finland's statesmen, her delegates to parliament, and her leaders in all walks of life emphasize that Finland wishes to live in peace and friendship with the soviet government. The press warmly confirms this attitude and today it announced that the drawing of the exact frontiers is proceeding without difficulties and is making rapid progress.

However, it is stressed the peace treaty does not mention that agents of the communist internationale were to be granted immunity from arrest in any attempts to create a revolutionary government in Finland, and to agitate that Finland should follow the recent example of the governments of the Baltic states, Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania, which allowed the soviet government and the agents of the communist internationale to form new governments and rule those countries.

Finnish police have broken up all of the attempts of the communists to create disturbances and demonstrations in Helsingfors and other Finnish cities.

The communist party still is outlawed in Finland. THE TRIBUNE is informed that there is no intention to recognize as a legal organization the paid followers of the Moscow communist internationale. These agents are said to be attempting to create trouble under the mask of demanding that Finland should have more friendly relations with Russia.

Following the signing of a new trade agreement, Finland's trade turnover with Germany is increasing rapidly and Germany has now taken the place formerly occupied by England. A trade agreement signed with Russia a few days later has not been so effectively followed up by Moscow.

Altho nothing has been said about Germany's being interested in the maintenance of Finnish independence and that Finland should be considered as having won, by force of arms, the position of being a western state and a full member of the Scandinavian bloc, there have been some comforting articles published by German newspapers. They mention Finland as belonging to the Scandinavian Lebensraum [living space].

PHILIPPINE ASSEMBLY VOTES WIDE POWERS TO PRESIDENT QUEZON

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 6 (AP).—A bill investing President Manuel Quezon with extraordinary powers to deal with the emergency situation created by world disturbances was passed on second reading today by the national assembly. This was considered tantamount to final action.

Charges by some opponents that the Quezon administration was attempting to set up a totalitarian government brought arguments from proponents that the bill was in line with the commonwealth constitution.

The bill empowers the executive to promulgate regulations for the suppression of espionage, and to require unemployed citizens to engage in farming or to perform other services necessary to the public interest.

The president is also empowered to control farming, industries, wages, profits, hours of work, distribution of labor, shipping, and other transportation, public services, rents, and prices of necessities, and to prohibit lockouts and strikes.

GERMAN PEOPLE ASK: 'WHEN DO WE ATTACK BRITAIN?'

Army Warns: Be Patient; Hitler Will Decide.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—The German high command today attempted to still the question the German public keeps on asking: "When will the attack on England start?" An official in a radio broadcast warned the population that it must wait patiently until Adolf Hitler decides the time to strike has arrived.

The high command asserted that 4,986,860 tons of British merchant vessels, and those usable by Britain had been sunk in 11 months of warfare—3,725,547 by the German navy and 1,261,313 by the air force. Thus Germany claimed a monthly score of about 453,350 tons against an average British loss of 205,000 tons during the 21 months of unrestricted submarine warfare in the world war.

The high command also said that in the last three weeks of July the Germans had destroyed 657,674 tons of "enemy merchant shipping space and space usable by the enemy."

Claim They're Winning War.

Nazis suggested that these figures should convince both Germans and foreigners that Germany is winning the war without a spectacular attack on England.

In conversations with German workers, intellectuals and businessmen I asked them why they kept inquiring when the offensive against England would start. Most of them said it was because they thought the quicker the offensive started, "the quicker this whole war will be over." Most of them expressed the conviction that Germany would win. They said they were eager for the war to be concluded so that they could return to peacetime pursuits and conditions.

While certain Germans attempted to convey the impression that Germany's air and naval attacks are advancing so rapidly that England is bound to break down without a special attack on the British Isles, Germany's military and economic preparations are continuing with feverish intensity.

New Factories Erected.

Soldiers are being trained everywhere and new factories are being erected. The German press says that the Labor Front, which helped erect the Siegfried line, again is at work "preparing for the final phase of the battle against England." This work includes the enlarging of air fields in Germany and German occupied territory.

In northern Norway, road workers are working overtime to complete a road to connect the iron ore port of Narvik with southern Norway. This road, when completed, will enable the Germasn to send Swedish iron ore from Narvik southward by land if the war continues thru the winter and circumvent the English attempts to blockade the shipping of Swedish ore along the coast of Norway.

German farmers who are harvesting fields with the help of Polish, French, and Belgian prisoners as well as German labor service men and women, and Hitler youth, are beginning to prepare for another war winter.

Denmark, Switzerland, and Germany's other neighbors are also preparing for winter. It is said they are thinking of what will happen to them when they must rely only on German coal. Swiss and Danish trade delegations are in Berlin, discussing the possibility of obtaining coal from Germany. They no longer can get the coal they once received from England.

Danes Have German Money.

Denmark possesses much of the money which German soldiers spent for their purchases in Denmark. The Danes would like to use this money to pay for the coal, but this necessitates negotiations.

Switzerland finds herself confronted with German demands for raw materials, such as bauxite, which she must import from abroad. She sought to refuse to ship these raw materials she had bought for her own use. The Germans also have evolved plans to control Switzerland's exports "to prevent Swiss goods from reaching England."

Switzerland was told she might increase her trade with southeastern Europe, but that she would have to agree to be incorporated in the general clearing agreements worked out under German guidance.

TELLS OF THREAT TO KEEP BRIDGES IN THIS COUNTRY

Communist party leaders have threatened to stop the deportation of Harry Bridges, west coast director of the C. I. O., in the event the bill to deport him is passed by congress. This statement was made yesterday by Homer L. Chaillaux, director of the national American commission of the American Legion, before the Chicago Rotary club at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman.

"The latest threat from the communist party is that 'we have machinery to make it impossible for Bridges to be deported by boat,'" Chaillaux said. "They mean that they can control the seamen's union on the west coast and will make it impossible to move any boat on which an attempt is made to ship Bridges."

THIRD SUSPECT IN LOVERS' LANE HOLDUPS SEIZED

New city police yesterday arrested a third suspect in more than a score of lovers' lane robberies on the southwest side. He is Lawrence Nestor, 20 years old, 3619 South Seeley avenue, who admitted participation in four holdups, according to Detective Edward Smurawski. The others held are John Yurkus, 18, of 517 Arlington place, and Edward Zimman, 17, of 4040 South Richmond street.

Woman Leader to Speak on Fifth Column Today

Miss Maryon Shepard will address the Central Lions' club tomorrow at its luncheon in the Hotel Sherman. Her subject will be "The Fifth Column and What It Means to You and Me." Miss Shepard is president of the Chicago Civic Business and Professional Women's club.

BRITISH RAIDERS BOMB HAMBURG, KIEL NAVAL BASE

Disclose 2 More Trawlers Sunk by Germans.

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP).—British air raids last night on Kiel, important German naval base, and the great port of Hamburg were reported by the air ministry tonight.

British bombers carried out attacks on military objectives in Holland and northern Germany, it was stated. Damage was reported to targets at Wismar, the freight yards at Hamm, and airdromes at Borkum [Germany] and Rotterdam.

German air raids on the British coasts continued. The air ministry said that one German bomber was shot down and that another, cut off by a Spitfire [fighter plane], jettisoned its load of 3 explosive and 25 incendiary bombs and fled. The bombs set fire to a house in a northeast coastal town, it was stated. German planes also visited the southeastern coast and Wales.

Lose Two More Trawlers.

The admiralty announced the loss of two naval trawlers, the Drummer and Oswaldian, sunk by German mines. It was indicated that there casualties, but no figures were given.

Eighteen British ships totaling 65,601 tons and two allied ships totaling 7,090 tons were lost during the week ending July 29, the admiralty announced.

Authoritative sources scoffed, however, at the German high command communique which put total losses of shipping useful to Britain at 657,674 tons in the last three weeks of July, exclusive of warships and tonnage sunk by mines.

One informant declared that the communique "once again multiplies the truth nearly fourfold."

"British, allied, and neutral merchant shipping sunk during the three weeks from July 7 to July 28 totals 196,112 tons, of which British shipping accounts for 136,141 tons," he asserted.

Warned to Conserve Food.

Britain faced approaching winter food problems optimistically, altho she put teeth in enforcement of her food conserving regulations. Robert Boothby, parliamentary undersecretary of the food ministry, said it hoped to avoid winter extension of rationing, and even to increase Britons' tea allowances.

An order effective on Aug. 12, however, will make it punishable by imprisonment up to two years and fines up to $2,000 to waste food which Britain now defines as everything, except water, "used by man for food or drink."

REVIVE 'HOT OIL' CHARGES AGAINST LECHE AND WEISS

New Orleans, La., Aug. 6 (AP).—Long dormant "hot oil" charges against former Gov. Richard W. Leche and others that figured prominently in the 1939 federal investigations in Louisiana were revived today.

District Attorney J. Bernard Cocke filed bills of information alleging Leche and Seymour Weiss, prominent hotel man, received a bribe in connection with the 1936 alleged "hot oil" case in which the federal government has charged they conspired to evade the Connally act.

Cocke also charged Freeman W. Burford, wealthy Dallas, Tex., oil man and A. C. Glassell of Shreveport, president of the Pelican Oil and Gas Line company, with having given Leche and Weiss the alleged bribe, amounting to $48,592, or 10 cents a barrel "commission" for each barrel of oil reputedly produced in violation of the act.

Judge Frank T. Echezabal fixed bonds at $5,000 each. The bills of information were based upon the allegations in a federal indictment returned here Aug. 7, 1939.

MEN WHO STAYED IN PARIS FIGHT TO HOLD POWER

'Old Crew' Returns to Regain Grip.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 4 [Via Berlin, delayed].—Census figures for Paris issued this week show that since the census of July 7 approximately 250,000 citizens have returned to the region of Paris.

The returned refugees have made their presence felt out of proportion to their number, because many are leaders in society, industry, the professions, and the arts. They are the people who had influence enough to get the legal documents necessary to travel and, what is still more difficult, gasoline to put in an automobile.

The capital is dividing into two camps that exhibit bitterness and heap reproaches on each other—those who stayed and those who ran.

The former are supported by the press in daily editorials. The comment implies that those who stayed did their duty and were heroes. Those who ran are designated by slurring epithets, the mildest of which is "panickards."

"Panickards" Fight Back.

Those who remained are complimented on their superior knowledge and clear judgment as having been aware that Paris would not undergo any severe bombardment and that the German forces taking the city would treat the inhabitants with the humaneness, and even politeness and kindness, that they actually showed when the event happened.

"The panickards" who returned have no press and no radio to state their case. They are reduced to carrying on a whispering campaign in which they say that a good proportion of the citizens who remained trembled in their boots as much as any one but stayed because they could not get away.

As an impartial witness who saw the panic swirling about me on and after June 8, I am sure the "panickards" scored a point here. I saw too many Parisians wailing beside parked automobiles for which they could get no gasoline, and many more thousands who intended to flee but were turned away from the railroad stations.

All Ashamed of Panic.

As the panic grew to frenzy on the days of June 11, 12, and 13, reason was restored to some Parisians, who calculated that the danger in staying in the city was less than that to be encountered in the maelstrom on the highways. They also reasoned that in a bombardment, Paris, with its high buildings and deep cellars, would afford much protection, whereas provincial cities like Tours would be death traps amid tangled columns of fugitives.

Since every French citizen is ashamed of the panic, those who stayed in Paris are able to outjeer and outsneer the "panickards."

The returned refugees compete with one another in horror stories of the flight. The press calls on the "stayers" to shout down these stories lest "the cowards and deserters" talk themselves into the position of heroes.

A Struggle for Power.

The controversy is an ugly one carried on without a spark of humor and with the customary violent epithets of French polemics. It is made the more ugly because it is a bitter struggle for power and place.

The panic, by largely clearing out the leaders of all professions, gave a golden opportunity to those who remained, notably some ambitious young men. They have seized the opportunity by founding a new press and keeping control of it, thus being the mouthpiece of the only public opinion being expressed.

What they have been demanding for over a month is a complete revolution, one that will be in harmony with Naziism and one that will deprive all the "old crew" of their jobs. The "old crew" were all "panickards," hence the vigor of the attack on those who fled.

Traitors, Say "Old Crew."

The "panickards" are showing no disposition to resign their places and privileges tamely. Thus far they have concentrated their fight on Vichy. But as they become more numerous in Paris, they make use of what they seem to view as their most powerful weapon — the insinuation that the stayers in Paris are traitors, that they are writing and speaking under duress, and that they are sold to the Germans.

Aids Father

LUISE RAINER.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Luise Rainer, film actress, flew to Washington today to seek the aid of the state department in bringing her 65 year old father—recently released from a prison camp in Prague—to this country. Miss Rainer said that her father, Heinrich Rainer, had been held for two months after his arrest in Brussels, where he had been a merchant. He is now in Marseille, she said.

FORMER MERCHANT DIES.

Grape Creek, Ill., Aug. 6 [Special].—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in Danville for James R. Halls, 70, who died Sunday. He was a former merchant of Danville. Surviving are two daughters and six grandchildren.

PREPARE TO QUIZ WITNESSES HERE IN SCALISE CASE

New York Judge Orders Depositions Taken.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—A preview of the grand larceny trial of George Scalise, deposed czar of the Building Service Employés International union, will be held in Chicago this week. Depositions will be taken from material witnesses. The trial is scheduled to start in New York on Monday.

Judge John J. Freschi, presiding over a brief but spirited hearing in General Session's court today, announced he would grant an order for the examination of an Illinois woman described as a vital witness for the defense.

This key defense witness is Mrs. Helen Cumberland of 1007 Hollywood avenue, Des Plaines, Ill., a bookkeeper in the international union offices in Chicago from 1934 to 1939.

Will Examine Other Witnesses.

Prosecutor Murray I. Gurfein, head of the rackets bureau under District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, demanded the order be amended to permit the examination of other witnesses in Chicago. Counsel for the defense acquiesced and Judge Freschi agreed.

According to present plans, Mrs. Cumberland will be interrogated and cross-examined by attorneys from both sides on Thursday. Depositions from other Illinois and Chicago witnesses, whom Gurfein will decide to call, will be taken that afternoon or Friday.

It is expected the hearings will be open. They will be held before commissioners picked by both sides to swear to the accuracy of the record but exercising no judicial functions. Gurfein, who will fly to Chicago to handle the matter, said tonight he hoped to obtain a room at the Criminal Courts building.

Another Assistant Here.

Al Dreiband, another Dewey assistant, is in Chicago, aiding in the preparation for the trial of the ex-boss of 70,000 scrubwomen, porters, elevator operators and bowling hall pinboys. In a 60-count indictment, Scalise is accused of stealing $60,000 from the union treasury by use of false statements each month that the money was going into legitimate union channels.

In arguing for the deposition order before Judge Freschi, Martin W. Littleton, chief defense counsel, declared Mrs. Cumberland's testimony would be a complete answer to the charges in the indictment and would clear his client.

"This girl is the only person who can testify to these records," asserted Littleton. "They are in her own handwriting. She set up the system showing receipts from the eastern district of per capita payments."

From Dole to Films

BETTY BREWER.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 6 (AP).—From relief rolls to a movie acting job at $100 a week—from barefeet to shiny Russian boots—that's the story of 13 year old Betty Brewer. It's a fantastic yarn, but little Betty says it's the Lord's truth.

Only a few months ago her father, desperately in need, took part in a "relief march" on Sacramento and camped on the lawn of California's capitol. More recently she and her younger brother and sister were singing for pennies in front of Hollywood night clubs when Director Sam Wood spied them and put Betty into "Rangers of Fortune," opposite Fred MacMurray. She bought the Russian boots with the first money she earned.

SUIT TO ENJOIN RADIO STATION FILED BY VOLIVA

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic church of Zion, yesterday filed suit in the Circuit court at Waukegan seeking to enjoin radio station WCBD from interfering with his broadcasts. It is expected that a hearing will be held this week.

Voliva formerly had an interest in the station, but sold it in 1934. He asserted he had a contract permitting him to speak without censorship over the station, and that the broadcasting company had violated his rights by insisting he supply scripts of his speeches in advance.

Gene T. Dyer, president of the company, said the restraint was imposed because the overseer repeatedly violated promises not to air his personal political views.

ARMY REPORTS MANY NEGROES ON WAITING LIST

Re-enlistment of Colored Soldiers Is High.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Army officials said today that there has been no difficulty in getting Negroes to volunteer for service in the army, and that there is a long waiting list of Negroes seeking to enlist.

There are only four strictly Negro regiments in the army—the 24th and 25th infantry regiments and the 9th and 10th cavalry regiments, a total of about 4,000 men. Army officials, asserted, however, that Negroes also are scattered thruout the quartermaster corps, the artillery and the aviation branches of the service.

"They have their proportion of army strength," one official said.

The place of Negroes in the armed forces occupied the attention of the house appropriations committee recently when it considered the second national defense appropriation bill for 1941.

New Colored Units Provided.

Representative Louis Ludlow [D., Ind.] asked Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, about complaints on the training of Negroes for armed service. He asked also whether a recent act of congress calling for transfer of material for training of Negro pilots had been complied with.

"In the first place," Gen. Marshall replied, "in the colored organizations, a much larger percentage of men reenlist than occurs in the white organizations. The result is that there are very few vacancies for new soldiers as compared with the vacancies in white organizations.

"In other words, it takes no recruiting effort at all to find the men for the colored organizations. There is even a waiting list.

"As to pilots, there is no such thing as colored aviation at the present time. A start has been made and I think the CAA is the proper place for that start or beginning to be made."

Says Army Complies with Law.

Gen. Marshall also said the army is complying fully with an act of congress providing "that no Negro, because of race, shall be excluded from enlistment in the army for service with colored military units now organized or to be organized for such service."

At the same hearings, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was asked by Ludlow about training of colored people in the navy. He also was asked about a suggestion for training Negroes for aviation and general naval service in the Virgin Islands.

"That goes into the very heart of naval policy, and I have not gone far enough into it to answer that question," Knox replied.

When Ludlow insisted upon some answer for the record, Knox said that "no such proposition is being considered at the present time." Ludlow then pointed out that a number of colored leaders have complained that the door to naval training is closed to them and that Negroes cannot enlist in the navy.

GOV. PAYNE H. RATNER IS RENOMINATED BY KANSAS REPUBLICANS

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 6 (AP).—Kansas Republicans renominated Gov. Payne H. Ratner, 43 years old, a Parsons attorney, by a big margin in today's primary. Democrats chose W. H. Burke, 61, Little River stockman, to oppose him in November.

Gov. Ratner, first elected in 1938, ran better than five to one over the combined total vote of his two opponents, C. D. Lank, Wichita pickle manufacturer, and Jay A. Welch, Haddam banker. Burke's margin over his lone opponent, S. L. Mathews, Kansas City attorney, was as lopsided.

Returns from 889 of the state's 2,735 precincts gave Ratner 63,603, Welch 6,548, and Lank 5,345. Returns from 579 precincts gave Burke 18,554 and Mathews 3,771.

The state's seven congressmen, six Republicans and one Democrat, were renominated. Only one, Representative U. S. Guyer, Republican, of the second district, had primary opposition. He appeared to have won easily over Miss Chloe Matteson, Kansas City.

BOYS PLAY WITH GASOLINE; ONE BADLY BURNED

Thomas Biermann, 10 years old, 2959 North Pulaski road, was severely burned last evening when flaming gasoline fell on his right side as he was playing with other boys in a vacant lot near his home. Police said the accident occurred when one of the children kicked a tin can containing the fluid. The Biermann boy was taken to the Belmont hospital.

MORGAN'S YACHT SAILS SECRETLY FOR WAR SERVICE

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—The $2,000,000 yacht Corsair, which J. P. Morgan sold May 23 to a firm representing the British government, sailed from Hoboken Sunday for an undisclosed port to enter British war service, it was learned today.

Departure of the 343 foot yacht, the largest pleasure craft ever built in the United States, was shrouded in secrecy. It was understood, however, that the Corsair was headed for a Canadian port, where she may be armed and camouflaged.

9 TOWNS PROVIDE BEDS FOR GUESTS AT WILLKIE FETE

Homes Thrown Open in 30 Mile Radius of Elwood.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Elwood, Ind., Aug. 6.—If the homes in nine towns surrounding Elwood are thrown open to visitors as hospitably as they will be here, about 50,000 persons can be accommodated on Aug. 16, the night before Wendell L. Willkie accepts the Republican Presidential nomination in an address in his boyhood home town.

Mrs. John Haynes, who is directing housing arrangements for the notification ceremonies, made this estimate today. Her committee has been busy for weeks listing homes which will accept guests at $2 a night.

An organization has been set up, with a local chairman, in each of the towns which, with their distances from Elwood, are listed below:

Alexandria, 9 miles; Anderson, 18 miles; Noblesville, 20 miles; Kokomo, 30 miles; Muncie, 30 miles; Swayzee, 17 miles; Tipton, 10 miles; Frankton, 7 miles, and Marion, 30 miles.

"The best homes in these communities will be available to guests," Mrs. Haynes said. "In addition most of the farmhouses within 15 miles of Elwood can accommodate at least two persons. Some of the larger farm homes can sleep 10 or 12."

List of Homes Grows.

Of the 2,500 Elwood homes with conveniences for guests, more than half have been listed with Mrs. Haynes' committee. New listings are coming in daily. An average of four guests can be taken into each home, Mrs. Haynes said. She knows one woman here with a large house who is planning to shelter 28 friends and has asked for 20 cots.

Demands for cots have been so pressing that Mrs. Haynes has ordered 1,500. They will be along in a few days.

"There won't be a home in Elwood that doesn't have an overflow," she predicted.

Domestic help continues to be a problem here. It always has been difficult to get serving girls and cooks, since many prefer to work in factories. Three leading industries closed down two years ago but most of their female help has been absorbed in factories in neighboring towns.

Must Run Own Kitchens.

The way it looks, many Elwood housewives who expect friends for the notification fête will have to put on aprons and preside in their kitchens. Home cooked food probably will be served buffet style, with every one helping themselves.

Mrs. Haynes has kept up to date on her reservation requests. As each application comes in, she assigns accommodations and writes back, giving the name of the family and the location of the home where the visitors will stay. A good many have sent checks to their prospective landladies.

Fifteen Elwood Boy Scouts and 20 other lads, all with bicycles, will act as guides for the housing committee, escorting guests to the homes where they will sleep. Mrs. Haynes thinks she will be up all night on the 16th, assigning people and seeing that they find the homes where they are supposed to stay.

Housing Plans for Willkie Fete

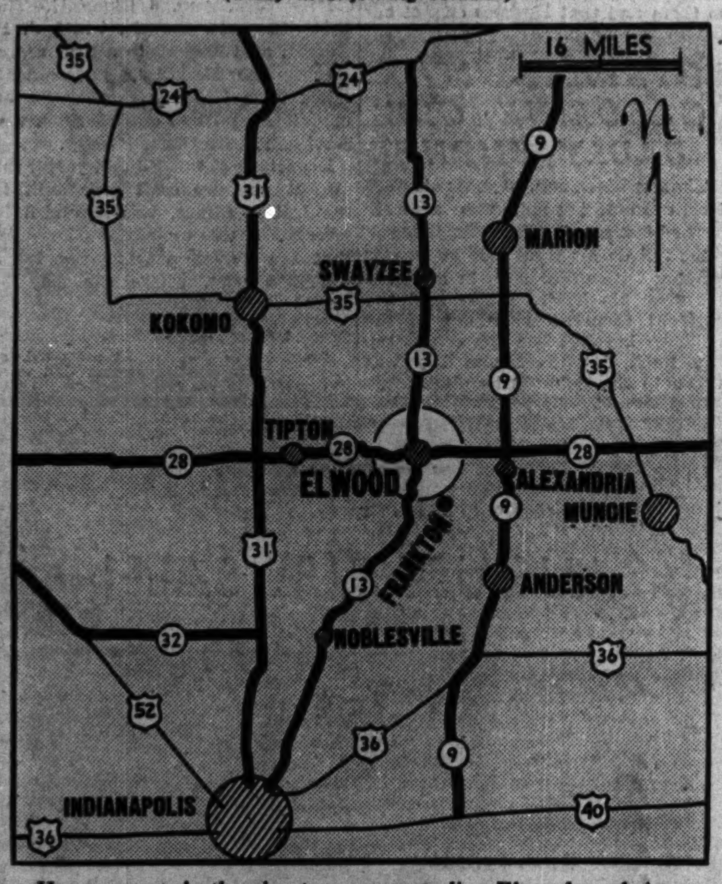
(Story in adjoining column.)



Home owners in the nine towns surrounding Elwood are being canvassed for rooms to be rented to visitors who will attend notification ceremonies for Wendell Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee. Rooms in the homes are being listed for visitors' use on Aug. 16, the night before the Elwood celebration.

W-G-N to Cover All Events of Elwood's Greatest Days

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Plans for elaborate coverage of Wendell Willkie's acceptance of the Republican nomination for the Presidency at Elwood, Ind., on Saturday, Aug. 17 as well as of the preparations for this day of ceremony were announced yesterday by W-G-N.

The station's broadcasts from Elwood will begin next Saturday, a full week in advance of Mr. Willkie's acceptance. They will continue thruout the week following, culminating on Saturday. On that day W-G-N will be on the air shortly before Mr. Willkie meets old friends and acquaintances on the steps of the Elwood High school. This broadcast will continue until acceptance ceremonies in Callaway park.

Will Use Mobile Unit.

The W-G-N mobile transmitter will be taken to Elwood today and will be available there until after Aug. 17. With Quin Ryan in charge, several special pickups are to be made from the streets of Elwood.

The first broadcast, Saturday Night in Elwood, from 9:30 to 10 p. m. next Saturday, will feature interviews by Mr. Ryan with old friends of the Republican nominee. The portable unit will be moved to O. D. Hinshaw's drug store, where it is expected Mayor George D. Bonham and other town notables may be interviewed.

A visit will be paid to a barber shop, busiest spot in any small town on Saturday night, and to police and firemen's headquarters. Representative farmers, who jam the streets on Saturday night, will be brought to the W-G-N microphone during the half hour program, which will be transmitted over the Mutual network, coast to coast.

See Elwood on Sunday.

From 10:30 to 11 a. m. Sunday W-G-N will present "Main Street—Elwood." The mobile unit will take a position near a church where worshipers will be interviewed. On this broadcast Quin will describe the Sunday morning activities, the advance tourists, and everything that is going on as Elwood starts its greatest week.

On Thursday, Aug. 15, at 2:15 p. m., Ruth De Young Kohler will present her regular program, Women World Wide, from the Elwood High school where W-G-N is setting up headquarters.

Friday evening, Aug. 16, a description of the scene in Elwood on the eve of the acceptance speech will be broadcast by W-G-N and the Mutual network.

On Saturday, Aug. 17, W-G-N will carry everything of interest in connection with the ceremonies. Specific hours of broadcasting will be announced later.

DEMOCRAT RAPS SENATE JIBE AT NAME OF WILLKIE

Van Nuys Calls Guffey's Attack 'Dirty Politics.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.] today assailed Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.] for his attack upon Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee for President, on the floor of the senate yesterday. Van Nuys accused the Pennsylvania senator of waging "dirty politics" against the Republican nominee.

Senator Guffey asserted that Willkie was born and baptized Lewis Wendel Wilkus, then went on to state that in the 200 years his own ancestral tree has blossomed in Pennsylvania, it never has been found necessary to change the name of Guffey.

[Wendell Willkie's grandfather, who came to America from Bavaria in 1860, was William Josef Wilke, according to family records. The name was recorded erroneously in the register of a land deed at Fort Wayne, Ind., as Wilkie, a spelling adopted by William Josef's sons, among them Wendell's father, Herman F., who later changed the name to "Willkie," the name under which Wendell Willkie first enrolled in school in Elwood, Ind. Nowhere is the name Wilkus found.]

Opposed Third Term.

An intended victim of a Roosevelt purge in 1938 because of his opposition to the President's court packing scheme, Senator Van Nuys has reiterated his opposition to a third term since Mr. Roosevelt's renomination, but he has declined to state specifically whether he will support Willkie.

"Having known Wendell Willkie since his birth, visited in his parental home, practiced law at the same bar with his father and mother for many years and being proud of the success of this Hoosier boy, I denounce this attack of Senator Guffey as untrue and as dirty, mendacious partisan politics," Senator Van Nuys declared in a formal statement today.

Lauds "Red Blooded" Parents.

"Speaking, as aforesaid, from personal knowledge of the Willkie family, I am glad to say that the father and mother of Wendell Willkie were upstanding members of the Madison county, Ind., bar; red-blooded American citizens, respected and loved by all their friends and acquaintances.

"I do not know or care from what source Senator Guffey obtained his alleged information, but as a native Hoosier, with three generations of Hoosier ancestry behind me, and speaking from personal knowledge, I know that Wendell Willkie never changed nor had any occasion to change his name and that he and his forebears never deserted America or American ideals and traditions.

"As a fellow Hoosier, I feel constrained to make this statement, which I would make for any other Hoosier as deserving as Wendell Willkie, be he Democrat or Republican."

WOMAN ROUTS BURGLAR, BUT HE TAKES HER GEMS

Mrs. Ann Schreiner, 30 years old, frightened a burglar from her apartment yesterday, but he fled with a diamond ring valued at $175 and a sapphire ring valued at $25.

Mrs. Schreiner returned to her apartment at 2443 Foster avenue after a shopping trip and found the burglar, a man about 45 years old, in the front hall. She screamed, dashed out the rear door, and raced around to the street just in time to meet the burglar coming out the front.

Mrs. Schreiner's second scream brought neighbors, who summoned police, but the burglar had disappeared.

DR. HILDEBRAND HEADS MICHIGAN 'WILLKIE TREK'

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 6 [Special].—Leaders of the Michigan "Willkie trek," planning a huge representation at the Elwood, Ind., notification ceremonies for the Republican Presidential nominee Aug. 17, announced today that Dr. Martin W. Hildebrand, Battle Creek, has been formally designated to lead the Michigan delegation.

Prediction that the event will prove "the greatest mass political migration in Michigan history" was made by William C. Bishop, chairman of the Michigan federation of Young Republican Clubs. As chairman of the "trek" committee, he issued a call to county Young Republican chairmen to stimulate local interest in the pilgrimage.

WILLKIE STATES HE WON'T TINKER WITH FARM AIDS

Hopes Better Program Can Be Evolved.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 6.—Wendell L. Willkie returned to this mountain resort this afternoon by special airplane from Des Moines. The results of his conference there yesterday with farm leaders would enable him, he said, to complete the farm section of his acceptance speech soon and give him material for further discussion of the subject during the campaign.

Before leaving Des Moines this morning he announced one decision on the farm problem which he has reached. This is that the present program will not be stopped until a better program is found, or unless one acceptable to practical farmers is found.

No Immediate Plans.

The Republican nominee has no immediate plans except to work on campaign strategy and to receive visitors here. Alf M. Landon of Kansas was expected to come here next Friday but wired today postponing the visit until next week. Willkie still has a visit with Herbert Hoover in prospect, and a definite date is being arranged for that meeting which may take place out of the state. Willkie will see both these leaders before going east.

At his farm conference in Des Moines with representatives of 10 midwestern states, Willkie made his position plain, and discussed with practical farmers many plans by which they might be lifted eventually to a firm economic basis. Farmers are reported to be leaning strongly to Willkie, while still holding to their old loyalties to Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. The political race in the home state of the New Deal Vice Presidential candidate appears close.

Willkie's statement on farm policy, which will be elaborated in his acceptance speech Aug. 17 and dealt with in other campaign speeches, follows:

"Upon leaving Des Moines, I wish to express my deep gratitude to the governors and secretaries of agriculture who attended the farm conference, and in particular to the many farmers and other citizens of Iowa and the middlewest I had the opportunity of meeting. The gathering was extremely valuable to me.

Will Elaborate Later.

"During the coming campaign I expect to have something to say about the farm problem in more detail. But I do wish to repeat what I said privately at the conference yesterday, and if elected President I will not take away any of the benefits gained by agriculture during the past few years. I do not favor changing the present farm program unless a better one is gradually evolved.

"In addition, I recognize as farm leaders have recognized, that the welfare of agriculture requires industrial recovery too. I shall, therefore, exert myself to the utmost as President to create new jobs in the cities and thereby produce more purchasing power for American farm products."

If elected President, Willkie may call a conference along the lines suggested yesterday by the Illinois delegation to the Des Moines meeting.

This would include representatives of industry, labor, and agriculture selected from a list submitted by the elected leaders of those groups to "formulate a program of economic balance that will permit the best utilization of our great production resources."

WILLKIE SENDS MESSAGE HAILING NEGRO PROGRESS

A message of congratulation from Wendell L. Willkie to the Chicago Negro exposition in the Coliseum was made public yesterday by James W. Washington, president of the exposition. Willkie expressed gratification that the 75th anniversary of the emancipation of the American colored people is being celebrated. His wire said:

"Your achievements have been won in the face of many discouragements and hard labor, and yet with the substantial support of that portion of our American citizenship which believes that every man in our country is entitled to win his place under our American way of life and perfect himself in the practices of our American citizenship. I myself have come up the hard way, as have so many others of your race and mine.

"You are citizens of our republic entitled to all the privileges of that citizenship, and as I said to a group of colored delegates at the Republican national convention, 'If I am elected President I will seek to remove all kinds of discriminations from all kinds of groups, not as a special tribute to colored citizens alone, but for a better America.'"

HATCH PRESENTS CLEAN POLITICS ACT AMENDMENTS

Would Bolster Rules on Party Gifts.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 [Special].—Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], today presented to the senate a set of amendments to the Hatch clean politics act which he said would prevent evasion of restrictions on expenditures for political campaigns.

In effect, he said, his amendments would require all contributions and expenditures in connection with the national campaign to be handled by a responsible committee so that the $5,000 restriction on individual contributions and a $3,000,000 limit on total expenses clearly would apply.

At the same time, the justice department made public a letter sent to the senator by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, which referred to an opinion on the Hatch act given by Henry P. Fletcher, general counsel of the Republican national committee. Jackson's letter said that since congress still is in session there still is time to take up what were termed the "evasion plans" announced by Fletcher, "and to outlaw each of them in explicit language."

Jackson Challenges Ruling.

Jackson has challenged Fletcher's interpretation of the law as limiting campaign gifts to $5,000 only when applied to a national committee or organization.

In his letter, Jackson charged that Fletcher's plan was to decentralize political party organization in such a manner that each national, state, county, local or other committee would be entirely independent of every other.

Following Jackson's previous announcement that the justice department would not render advisory opinions on the law, Fletcher asked:

"Is Mr. Jackson, by a general denial of my interpretation, trying to intimidate contributors to any committee working for Mr. [Wendell] Willkie? If not, will he tell me where I am wrong? We want to observe the law."

He also asked why Jackson "remains silent regarding the willful violation of the spirit, if not also the letter, of the federal corrupt practices act by the Democratic national committee in accepting contributions from corporations under the guise of selling them advertising in a convention book."

Asks an Investigation.

Senator James Byrnes [D., S. C.] today asked the senate campaign committee to investigate the circumstances of an appeal to employés of the S. S. Kresge corporation in Detroit for contributions to aid the Willkie campaign.

He read a letter he said was addressed to Kresge employés by C. B. Tuttle, whom he identified as vice president and treasurer of the corporation. The letter said that individual contributions will be needed to carry on the campaign since Willkie "will not be in a position to demand a week's salary from everybody on the government pay roll."

Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] said he, like Byrnes, condemned illicit methods of collecting campaign funds, but observed that Democrats had been accused of collecting funds from WPA workers as the price of their jobs.

SHOE STORE IS ROBBED.

Plans Home Guard

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP).—President Roosevelt today disclosed that world war veterans may take over home defense duties now assigned to the National Guard, if and when the guard is brought into federal service.

The quesion was brought up when Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York had supper with Mr. Roosevelt last night. The matter still is in the study stage and the war department has not made recommendations, the President said. He added that probably such organizations as the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will form the nucleus of the home guard.

The plan is contingent on congressional passage of legislation to allow the government to call out the guard for intensified training. Veterans then would face the prospect of being asked to serve when a governor proclaimed martial law. They might go on duty in strikes, riots, or disasters.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt had as luncheon guests the heads of four Latin delegations to the recent Havana conference, which adopted sweeping plans for hemispheric coöperation—economic and military. The diplomats were from Argentina, Chile, Paraguay, and Uruguay.

ILLINOIS TO SPEED AUTOISTS ON WAY TO ELWOOD FETE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—The Illinois highway department and state police this afternoon, thru Director of Public Works Charles P. Casey, promised to coöperate in handling a heavy flow of traffic across Illinois on Aug. 17, en route to Elwood, Ind., where Wendell Willkie is to accept the Republican nomination for President of the United States.

Director Casey said that main routes to the political rally will be cleared of maintenance crews and that state troopers will be assigned to these roads for the safety and convenience of the motor migration.

Much of this traffic will originate within Illinois. Other highway travel across Illinois will come from Wisconsin, Iowa, and Missouri, all within one day's driving distance of Elwood.

Ben L. Berve, Illinois Republican state chairman, has written Homer Capehart, general chairman of the notification arrangements committee at Elwood, that this state will send 40,000 persons to Elwood for this launching of the Presidential campaign.

PAY TAXES EARLY AND AVOID RUSH, TOMAN ADVISES

County Treasurer John Toman advised taxpayers yesterday to pay their second instalments on 1939 taxes soon to avoid the last minute rush which usually starts a week before the penalty date, which is Sept. 1. Toman also said all taxpayers who have filed complaints with the board of appeals for reduction in taxes should see whether reductions have been allowed before paying the second instalment. Unless this is done no refund will be allowed after payment.

QUIZ RADIO HEAD ON MEANS USED TO SETTLE SUIT

Sarnoff Denies Buying Political Aid.

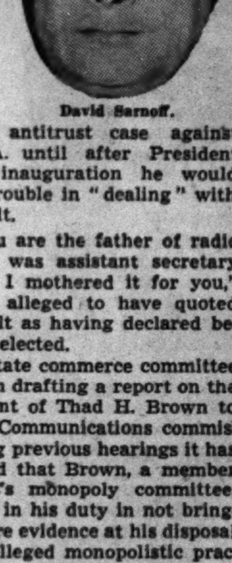
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, told an associate back in 1932, it was charged before the senate interstate commerce committee today, that if he could delay prosecution of a government antitrust case against the R. C. A. until after President Roosevelt's inauguration he would have little trouble in "dealing" with Mr. Roosevelt.



David Sarnoff.

"Dave, you are the father of radio but when I was assistant secretary of the navy I mothered it for you," Sarnoff was alleged to have quoted Mr. Roosevelt as having declared before he was elected.

The interstate commerce committee is engaged in drafting a report on the reappointment of Thad H. Brown to the Federal Communications commission. During previous hearings it has been charged that Brown, a member of the FCC's monopoly committee, was derelict in his duty in not bringing to the fore evidence at his disposal concerning alleged monopolistic practices on the part of R. C. A.

Questioned on Charges.

Sarnoff was called for questioning in connection with charges which were first made on the floor of the house in 1938 by Representative W. D. McFarlane [D., Tex.]. that the corporation used political pressure in 1932 to side track an antitrust suit brought against it by the department of justice in the District court in Maryland.

The suit, records show, was also directed at the Westinghouse Electric company, the General Electric company, and the American Telephone and Telegraph company. It charged the illegal pooling of patent rights to the exclusion of competing manufacturers.

Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] introduced in evidence today an affidavit signed by Edward O. Keller, a Washington real estate operator, which gave a sensational version of how the suit was finally settled by the signing of a consent decree. It was this document which contained Sarnoff's alleged remarks about Mr. Roosevelt.

Sarnoff Denies Remarks.

The R. C. A. president denied that he had ever made such remarks about the President and also the bulk of the details of the settlement as given by Keller.

Keller asserted in his sworn statement that the defendant corporation retained as counsel former Senators Daniel O. Hastings [R., Del.] and George Moses [R., N. H.] to aid in getting a month's continuance, over the objections of the department of justice, to permit drafting of a consent decree before the defendants were forced to trial.

He charged that Senators Hastings and Moses accepted for their services fees of $5,000 each, paid by the R. C. A. at the insistence of Sarnoff, while they were serving in the United States senate, a violation of a federal law which forbids a member of congress to participate in a government suit. Keller also charged that a bribe of $15,000 was paid to H. C. Mahaffy Jr., at that time clerk of the Wilmington, Del., federal District court, to issue the continuance order.

Sarnoff denied having made any payments to the senators while they were in office or that any payments were made to any employés of the federal government.

Tells of Proposals.

Keller said that with the trial date —Oct. 10, 1932—drawing near he was approached in September, 1932, by Robert D. O'Callaghan, R. C. A. counsel in Washington, with regard to getting the continuance.

At the suggestion of Roger J. Whiteford, a Washington attorney, who was consulted by Keller, according to the latter's version, a meeting was arranged between Senator Moses and Sarnoff in a hotel at Concord, N. H. At this meeting, Keller stated, Senator Moses assured Sarnoff he would be able to prevent the case from proceeding to trial before arrangements for a consent decree could be made.

Sarnoff's version from the witness stand today was that he visited the New Hampshire senator to seek "advice."

"Rather an unusual procedure, wouldn't you say?" interposed Senator Tobey. "Making a pilgrimage to Concord, albeit a beautiful place, to ask a United States senator, not even a lawyer, his advice."

"O, he was a distinguished man in the senate and occupied many important posts," Sarnoff replied. "We thought he would know about such matters."

Hoover Refuses to Act.

The affidavit stated Keller, Whiteford, and Moses conferred with President Hoover a few days later and were told by the President he would do nothing about delaying the trial. Senator Moses then suggested calling Hastings into the case, and Hastings arranged with Clerk Mahaffy to issue the continuance order, it is alleged.

After the postponement, the affidavit continues, Keller, Whiteford, and O'Callaghan informed Sarnoff some money must be paid immediately. As a result two $5,000 checks were drawn, the proceeds to go to Moses and Hastings.

In December, 1932, Mahaffy became insistent that he be paid $25,000 which had been promised him, Keller's statement goes on. Soon afterward an R. C. A. check for $15,000 was drawn, following a number of conferences, it is alleged.

Consent Decree Issued.

As a result of the indefinite postponement, attorneys for the General Electric company, coöperating with Whiteford, prevailed upon the attorney general and Warren Olney, a special assistant attorney general to enter into a consent decree which would be ratified by Judge John P. Neilds of the federal court at Wilmington, Keller charges. The decree was entered Nov. 21, 1932.

Later, according to the affidavit, when R. C. A. wanted a modification of the decree, it retained as attorney Clerk Mahaffy's brother, paying him a fee of $50,000. The modification was granted.

It was on his boat trip to Massachusetts with Sarnoff that the latter referred to President Roosevelt and quoted him as saying he had "mothered" radio, Keller's statement continued. It was at that time also, said Keller, that Sarnoff remarked he would have no trouble dealing with the President personally.

Records Show Continuances.

The court records in the R. C. A. antitrust suit show that two continuances were granted beyond Oct. 10, 1932, the original trial date. The reason given was the illness of the court.

At one point in the proceedings, Sarnoff was asked point blank by Senator Tobey:

"What payments did you make or cause to be made to employés of the United States government by the R. C. A. or any of its subsidiaries or representatives since Jan. 1, 1932?"

"None," answered the witness.

Sarnoff denied payments of any money to the senators while they were in office. He said that Senator Hasting's law firm was hired to represent the corporation in its petition for a continuance but that before any hearing was held the judge became ill and the delay, which the defense wanted, ensued anyway.

Attorney Whiteford was paid $13,000 for representing the company, the witness stated, and out of this sum reportedly paid $7,500 to Senator Hasting's firm.

Senator Moses received nothing while he was in office, Sarnoff averred, but later made a survey of radio possibilities in the Balkan countries lasting a year for which he got $8,000.

As to the President, Sarnoff said he knows Mr. Roosevelt "like any other citizen" but never mentioned that fact to Keller.

The hearing was continued until tomorrow at which time the committee is expected to report to the senate its recommendation regarding the confirmation of Brown's appointment. Subpenas were issued for Keller and O'Callaghan to appear as witnesses. The R. A. C. was granted the right to cross examine the former.

Jobs for Critics.

Sarnoff and Col. Manton Davis, vice president of the corporation, were also questioned by Senator Tobey today regarding charges that criticism of the R. C. A. has been stifled by giving jobs to the leading critics.

The names, Oswald Shute, counsel for a group of minority stockholders, and J. Austin Smith, an auditor who prepared a critical report of the corporation's financial status, were mentioned. Criticism from both stopped as soon as they were put on the R. C. A. pay roll, Senator Tobey asserted.

"Why?" he asked.

"It's the same," replied Sarnoff, "as when a lawyer licks you in a suit. If you think he's done a good job, the next time you want him on your side. I don't see anything wrong in that."

In Murder Quiz

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mrs. Elsie Feinstein accused of perjury in murder syndicate quiz.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Counsel for Mrs. Elsie Feinstein, 27, who was rearrested on perjury indictments after being released as a material witness in the Brooklyn "contract" murder syndicate investigation, prepared today for a new appeal to state Supreme court for reduction of her $25,000 bail. She is the widow of Samuel Feinstein, who vanished May 10, 1939.

Assistant District Attorney Burton B. Turkus caused her re-arrest after presenting motion pictures showing her frolicking on a Florida beach with alleged gangsters whom he said she denied knowing. Turkus said she had been "an associate of gangsters all her adult life."

BLUE LAW FRIEND URGES RETURN TO OLD TIME SALOON

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6 (AP).—Mrs. Alice Hession, who has long fought for enforcement of Sunday blue laws, today advocated a return to "the old time saloon where a man was free to stand at the bar and cuss without finding a woman alongside him."

Appearing as a representative "of the people" at a liquor board hearing on license fees, Mrs. Hession denounced night clubs and said the old time saloons weren't open on Sundays and "women couldn't go into them."

Mrs. Hession has forced the arrest of storekeepers who sold her groceries or shoestrings in violation of old Sunday blue laws.

O'REILLY NAMED A. F. L. REGIONAL HEAD FOR AREA

The American Federation of Labor has appointed Harry E. O'Reilly, 3117 South Marshfield avenue as new regional representative in the Chicago area, which includes northern Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri. The telegram announcing the appointment was received from William Green, president of the federation, yesterday.

O'Reilly, who is 40 years old, was a milk wagon driver from 1925 to 1937. For several years he has been a general organizer for the Chicago Federation of Labor, president of the Chicago Trades Union Label league, and secretary and treasurer of the Illinois State Union Label Trades department. At present he is chairman of organization for the Chicago federation.

The regional representative place has been vacant since William Shoenberg resigned in January to become president of the Cement, Lime, and Gypsum Workers' union. O'Reilly said he would do "everything possible to bring workers in the area into the A. F. of L."

JURY COMMENDS THREE POLICE FOR KILLING BURGLAR

Policemen William Nolan, Michael Toohey, and Frank Mudloff of the Town Hall station were commended yesterday by a coroner's jury for alertness and bravery in the slaying of Frank Manor, alias Ryan, a burglar. The verdict was justifiable homicide.

Policeman Nolan shot Manor as he and a confederate fled from the attempted burglary Monday of a drug store at 1000 Belmont avenue. His companion escaped. Policemen Toohey and Mudloff participated in the gun battle. Manor was identified as one of the bandits in the Hurley Machine company robbery last Friday in Cicero. Joseph Kostek, a member of that gang, was captured.

CARROZZO RITES ARE HELD BEHIND VEIL OF SECRECY

Cemetery Plans Changed at Last Minute.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Some of "the boys" took charge of the funeral of Mike Carrozzo yesterday and the services were conducted behind a wall of secrecy.

The body of the union boss eventually reached a temporary resting place in a receiving vault in Memorial Park cemetery. It had previously been announced burial would be in Calvary cemetery, and the change was made at the last minute.

The services were held in the Rago Brothers' chapel at 624 North Western avenue, where the body had lain since Carrozzo's death Sunday in Presbyterian hospital. Great pains were taken to shield from view those, except the widow, who might be classed as mourners.

Names not Revealed.

If there were pallbearers for this man who had ruled 25 labor unions and had been master of 15,000 workmen, their names were not revealed, nor was the public permitted to see them. A hearse was backed up to the chapel door and the $10,000 coffin containing Carrozzo's body was placed in it, out of the sight of onlookers.

Sam Kart, the lawyer who has been the ostensible head of Carrozzo's unions, had given orders for the secrecy of the funeral. As a result, confusion arose over the identity of the man who read from a prayer book in the Rago chapel.

It was said a Catholic priest officiated. At the Holy Rosary Roman Catholic church a few doors away, however, a priest denied that any authorized priest of the Roman Catholic church was in attendance at the services. The same statement was made later in the chancery office of the Catholic archdiocese.

100 Cars in Cortège.

The funeral cortège of approximately 100 cars was about to leave the chapel before most of the political and labor representatives there learned that the body was to be taken to Memorial Park cemetery instead of Calvary cemetery.

The chancery office of the archdiocese and Calvary cemetery authorities both denied they had forbidden burial in Calvary.

"Arrangements were made for the body of Carrozzo to be accepted in a receiving vault at Calvary," said the Rev. Charles Casey, speaking for authorities of the cemetery. "It was understood the usual certificate from his pastor, stating that he was entitled to Christian burial, would accompany the body."

Change Made Necessary.

Lack of this certificate made the change in plans necessary. It also was explained that if Carrozzo's wife had been able to provide a certificate stating that as the husband of a Catholic Carrozzo was entitled to burial in Calvary, such a certificate would have been acceptable. Carrozzo had been divorced twice and once was indicted on a charge of murder.

In some labor circles it was said Kart will retain his nominal presidency of some of Carrozzo's unions and that Anthony C. D'Andrea, a vice president of the Hod Carriers' union, will do the same with another set of Carrozzo unions, subject to the will of Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti. Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney indicated they might have something to say, or might do something, about the Carrozzo unions.

Every one was waiting for the opening of Carrozzo's safety deposit boxes, an inventory of his possessions, and the announcement of the size of his fortune. It was estimated he had accumulated several million dollars in the 34 years since he arrived in the United States, a penniless Italian immigrant.

$100,000 PROPOSED FOR BACK PAY TO CITY PENSIONERS

The council finance committee yesterday recommended an appropriation of approximately $100,000 for the 1941 budget to pay off remaining claims of city policemen and firemen for back pay in connection with the council's retirement ordinance of 1935.

The ordinance provided for retirement of all policemen and firemen on city pensions at the age of 63. It was held unconstitutional and another ordinance of similar substance was passed in 1936 and held valid.

Since then claims have been filed by about 200 policemen and firemen for back pay during the time they were in retirement under the invalidated act. All but about 25 of the claims have been disposed of and the recommended appropriation is expected to take care of these claimants and reimburse the pension funds for illegal disbursements under the 1935 ordinance.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

★ TODAY IS POST DAY

What to do for a war-scared neighbor

YOU'VE probably run across this man. The war has him in such a state of jitters that he can't wait to get the latest bulletins. He's a veritable lightning rod for yesterday's bad news, and he doesn't dare think what may happen tomorrow. The fact is, he's too scared to think.

Fortunately, we don't have many like him.

Your average American doesn't scare so easily. Foreign upheavals may upset him—but they also give him the itch to find out what it's all about. He has to know, not only what happened yesterday, but how yesterday's events might change America tomorrow. What are the real issues, and what should he be doing about them?

For this he has a favorite source of information. A place where the important is sifted from the trivial. To find out the European doings that most affect America, he and millions of other level-headed citizens turn to The Saturday Evening Post.

This week, for example, he'll find out what happens to people's chances for education and advancement—what becomes of their white-collar class—when a war government takes over. (We have a decision to make on that, by the way.) He'll get some facts on how charity can be administered intelligently, and how American labor is being bamboozled.

The Post is not concerned with what happened yesterday—except as it affects tomorrow. We doubt if any magazine these days could have a more important editorial program.

P. S. If you know the war-scared man we mentioned, pass him your Post when you finish this week. Turn down pages 12, 26, and 27. You might be helping him get his balance.

IN THE POST ★ OUT TODAY

How war wipes out white-collar workers

The papers don't say what's happening to Germany's butcher-baker-doctor-lawyer population. Or why schools and colleges are being closed in Nazi-controlled countries. Or why England's middle classes, under the inescapable dictatorship of war, are also doomed. Peter F. Drucker's Post article, War Against the Middle Classes, shows you what happens when a government takes over business for war purposes.

Stanley High shows you how America's rich handle charity without handouts, and what's doing these days. See Design for Giving.

"Your children will be kidnaped unless..."

Your children don't have to be stolen before you begin to live through the terror of kidnaping. In this week's Post, a Connecticut woman, mother of three, writes the day-by-day diary of what happened, from the moment the kidnap threat arrived with its warning, "Do Not Notify the Police!"

She was twenty, and he was twenty-two. They had eloped the morning he got out of jail and started south for the training camp. But how could a rookie pitcher make his sinker ball work, with a wife aching for a chance at Hollywood? And could such a wife skip out and still claim to be desperately in love?

A novel of the ball park, and two kids who each craved to make good in big time. Good reading. First of four parts out today.

CONGRESS AND THE MILITIA.

Congress has begun its consideration of the President's request for the right to call the National Guard and to send it anywhere in the western hemisphere or to any of the American possessions, including the Philippines.

Mr. Roosevelt has said a good deal about an emergency which justified the calling of the Guard, but his language has been so vague as to be nearly meaningless. Mr. Stimson in his testimony the other day was somewhat less hazy about the character of the threat which confronts us, but he, too, appears to be far from clear regarding the nature and the scene of the conflict to be expected.

Nor is it clear what rôle the National Guard is to play. Mr. Roosevelt has spoken of its use for training conscripts, but at the same time he is asking for the privilege of sending the militiamen abroad.

As has been said here before, the members of the Guard and their families with few exceptions will gladly make any sacrifices which may be demanded of them if the country is threatened. Unfair advantage, however, should not be taken of their sense of duty. More especially, the administration should not be encouraged to undertake any avoidable military adventures merely because it has the Guard at its disposal.

If congress decides to give the requested authority, it should be limited a good deal more sharply than it has been in the bill submitted by the President. The sending of the militia to the Philippines should be forbidden. Congress has announced its determination to grant full independence to the islands within a few years and it follows that we have no stake there which is worth the life of a single American. The Filipinos clamored for independence, and having obtained it, must accept the consequences.

The authorization to send the Guard anywhere in the western hemisphere ought also to be whittled down. Particularly if this country obtains adequate Caribbean bases it should be able to maintain an armed force against any probable attack upon South America as far down as the Brazilian bulge; say to Pernambuco. Beyond that the military and naval problem becomes increasingly difficult, particularly in the absence of clear commitments from the Latin American countries to place their ports and other facilities at our disposal. Mr. Roosevelt should not be given a free hand to undertake ill-conceived military adventures from which we could gain little and which might prove very costly.

In this connection the sending of American soldiers to Archangel and Siberia can be recalled profitably. At the time President Wilson had several million soldiers available. As frequently happens in such circumstances, he found it easy, tho he was a more cautious and prudent man than Mr. Roosevelt, to send some thousands of American soldiers to these god-forsaken places, for purposes which have never been clear even to the officers in command. Given an opportunity to decide the question, the American people never would have approved the Russian expeditions. Congress should prevent the repetition of such gambling, this time with the lives of the militiamen as the stake, by drawing a line in South America beyond which the Guard may not be sent.

If it is at all possible to do so, the authorization should be limited also to take account of the progress of the rearmament program. At present the Guard is poorly armed and there is little reason to believe that the stuff now stored in the arsenals or being produced in them is worth much under the battle conditions of 1940. The fate of a half-armed expedition can readily be forecast. The Guard should not be sacrificed because of the incapacity of this administration to arm the country adequately.

ANTIPATHIES AND ATTACHMENTS.

"Observe good faith and justice towards all nations," said George Washington in his farewell address to his countrymen. "Cultivate peace and harmony with all." In the furtherance of this program, said Washington, "nothing is more essential than that permanent, inveterate antipathies against particular nations and passionate attachments for others should be excluded. . . . The nation which indulges towards another an habitual hatred or an habitual fondness is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity or to its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest."

The first President had reason to include these particular suggestions in his advice to the new nation because he had seen it in its earliest testing period, torn by the dissensions of its citizens and moved by inveterate antipathies and passionate attachments, binding one side to Great Britain and the other to France when these two nations were preparing for what became a long war ended only with the overthrow of Napoleon.

Today the American war party is composed of two kinds of people—people who want to get into war because of overwhelming hatred for Hitler without caring what war would do for us, but who do not hate him enough to fight him themselves. They want to conscript other people to do the fighting. Other people want to get us into war because of their great affection for England, whatever war might do to us, but they do not love England enough to fight for it themselves—hence conscription.

CARROZZO'S HEIRS OIL THEIR TOMMY GUNS.

Mike Carrozzo achieved the unusual privilege, for one of his social set, of dying in bed, his only wounds from the scalpel of one of the city's leading surgeons. It is unlikely that the various gentlemen who have their cold eyes fixed on his throne will be so fortunate. Perquisites so rich are not had without bloodshed.

Carrozzo was one of the most successful partners in the alliance of crime and politics that this city has produced. The milking of some thousands of ignorant laborers, rich as that union racket was, was but a minor source of income. The unions he controlled were merely the tools of his larger rackets.

To paraphrase the epigram, if Mike Carrozzo had not been ready at hand, the political corruptionists of this city and state would have had to find a Mike Carrozzo. He was the central figure of the paving racket, the man who by his control of labor confined the bidding to the ring contractors willing to play ball, and who by his exactions of "insurance" against labor trouble provided the channel for collection of millions of dollars in graft.

Thus it is a political necessity that the proper man be found to fill Carrozzo's shoes. Nature abhors a vacuum and a politician abhors an empty pocket. The machinery of an important department of invisible government is at a standstill with the election campaign about to open.

Whoever finally seats himself on the Carrozzo throne, the most certain thing about the succession is that the members of the Carrozzo unions will have nothing to say about it. They are not that kind of unions. One of them held its last convention in 1907.

Except as the reputation of the city may suffer or as innocent bystanders may get in the way of stray bullets, it is hard to regard the coming struggle for power with apprehension. If we were State's Attorney Courtney or Police Commissioner Allman we would be busy getting up a card index of all the potential clay pigeons and assigning a squad to follow each of them day and night. If the police were properly vigilant, the unwary competitors would then end up in the cemetery and the gentlemen who erased them in the electric chair, both of which processes would make Chicago a healthier community.

LET KNUDSEN CLEAN UP THE ARSENALS.

Admidst the general public gratification that William S. Knudsen had been placed at the head of the national defense advisory council, a few acute persons pointed out that while the government had got a good man it had put him in the wrong place.

This is true. As head of the advisory council, Mr. Knudsen must concern himself primarily with the procurement of arms. He is, in other words, a purchasing agent. Mr. Knudsen may be a very good purchasing agent, but if so it is still one of his minor talents. He made his reputation as an organizer of industrial production. That is his specialty, there is no one in the country better at it, and he is being given little opportunity to use that major talent in his present job.

The country would get more from Mr. Knudsen's services if he were placed in charge of all the arsenals and navy yards. If he were given a free hand to cut the red tape in which they are swathed and to fire the incompetent chairwarmers, military and civilian, by whom they are infested, he undoubtedly could cut their present time schedules in half.

TRIBUTES TO LINDBERGH.

The lengths to which the administration has gone to counteract the effect of Col. Lindbergh's address form a great if grudging tribute to his influence. First the three radio chains were coerced to give time for Gen. Pershing's speech favoring the belligerent act of delivering the American destroyers to Great Britain. Thereafter two of the vilest mouths in the senate, Pepper and Minton, were turned against him. Senator Lucas apparently was persuaded to join the attack to give it some air of respectability. Probably no other man in America could command such attention from the people who are trying to get us into war to promote the third term.

Editorial of the Day

WAR PROSPERITY IS FALSE PROSPERITY.

[Detroit News.]

In his announcement of the new arrangement intended by next year to supply the British government with 36,000 airplanes annually, Secretary Morgenthau indulged in a litte rhapsody on the profitable side of the transacion.

The British, he said, "seem to have plenty of money," the sums involved being "colossal." "For the benefit of American business," he continued, "I believe this is the most important thing with which I have come in contact."

It is more important, in other words, than all of the New Deal's efforts to spend the country to prosperity. That dismal experiment is one with which Morgenthau has had considerable disillusioning contact.

His little rush of enthusiasm over the forthcoming British orders thus was of special significance. It was the first open admission from Washington in a long while of the hope, covertly entertained there, that war may do for domestic prosperity what the New Deal has failed to do.

The last similar slip was the President's much-criticized argument for the "material advantage" of repealing the arms embargo in the neutrality act. An arms trade with warring nations, he said then, would "give employment to thousands."

This is a good time to recall that the argument for retaining the embargo was precisely that an arms trade would foster in America a false and insecure prosperity based on war. It was felt this would give the country an economic stake in the continuance of war and so, as in 1915-'16—according to the embargoists' theory—lead imperceptibly to a willingness to go to war.

The repeal of the embargo opened the way for such a prosperity. It has been slow in developing, but now, according to eager Mr. Morgenthau, is just about here.

Further developments will not necessarily have to repeat those of 1917. But an extraordinary public alertness will be needed to avoid it, particularly with an administration at Washington that, unlike President Wilson's, is frankly unneutral, incurably venturesome, and politically interested in hastening a semblance of prosperity by any means at hand.

The horse, writes an expert, is becoming less useful in war. Except when he's a Trojan.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

'TWAS NOT SO LONG AGO.

This is a great year for 50th anniversaries around town. The University of Chicago, the symphony orchestra, and the Auditorium theater are the leading celebrants. For the Auditorium, see a current exhibition of photographs in the Art institute. . . . The Linemaster can't figure out a personal quinquagenary to add to the list, altho he suspects that 50 years ago, as a fifth grader, he secretly tasted his first cigaret, which was either a Sweet Caporal or a Richmond Straight Cut, and which carried, in its box, a picture either of Lillian Russell or "Cap" Anson.

* * *

The school census of 1890 showed that 68 per cent of Chicago's inhabitants were foreign born. In the classification of foreign groups [here's irony] the Jews were counted as Germans.

* * *

This might also be celebrated as the 50th year of the drainage canal. Any way, they had just begun to plan for it. The Chicago river started to run uphill, however, only 40 years ago.

* * *

On Oct. 2, 1890, Chicago's first trolley car surprised the natives. Only a few of them saw it, however, for this was an experimental line over the waste lands of the Calumet region. It ran from 95th street and Stony Island avenue to South Chicago. The change from horses to electricity did not come to the more civilized sections of the city until 1893 and 1894. The cable lines survived until 1906.

* * *

* * *

Chicago was then busy with trowel and hod, saw and hammer, covering the 75 square miles [Hyde Park, Town of Lake, Cicero, Lake View, and Jefferson] which had been annexed in 1889 with homes that had back yards and front porches. The annexations of 1890, however, were insignificant, except for Englewood.

SUMMER WORSHIP.

I worship the God of the grasses,
Of quivering elms and the sea,
And every stray breeze that passes
Is laden with wisdom for me.
I find Him in sky-topping mountains,
In deep, shaded valleys of fern;
He sings in the crystalline fountains
And broods as the autumn fires burn.

The gardens bring news of His glory—
The forest-lands, hoary with age;
The years are aflame with His story,
Each day is a luminous page.
I worship the God of the grasses,
The Lord of the dawn-tinted skies,
And every stray breeze that passes

Peace Over the Corn Lands.

The carrion birds of the bomb racks suspend their lethal pall over cringing peoples in sad and distant lands—seared lands, where night is dark of disaster and terror, and the day is of pending destruction and fear; but over our undulating corn lands, heritage from toiling fathers, hangs the saddening fragrance of sweet clover standing ready for the scythe. . . . Each inhalation brings a new sensation of regeneration and hope, and the nights are of security and charitable silence, save where the frogs are loud in the meadow swamps and the katydids, knowing the reach of their numbered days, drone their nocturnal threnody to the weeping willows along Long Point creek.

At dawn, the music of the reapers, as they smother the pipings of the cardinals and the catbirds, reveals to the fulsome valleys and umbrageous hills that Landor was in error when he had Æsop cry to Rhodope, "There are no fields of amaranth on this side of the grave."

That Fella Down in Streator.

Warning to Sports Department.

The Tribune's John Menaugh, historian in chief for the Sunday Graphic section, views the approaching football season with genuine alarm. He says that every game will be described by its reporters as a "veritable blitzkrieg," and the prospect is causing him acute anguish.

LINES TO A GERMAN SOLDIER.

You must have seen it, too, that night, the moon
That rose, a golden galleon in the sky!
You must have known the dawn as you stood by Obediently, armed to kill. At noon
The butterflies were in the fields and soon
You heard above the cannons' din the cry
Of meadow birds that jubilantly fly
As living answers to a poet's boon.

Unhappy youth, you would be friend, not foe,
For your true self, in spite of war, I know,
Belongs to joy and life's domain. Your hand
Would rather build than bomb! O may your land
Yet save itself from hatred's awful death

Newcomer.

Tale with a Moral for Sun Bathers.

The sun beat down upon the beach and the bather, refreshed from his cool dip, lay basking in its rays. And as he thus reposed his thoughts took upward flight. . . .

"O Sun," he said, "great source of warmth and light, hanging in limitless space, most glorious luminary in the heavenly pageant, thou art mysterious and great. Philosophers and poets have extolled thee; people have knelt in worship at thy throne. The heavens are radiant with a million suns, but thou, O Sun, to mortal eyes art greater than any in the pageant of the heavens. Without thee life on earth could never be. Bathed in thy beneficent rays the flowers bloom, the trees luxuriate, the products of the earth come to fruition; and life thru thee is eternally renewed. This orb of light, this molten mass of fire, a hundred times the size of our small globe, rides its eternal course close on a hundred million miles away. So far away that but a fraction of its heat comes down to earth. And we complain that it is hot, that . . . it . . . is . . . hot. . . ."

"We found him on the beach, doc," said the cop to the intern, "all scorched up; a rather serious case. He fell asleep, we think, and Old Sol put him on the grill." Shandy Gaff.

The title of Somerset Maugham's new book of short stories might also serve as a name for the war in Europe. It's "The Mixture as Before."

THE TROUBLE WE CALL SCIATICA.

THE term "sciatica" covers a multitude of sins. When we mention headache we do not, of course, indicate the source or the cause. Thus it is that any distress in the lower back that shoots down the thigh may be referred to in this way. There is such a disorder as neuritis and pain due to a true inflammation along the course of this important nerve is not rare.

In general, however, sciatica points to some trouble in the spot where the spinal column joins the keystone bone of the pelvis [the sacrum] and, quite frequently, the ligaments are involved. Now and then, as a result of a sprain or an infection, a condition that demands weeks or months for cure may be encountered, as the sacroiliac joint may be at fault.

Regardless of the origin, aching that radiates down one or both legs is something to be reckoned with. If only one side is affected the victim will endeavor to spare the uncomfortable limb by twisting the body so that it will bear less weight. In this fashion an actual curve of the spinal column may be brought about. The greatest difficulty will come when the patient tries to bend the back either on standing or when seated. Many are obliged to rise from a sitting posture holding the leg straight out or using the arms as supports — twisting slightly to one side. X-ray films must be made to make certain that there is no bone damage or other disturbances in the neighborhood of the pain.

Let us assume that the diagnosis has been made. What can be planned for relief? First of all, it is clear that if an injury has occurred, rest—with absence of pressure—is essential. If there is a history of a lumbagolike seizure, we may well look for an infection, and all possible foci — particularly in the mouth, throat, and sinuses—will need to be investigated. Hot baths are helpful, as are hot packs, and the infra-red lamp may be employed two or three times daily for twenty minute periods. This is advised especially if the tendons have been attacked. A well fitting corset will support weight bearing, and hence abate muscle strain.

Now, there is such a thing as dislocation of the sacroiliac joint, and the physician may be obliged to use gentle manipulation, with the patient standing and turning from side to side. Other devices include lying flat on one's back and drawing the leg up as far as possible until the thigh touches the abdomen. Several sessions of this sort may be required before a sense of comfort is felt. The good effect comes from stretching both nerves and muscles. If this fails, it may be necessary to apply a plaster cast and provide complete fixation, obliging the sufferer to use a hard, firm mattress, one that will not sag.

Severe cases may call for surcease from the ordeal, as the patient may be unable to sleep, and the processes of repair thus cannot be established. A local anesthetic may be instilled slowly in the region of the nerve. The malady, however, if it is not a true arthritis, will respond satisfactorily to the use of a special type of brace devised by Paul C. Williams of Dallas, Tex. In some instances, mild sieges will be benefited by adhesive straps designed to hold the parts so that but little movement can take place.

A fair amount of attention, at the same time, must be given to general health. The diet should include a generous supply of vitamin B and enough mild exercise is prescribed to keep the muscles in tone. If this is not possible, recourse should be had to massage, and 20 or 30 minutes once daily will suffice.

COLLAPSE OF THE LUNG.

C. T. writes: Just what happens in the process of pneumothorax?

REPLY.

Air is introduced into the pleural cavity, the envelope which houses the lungs. In consequence, the lung collapses. For the time being it is out of use as a part of the breathing apparatus. Gradual expansion occurs, however, as the air is absorbed. In order to maintain the diseased parts at rest it is necessary to repeat the procedure at intervals.

NAUSEA AFTER DIVING.

M. J. writes: Why do I develop nausea and dizziness after diving a few times?

REPLY.

A disturbance of the balancing mechanism of the inner ear is responsible. This is more common with those who have a small hole in the eardrum—the remains of an old infection. The symptoms resemble seasickness.

COD LIVER OIL.

E. K. writes: Is it harmful to take cod liver oil during the summer?

REPLY.

Not at all, altho it may not be needed if adequate exposure to sunlight is provided.

"GET GOING" ON THE BONUS!

Robinson, Ill., Aug. 3.—Where in heqq is that crowd of young chaps who were organizing to get the pensions and bonus in advance for those who served in the next war? A couple of years ago we heard much from, and about, them. Now we hear nothing. Please dig 'em up, for now is the time to get going on this proposition. We who are about to go forth and die would like to be paid in advance so we can really enjoy life before we go. You must admit we have a good cause and a good reason in asking for these favors in advance. Now is the time also to take members of congress on that ten mile hike.

PROSPECTIVE DRAFTEE.

IT USED TO BE LAWLESS.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—In reading your editorial this morning on "The Half Billion for Latin America" I kept wondering how lawyers in congress could consider such a subject at all—how men fit to serve the American people could have passed the Export-Import bank act in the first place.

All the power that congress has for raising and spending money is "to lay and collect taxes . . . to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States."

How do hard up South American countries get under that simple provision of article I, section 8, of the constitution, which limits very closely what Washington may do with the money of the American taxpayer?

The proposal now to take care of the surplus crops of South America is for lawless action. THOMAS JAMES NORTON.

NO PLACE FOR RECRUITS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—A young man who used to work for me came to me the other day, out of a job and broke.

I suggested he join the army now. I phoned the United States army recruiting officer for information and was told there "were no vacancies." I nearly fell over in a faint—the quota full and yet all this hello-ing about the draft.

On repeating the story to a friend, I found that 27 young men in the little town of Ashley, Ill., had been told "there were no vacancies."

I have sent this information to our two senators in Washington, but I suppose they are so sewed up with the New Deal that they don't worry about what "us poor people" think of it.

AN ORDINARY CITIZEN.

FAVORS A FOURTH TERM.

Chicago, July 19.—The Democratic convention showed you. You are trying to poison the Americans' minds by telling them that half of the people who nominated him are going to back out in November, and you know that is a lie.

If this weren't a free country you wouldn't be allowed to print an article that is so narrow minded as your editorial of yesterday. I love America I love what it stands for, and would fight for it with every bit of strength, but if having a dictator means having Roosevelt, I hope he gets elected for not only this term but the next as well.

A CITIZEN.

THINKS DONKEY IS LIBELED.

Chicago, July 29.—As a friend of dumb animals, I feel impelled to protest against further use of the donkey as an emblem of the New Dealers.

This faithful beast has too many fine qualities to be caricatured by cartoonists as representative of the crackpot New Dealers.

A more suitable trade mark for them is that bug-eyed, academic nitwit caricature who'll try anything with other people's time and money. Or better still, they could use that more or less fictitious bird of the South American jungles which eats pepper and flies backwards to cool off. CRITICUS.

A HAY FEVER GROUP?

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Following Mrs. M. MacPherson, who asks if there is such an organization as the Hay Fever club, I suggest that, if there is not, the many people afflicted with this yearly suffering form such a club. With united coöperation many things could be done.

For instance, fields overgrown with weeds could be cut every year and the field burned just for good measure. Hay fever could be made a front page issue, giving hints on different measures of relief. A list of clinics could be printed so that those who cannot afford private medical treatment could be aided. Literature could be furnished those able to get away to a different location for the hay fever season.

Why don't the health authorities have WPA workers cut the weeds for 50 miles around? It would help immensely. With an organization we could demand that this be done. There are drives for the riddance of contagious diseases, for keeping our city streets clean, for beautiful gardens, and many other kinds of drives, with good results, so why not a drive on hay fever? Is there somewhere a good leader to come forward and take the responsibility of organizing such a club?

JUNE M. STOEFFHAAS.

WANTS A RURAL RETREAT.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Why is it so difficult to find a country place [farm home or small resort] where one could find week-end accomodations for adults who wish to get away from the constant din of radios, dogs, Saturday night fights, and all general big city noises which are forced on apartment-living folk.

Resorts are generally priced beyond medium income people, but it would seem that farmers who have a spare room and possible quiet might cash in on folks like myself who are fagged out at the end of the week and crave a breath of air and that all too scarce QUIET. My limit would be $3 a week-end, say from Saturday p. m. to Sunday p. m. with very simple meals thrown in. If there is such a spot within 50 or 60 miles of Chicago why not advertise? M. M.

A WORD FOR HER FOUR SONS.

Berwyn, Ill., Aug. 5.—I raised four sons during the depression in which my husband lost his job. Our savings were eaten up, my sons were just completing their high school education. I borrowed money to send them on to schools, preferring that to having them roam the streets.

They are working just one year now and I am asked to let them give up their jobs, which took two years to find, and go to serve colors.

Wake up, mothers and fathers, and don't let your politicians put over the compulsory draft law on you.

ANNA MARIE ALBERTS.

HISSING IN THE THEATERS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The most disrespectful thing that can happen to any true American is to have to sit in a theater and hear the hissing of our present or any of our past Presidents when their pictures are shown on the screen.

This has happened to both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hoover in the last few weeks. I know the theater managers are not responsible for it, but perhaps they could find some way of shaming these ignorant people into behaving themselves.

JANE BELFORD.

TWO WOMEN'S PROBLEM.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Suppose you were ill and going blind, and "on relief," what would you do if you had to move and didn't have money to move with and could only give $12 a month for rent? Suppose you were well past 50 and had been a teacher and faced being put out in the street and you had walked for weeks every day, sick and hungry, thru the heat and on the hard pavements, from 8 until dark, trying to find a few rooms where you could take some of your things, and the time for you to be out was only a few days away, what would you do?

Well, I know two women who are in just such trouble. They have moved several times in the last two years, straining to the utmost to keep going, yet they can't get help to move, or enough for decent rental. Now they face the worst that can happen in the line of privation. No one seems to care. MRS. M. J.

A UNION MAN'S WIFE.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—May I express my opinion about these "unions"—a bunch of grafters? My husband got 50 cents an hour and had to pay $5 initiation fee. His monthly dues are $1.25, and 14 cents carfare. He also pays 10 cents on hall rent and has to spend 14 cents carfare for each of their silly meetings. This week he tells me they have to donate one hour of their wages each month to some men of his union now on strike.

I wonder if those who organized this union would like to live on this salary and also support a family?

WIFE OF A UNION MAN.

WANTS NO PERSONAL ABUSE.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—I have been reading THE TRIBUNE for many years and I intend to continue doing so because you have a great newspaper. But please, for goodness sake, don't violate American good taste by personal abuse of the President of the United States. Really it cheapens your paper, and nobody ever accused me of being a Democrat.

We have the ballot box to express our views. So may THE TRIBUNE present the issues—"sans" rancor and hate.

CHARLES L. MCADAMS.

BUILDING UNSAFE.

Chicago, July 30.—[Friend of the People.]—I wish to call attention to a house which is overrun with rats that gain entrance thru holes in the plaster under the sink and behind the bath tub. The electric fixtures hang from the bathroom ceiling by unprotected wires, contrary to the fire ordinance. Furthermore, the porch is in dangerous condition. If anything can be done to remedy this situation I shall appreciate it. G. J.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 7, 480 B. C.

Supposed date of the heroic stand of the Spartans against the Persians at Thermopylae, a narrow mountain pass leading from Locris into Thessaly. With a small force of soldiers Leonidas, king of Sparta, withstood the superior Persian forces until a traitor led the enemy around the pass, encircling Leonidas and separating him from his reinforcements. Leonidas fell during the battle, and Xerxes, the Persian leader, ordered him crucified.

Festival Tickets!

Tickets for the Chicagoland Music Festival, which will be held the night of Aug. 17 in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 50 cents and $1 at The Tribune's Public Service offices in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail orders should be addressed to the Festival Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, and must be accompanied by a check or money order made payable to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The regional vocal contest of the Chicagoland Music Festival moved to the west side last night. An audience crowded the ballroom of the Graemere hotel to hear 19 young baritones, 8 contraltos, 4 dramatic and 14 lyric tenors from the west side and the western suburbs sing in a manner that promised high competition to north and south sectional rivals at the Cook county finals next Wednesday night in the Drake hotel.

The three judges beamed. A famous singer and instructor who dropped in, casually curious, stayed, listening intently to the end.

A husky lad, who later confided he wanted to take Lawrence Tibbett's place at the Metropolitan Opera house and who sang the Benvenuto aria from the Diaz opera "Benvenuto" with the assurance of one who fully expected to attain his ambition, took first honors in the baritone division. His name is Otto J. Slatinsky Jr. Otto, who is 21 years old, lives at 1911 South Blue Island avenue. Four generations of his family have been professional singers. He earns the money for his lessons by operating a comptometer.

Eugene Maggioli, also 21, of 4334 Division street, took second baritone honors. Eugene works days as a presser in a tailor shop and evenings in a grocery store. John F. Ryan, 601 Gunderson avenue, Oak Park, a commercial protographers' model and insurance agent, was third.

In the contralto division Roberta Holmer, 1°, stirred the audience with her artistic snging af "Voce di Donna," from "La Gioconda," and won first place. She is a member of the extra chorus of the Chicago Opera company. Her home is at 420 South 1st avenue, Maywood.

Janice Mack, 18, of 2548 North Kedzie avenue, singing for the first time in the festival contest, was second in the contralto division, and Maree Riley, 22, 1241 North Central avenue, was third.

The west section's best dramatic tenor voice was that of a garage attendant, William Blair, 27, of 3024 Addison street. He practices vocal exercises three hours every day.

Office Worker Second.

Harold Willer, 31, of 313 North Homan avenue, an office worker, was second in the dramatic tenor division. Third honors went to L. Maldwyn Jones, 40, of 5457 Thomas street, owner of a gas station, whose hobby is singing.

Earl Bichel, who sang as a baritone in the contest two years ago and won, was a lyric tenor last night, and the winning one. Earl works in a north side amusement park. He is 18 years old and lives at 4436 North Central Park avenue.

Second place in the lyric tenor section was taken by Jules Gabler, 23, of 3453 13th place, and third place by Robert George Macdonald, 32, of 3810 Grove avenue, Berwyn.

The south and southwest section vocal contest will be held tomorrow night and Friday night in the Shoreland hotel, 5454 South Shore drive.

JAMES ROOSEVELT NAMED IN SUIT OVER FILM'S COPYRIGHT

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—Copyright infringement was charged in Federal court today against the producers and distributors of the anti-Nazi film, "Pastor Hall," in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt made her debut as an actress. The film was released by her son James, thru United Artists.

George Garfield filed the suit as administrator of the estate of Ernst Toller, anti-Nazi writer who killed himself last year. Garfield said that much of the motion picture was based on a drama called "Pastor Hall", which Toller wrote shortly before his death. Garfield asked for an injunction against the film and an accounting of the profits to date.

Defendants named in the suit are James Roosevelt, who persuaded his mother to deliver a monologue to introduce the film; the United Artists corporation; Charter Film Productions, Ltd.; Grand National Pictures, Ltd.; and H. E. R. Laboratories, Inc.

SIX A. F. L. UNIONS ADOPT BAN ON REDS AND NAZIS

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—Six American Federation of Labor unions in New York, with a combined membership of more than 15,000, have written clauses into their constitutions excluding communists, Nazis, Fascists and their sympathizers from membership, Alexander Schwartz, counsel for the unions, revealed tonight.

His disclosure was made after the executive board of a seventh A. F. of L. organization, local 32-E of the Building Service Employés International union, voted to expel 18 members on the ground that they put allegiance to soviet Russia above the interests of the union and the United States. The union requested building owners to discharge the workers involved in the purge and to replace them with union men in good standing.

The ousted unionists included Anthony Vetrone, recently elected recording secretary of the local. Spokesman for the expelled group, Vetrone charged that the communist allegations were brought forward as a "smoke screen" by adherents of George Scalise, former president of the union, awaiting trial for extortion. This was denied by Schwartz.

MAKES A FORCED PLANE LANDING; ESCAPES INJURY

Max T. Hohn, 117 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, an instructor in the Oak Park High school, escaped injury yesterday when he was forced by engine failure to make a forced landing of his plane just west of the county highway police station at Dempster street and Milwaukee avenue, Morton Grove. Slight damage was done to the plane, a Luscombe two seater monoplane. Hohn was on his way from Curtiss-Reynolds airport in Glenview to the La Grange field.

Boats Warned to Stay Away from Ft. Sheridan

Capt. R. A. Anderson, adjutant at Fort Sheridan, announced yesterday that the 202d coast artillery antiaircraft units would be firing at targets over the lake from next Sunday, Aug. 11, thru Aug. 17. He urged that ships stay at least 8½ miles out off Fort Sheridan during the firing periods—from 8 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. daily.

RECOMMEND SALE OF FIREBOATS.

Sale of the city's abandoned fireboats, the Illinois and the Graeme Stewart, to O. H. Budahl, the highest bidder, for $6,025 was recommended by the finance committee yesterday. The boats have not been used by the city for several years.

Sigrid Undset Story Laid in 18th Century Norway

"Madame Dorthea," by Sigrid Undset. (Knopf, $2.50.) Published last Thursday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Sigrid Undset, Nobel prize winner in literature in 1928, one of the three women ever to achieve that high honor, here offers her readers something about half way, both chronologically and emotionally, between her great epic of the middle ages, "Kristin Lavransdatter," and her modern tale of "The Faithful Wife." "Madame Dorthea" has as background Norway of the 18th century, a period which Sigrid Undset brings completely alive. Its plot is rather a series of folk events than the conventional one of a character keyed higher and higher until the great moment when his whole life seems to come to its song—usually its swan song.

There is a plot, of course, and it is motivated by the disappearance of Madame Dorthea's husband, but altho that disappearance uproots the heroine and her family, both emotionally and economically, the reader is, somehow, more interested in the background of their lives than in their sorrow or their fears for the future. The action, however violent, seems to go on calmly.

"Madame Dorthea" is by no means an emotion tearing or even an emotion moving book. It is almost as tho the book were written, as some pictures are taken, behind a screen to remove too sharp angles and tell-tale wrinkles and to give softness to the subject.

It is a harrowing thing that happens to Madame Dorthea and to her young family, but somehow the reader suffers no vicarious pain, nor does he say gratefully, "There but for the grace of God go I." He feels, rather, that "These people once really lived and suffered, but that was long ago."

Presidency Analyzed

"The American Presidency," by Harold J. Laski. [Harper's, $2.50.] Published last Thursday. Joint choice of the Book of the Month club for August.

Last year Harold Laski, professor of political science at the University of London, gave a series of lectures at Indiana university on the American Presidency. Those lectures have been made into a book which is, he says, "an attempt, made thru English eyes, to interpret the way in which it actually works."

Mr. Laski's interpretation is made with thoroness. He considers the President in relation to his cabinet, to congress, to the people of his own country, and to world affairs, taking apart each bit of that highly complicated machinery to see how it ticks. His findings will be enlightening to most of his readers.

Those who quote Mr. Laski as arguing for a third term, when he says, "The true and only issue involved in a third term is whether, on a balance of considerations, the American people want any given incumbent who offers himself," will be confounded by his succinct statement: "It is true that democracy is based on the thesis that no man is indispensable; therein lies one of its most vital differences from a dictatorial régime, which usually finds insoluble the problem of the succession to the dictator," and "The facts of American life have concentrated literally enormous power in the hands of the President; and it is no doubt true that the exercise of that power produces, above all in a second term, grave congressional doubts of the wisdom of its extent."

And Mr. Laski makes it clear that history has proved that the American people "believed with Madison that 'the accumulation of powers in a single hand is the very definition of tyranny.'"

Authors and Their Work

Sigrid Undset, whose "Madame Dorthea" [Knopf, $2.50] has just been published, is reported on her way to the United States via Russia and Siberia after being a homeless exile in Sweden from her native Norway. Her fine old Norwegian home in Lillehammer is a ruin in Nazi hands. Her eldest son died a soldier's death defending his country against the invader. But her courage is still high and "Madame Dorthea" proves it.

Tho not yet 30, Pamela Hansford Johnson has written seven books, the newest of which is "Too Dear for My Possessing." She is now serving as an air raid warden in London.

Rumer Godden Novel Reveals Sharp Contrast

"Gypsy, Gypsy," by Rumer Godden. [Little-Brown, $2.50.] Published today.

Rumer Godden's "Black Narcissus" was one of the surprise books of 1939. That delicious and delightful tale of a nunnery on a wind swept shelf of the Himalayas became a runaway best seller and introduced to thousands of readers a talent of great delicacy and charm.

Her second book, "Gypsy, Gypsy," probably will delight the critics more than it does her readers. We miners of books are always pleased to dig out a gold nugget, like "Black Narcissus," but we are perverse creatures, and if we dig TWO nuggets out of the same spot it begins to look to us like the outcropping of a habit instead of true gold. When we find a second book utterly different from the first, almost lavishly disregarding everything that made the first book a fabulous success, our faith in writing as a true art is bolstered.

"Gypsy, Gypsy" is almost as different from "Black Narcissus" as any book could be. It is a tale of subtle, sinister hate. Its local is a Normandy château, from which hate emanates to infect the whole countryside.

Its joint heroines are a young girl, whose loving childhood memories of the château seem futile sunshine in the surrounding gloom, and her fading, once irresistible aunt, who is bent on making those about her sin and hate until her own self seems, by comparison, good. To that end she corrupts a simple gypsy family, subtly putting temptation in their way, spoiling their children, finally driving the father to murder.

The book is done with the greatest delicacy and without one second of humor! And humor, you remember, was the very life breath of "Black Narcissus." "Gypsy, Gypsy" might have been written in French, so typically a French novel of "mood" it is. The mood is beautifully sustained, and technically the novel is well knit. Both of those critical facts were true of "Black Narcissus," but from that point the two novels have only their author in common. F. B.

Among Current Mysteries

Dialog Well Paced.

"The D. A. Goes to Trial," by Erle Stanley Gardner. [Morrow, $2.]

Doug Selby, district attorney, finds himself in much trouble in this tale, another of the indefatigable Mr. Gardner's mysteries. A man—apparently a hobo—is murdered. A grand jury, hostile to Selby, rushes thru an indictment of the logical suspect before the district attorney has prepared any case. Inez Stapleton, who loves Selby and has been admitted to law practice, appears as his opponent in the case. But she never gets a chance to present her defense, for Selby outflanks her and produces the real murderer. As always, Mr. Gardner's dialog is snappy, and he again opens his bag of legal tricks. S. M. K.

Well Plotted Thriller.

"The Man in the Moonlight," by Helen McCloy. [Morrow, $2.]

Inspector Foyle becomes involved in the murder of an Austrian refugee biochemist in a New York college and calls in his friend, Basil Willing, a psychiatrist. With the aid of a lie detector and word association tests, Basil unravels a mystery which includes a beautiful Austrian girl, a banker, sundry professors, and hints of Nazi and fifth column activities. The story is excellently plotted and written. J. H. T.

South America Explored by 2 Colorful Books

"White Water and Black Magic," by Richard C. Gill. [Holt, $3.]
"South American Excursion," by Ernest Young. [Longmans-Green, $5.]

BY PERCY WOOD.

Both long and short range views of South America are provided by these additions to a growing continental shelf. Richard C. Gill's absorbing record of life among the Indians of the Amazon basin is purely regional, but it is far more than a travel book, since Gill brought back for American chemists a botanically authenticated form of curare, a drug which is useful in the treatment of spastic paralysis and insanity. Ernest Young's thick and well illustrated contribution tells of an almost complete journey around the continent's coast line and is travel writing of a high order.

"White Water and Black Magic" should appeal to scientists and adventurers alike. The latter will like it for its intimate details of remote life on the upper Amazon—a primitive existence which Gill respected and into which he was carefully initiated. This brought him into contact with curare, a poison, with which the Indians tip their blowgun arrows and bring down game.

It was tragically ironic when, during a visit to New York, Gill was stricken with spastic paralysis himself and remained for years within its grip so far from the jungles where was obtainable the only muscle-relaxing drug used in its treatment.

Once he had worked his titanic way back to health, Gill resolved to return to the Amazon and bring back sufficient quantities of curare for scientific experimentation and treatment. He was successful and while the results are still far from complete, enough has been learned, the author writes, to prove it a remarkable aid in muscle reëducation. Equally startling results have been obtained thru its use in the care of psychiatric diseases.

"South American Excursion" was written by a famous English geographer who had no special mission to carry out beyond the satisfaction of a bounding curiosity. His travels, Young says, "could easily have been undertaken by any timorous old lady without fear of anything more than occasional and temporary inconveniences."

Young was blessed with plenty of time for his excursion, and he needed it, since his wanderings almost bounded the continent from Paramaribo, Brazil, to La Guaira, Venezuela. He journeyed back and forth from the coast to the interior of nine countries, from jungle to metropolis, piercing heat to piercing cold, aboard horses, river boats, trucks, trains, coastwise steamers, and ocean liners.

Three Young English Writers

These Novels Give an Insight Into the British Temperament

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

"The English Air," by D. E. Stevenson. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.]
"Too Dear for My Possessing," by Pamela Hansford Johnson. [Carrick & Evans, $2.50.]
"Weep No More," by Angela du Maurier. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]

These novels by English writers will give American readers a sense of the British temperament.

While the thread of a plot runs thru "The English Air," the whole point of the book is England itself, and the point of view, the sense of humor, the character of the people.

Young Franz von Heiden, earnest Nazi, comes to Chellford to visit his late mother's relatives, whom he has never met, and to study the British way of life. Altho he is half English he is mentally all German until he comes to understand his aunt and his cousins. They gradually make him unbend.

He realizes the British do not hate the Germans, as he has been taught to believe. And he finds it impossible for him to hate them. Indeed, he falls in love with one of them.

When Hitler's forces march into Prague, Franz feels he has been betrayed by his leader and re returns to Germany and secretly joins the anti-Nazi movement there. He returns to England under amazing circumstances, and the end of the tale finds him about to depart to join the Finnish army in its fight against the Russians.

"The English Air" is written in a delightfully simple, warm hearted, faintly humorous manner. All the characters are lifelike, agreeable, and amusing. The book that makes it wholly charming.

"Too Dear for My Possessing" begins in the ancient city of Bruges, where young Claude Pickering is living with his father and a flamboyant creature called Helena. The compass of the story is the interim between the world war and the present conflict.

Claude is a highly intelligent, sensitive lad, pulled between his reckless mother, who gave him up without a protest, and his father, who deserted her for the bizarre Helena, taking his son with him. The boy is jealous of his father and is often humiliated by the circumstances under which they live.

There is a "Peter Ibbetson" tone to Claude's meeting with a little English girl named Cecil; a meeting which is to influence his entire life, for altho he later returns to England and marries a conventional office worker named Meg, he never forgets Cecil. She is too dear for his possessing because he is unwilling to betray his wife, as his father had betrayed his mother, for his discovery of Cecil's love for him comes too late.

In her new novel, the author of "This Perplexed Heart" tells the story of an English woman, from girlhood and the days before the world war to the present European war.

Mary Fitzgerald fell in love with young Sirion McKeal when she first met him in Vienna and their marriage was one of the variety made in heaven until he was killed in the world war. Left with a baby son, Mary was too beautiful to remain a widow all her days. Her second marriage was to a German.

. widow for the second time, she falls in love at 47 with a young man of 21 who thinks he is the reincarnation of her first love, and whose first name is the same, Sirion. This fantastic affair is tragically ended.

Miss Du Maurier's plot may prove too incredible for most readers. As a light love story "Weep No More" is, however, entertaining.

Russian Exile Is Winner of Atlantic Monthly Prize

The 1940 Atlantic Monthly novel prize of $10,000 has just been awarded to Antonia Riasanovsky for her first novel, "The Family." Mrs. Riasanovsky, a White Russian, whose pen name is Nina Fedorova, lives in Eugene, Ore. The book is the story of an exiled Russian family and has Tientsin, China, as background. It will be published in September by Little-Brown.

Graphic Portrayal of Hitler's Mortal Foe, Otto Strasser

"Nemesis?" by Douglas Reed. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.75.]

Built around the relentless fight Otto Strasser has waged against Nazism since he broke with Adolf Hitler in 1930, this book is a graphic portrayal of the man who is the Fuehrer's arch enemy today and the driving force behind the Black Front, the fifth column that is boring from within to bring about his downfall.

In it the author traces the divergent views of Strasser and Hitler over the real meaning of National Socialism and the actions which forced Strasser to call Hitler a "fraud and humbug" before the final parting of the ways.

Strasser became a real foe and the narrow escapes he had from Hitler's secret police and spies make as thrilling a chapter in this man's life as any fiction episode. The author also gives an account of what Strasser will do if and when he is successful in his efforts to seize the reins of government in Berlin.

Mr. Reed's volume was completed before the downfall of France, on which country Strasser put much dependence in his plan for the end of Hitlerism. Whether Strasser escaped from the secret police as he did in Germany and Czecho-Slovakia is not known. H. W. A.

MURDER IS NOT MUTE . . . . . . By Audrey Newell

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Detective Patrick Doyle of New York is vacationing in a small town when, while walking in the woods on the estate of Adolph Wunsch, he stumbles upon a skeleton. He reports the matter to Truman Briault, Wunsch's brother-in-law, rejects the bribe Briault offers to keep the matter quiet, and goes to the police. Returning to the scene wih Policeman Madden and Judge Blain, he finds the skeleton gone. But by trailing fresh footprints they find where the skeleton has been hastily buried. Dr. Blake, the coroner, reports the skeleton belonged to a teen age girl who was murdered. Doyle is asked to help solve the mystery. Blue yarn is found on nearby twigs and a watch clasp is found on the ground. Doyle learns that Wunsch is a wealthy ex-brewer whose second wife is Paula, young and beautiful. Paula married him for his money, and he has made her life miserable, allowing her to have charge accounts but no cash money. He has allowed her irresponsible brother and her mother to live with them, but dominates the household. Wunsch has sent his 18 year old daughter, Texie, to Europe with Paula's mother as chaperon. His aged father also lives with them and is cared for by Miss Doty, a trained nurse. Lately Wunsch has been driving to town every night with his chauffeur, Follins, and Paula, becoming suspicious, puts detectives on her husband's trail. Doyle finds Truman owns a blue sweater and goes to question him. He learns from Follins that Truman is planning to leave that night, whereupon Doyle questions Paula. He sees a watch on her arm with a clasp identical with the one he found near the skeleton.

DUPLICATE GIFTS.
INSTALMENT XV.

Last night Paula had learned nothing. Truman would not even admit her to his room. She had to slip a note under his door telling him she had a message for him which no one must overhear. Only then did he let her in to see that his bags were packed, and that he lingered only for nightfall to hide his departure.

But the terror the detective, Doyle, had put into her—the explicit, ominous warning he had sent to Truman thru her—had their effect. Truman was still afraid to stay—she could see that—but he was now more afraid to go.

What did he fear? Her mind twisted and delved and groped. She must find some way to be alone with her brother—some private place where she could persuade him to unburden his troubled heart.

She spoke casually. "We have a golf date this afternoon, Truman."

As he looked at her in surprise, she caught his eye warningly. "Don't tell me you have forgotten?"

After a moment he said dully, "I haven't forgotten."

Directly luncheon was over, she ran upstairs to change into golf shoes. When she came down into the hall she saw with relief that her husband was shutting himself into his study—a little room behind the stairs which he kept locked, and in which he spent hours going over his complicated records.

Truman was waiting for her out on the terrace. She slipped her arm thru his. The caddy was already carrying their bags to the first tee.

"We must get rid of that boy," she murmured. "Whatever I do or say, follow my lead."

Doyle, like Paula, was up bright and early that morning, likewise regarding the day as full of things to be done.

But his plans received a temporary delay from his wife, Ellen. For Ellen scarcely touched her breakfast what with watching her husband hurry thru his. And when, at the last mouthful, he was on his feet and making for the street, Ellen let him have it.

What did he think he was up to anyway? This was three days in succession he'd gone off, returning just in the nick of time for dinner, with explanations and excuses that were insults to a wife's intelligence.

There was only one thing to do. Doyle swore her to secrecy and told her about the skeleton. She thought he was crazy, she said bitterly and with variations, spending his lovely vacation hard at work on the same kind of mess he had the year around. But she let him go then, and stood fondly gazing after him.

Doyle was bound for Dr. Blake's house. He explained to the doctor that he had a phone call which he did not want to put thru over the hotel wire or from a pay station.

Certainly, Dr. Blake said. His telephone would be available to Doyle at any time. And he led the detective into his laboratory.

Doyle called the jeweler whose name was marked on Mrs. Wunsch's wrist watch. He identified himself and explained that he wanted to know the date when Mr. Adolph Wunsch had purchased a diamond wrist watch for Mrs. Wunsch? And when the duplicate clasp had been ordered? It would take time to go thru the records, so he suggested that the jeweler call him back and reverse the charges.

"I'll see to it that you collect for these calls from the village," he told Dr. Blake.

"Don't worry about that," Blake said. His eyes shone excitedly behind his gleaming pince-nez.

"I think I have something for you. A clew." And he told Doyle that the skeleton had a complete and perfect set of teeth.

"Do you expect me to cheer over that?" Doyle grumbled. "You know as well as I do a mouthful of dental work would go a long way toward proving identity."

The telephone rang.

The jeweler had the desired information. Mr. Wunsch had purchased a diamond wrist watch three years ago on the first day of June, for Mrs. Wunsch, whom he married later that month. But there had never been any sale of a duplicate clasp. However, Mr. Doyle might be interested to know that; 13 months after the purchase of the watch, Mr. Wunsch had ordered a duplicate watch.

Doyle whistled in surprise. Was the second watch monogrammed?

Neither of them was. The design did not permit.

Did the jeweler know, then, for whom Mr. Wunsch had bought the second watch?

He did not. And, as it happened, he had personally dealt with Mr. Wunsch on that second purchase. Because the watches were exceedingly valuable—not regular stock, by any means. It had been necessary to make the second watch to order. And that had required several weeks.

The jeweler had rather taken it for granted that Mrs. Wunsch had lost her watch and that the duplicate was intended for her. But he had been careful to make no inquiry. A gentleman's purchase of valuable jewelry to give a lady was a delicate subject for conversation. A jeweler who did not sense when to be discreet and incurious would lose his best customers.

So Doyle went to Judge Blain's house.

The judge, at work in the barn, viewed the detective's arrival with noticeable lack of enthusiasm, but when he heard what Doyle had learned, he grabbed a couple of rakes, threw them in the car and piled in after them.

As they drove toward Wunsch's woodland, Doyle elaborated his theory. The diamond wrist watch worn by the murdered girl had been bound to her wrist by a silver ribbon, just as Mrs. Wunsch's was. After the murder the ribbon had rotted, and the watch and the clasp had dropped from the bones of the wrist into the leaves. The watch, being heavier, had buried itself. The paper-thin clasp had remained in view.

The watch would be a valuable find. Some one, somewhere, would remember seeing it on the wrist of the young girl who had worn it to her death.

The two men raked painstakingly, alert for the clink of their rakes against the metal of the watch. They worked, fortunately, in the shade, but the still heat of the day enveloped them and they were tormented by mosquitoes.

"If I had Wunsch's millions," Doyle said, resting on his rake, "I'd get rid of these damn pests."

The judge shook his head. "Don't suppose Wunsch knows they're here," he argued. "Don't suppose he ever sets foot on this end of the property, now he's quit going to the brewery."

Doyle stared at him. "The brewery? You mean——"

"Is the brewery in operation now?"

"Not for years. When the well began to run dry in this brewery, Wunsch built the big plant over in New Jersey. His beer never amounted to much after that." They say the flavor of a brew is very dependent on a plentiful supply of fresh, sweet water. It wasn't Wunsch's expensive equipment—it was the well in the old brewery that made his beer famous."

"Is the brewery still standing?"

"Sure. Wunsch was sentimental about it. Used to visit it every day until it got spoiled for him."

"And was he?"

"Of course not. They say he got a government recompense for the damages. But he was so all-fired mad he couldn't bear to go near the brewery again, after he'd seen the mess they made of it."

"Just where is it?" Doyle wanted to know.

"The day we trailed the skeleton," Blain told him, "we'd have come to the brewery if we hadn't turned off into the pines."

CANADA STRIVES TO SAVE ITS U. S. TOURIST TRADE

Needs U. S. Dollars to Buy War Supplies.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—Canadian officials are struggling to save the United States tourist trade which is threatened by the passport regulations adopted by Washington July 1.

Formerly the tourist trade meant a pleasant source of extra revenue for the dominion; now it means an essential contribution to the dominion's foreign exchange resources.

Canada plans to use the American dollars to buy planes, engines, and munitions.

"Lick Hitler" Stickers.

That is why a number of Canadian cars entering the United States now carry this sign: "Vacation in Canada. Help Canada lick Hitler. Your U. S. funds will be returned immediately to buy needed war materials."

That also is why the foreign exchange control board has approved such schemes as the new Montreal chain letter plan. Under the plan each person is asked to write to five American friends, inviting them to visit Canada.

Canadian mines, sending dividend checks to the United States shareholders, are inclosing an invitation to holiday in Canada, where the United States dollar is worth $1.10.

Tourist Sure of Premium.

To induce Americans to come to Canada the foreign exchange control board has had it made a criminal offense not to pay the full official premium when changing American money.

In the last war foreign exchange was not so much of a problem because Canada could borrow freely in the United States to pay for war supplies purchased there. Now the neutrality law forbids borrowing.

Up until May it was believed the tourist business would set an all-time record. With Europe closed to Americans and with a premium being paid here on tourists' money, advance bookings at summer hotels hit an all time high.

Fifth Column Fear Arises.

Then talk of fifth column activities led to proposals on both sides to tighten up the border. Some bookings were canceled at once. Then came the order from Washington that all Canadians must have passports to enter the United States.

Tho Canada does not ask that United States visitors take out passports to enter Canada, many would-be tourists feared trouble in getting back across the border. Tourist statistics took a nose dive.

Now that passport regulations have been in operation for a month there has been an increase in the number of Americans coming to Canada for longer visits, but the number who come for less than 48 hours has fallen off badly.

Canadians have for years spent more money per person in the United States than Americans have in Canada. The action of the foreign exchange controlers will mean that some $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 that would have been spent in the United States by Canadians for pleasure will now be spent by the Canadian government in the United States for munitions.

Under the present rules Canadians are free to cross the border for business, education, health, or emergency purposes.

Those who cannot visit their friends south of the border are being urged to invite their friends to visit them.

MICHIGAN RESORT TOWN TO MARK PIONEER DAYS

Saugatuck, Mich., Aug. 6 [Special].—This resort on Kalamazoo lake will don pioneer garb next week, when the arts ball and arts fête are combined with the decennial homecoming.

Modern store fronts are to be disguised as log cabins, and shops and restaurants of the present day are to become general stores, trading posts, and inns of the old days.

Saugatuck citizens will dress in Victorian costumes. Antiques will be displayed and village craftsmen will exhibit their work.

Dartmouth Regatta Will Begin Today

DARTMOUTH, N. S., Aug. 6 [Special].—The Dartmouth regatta, which annually draws many Americans to this Nova Scotian town, will begin tomorrow. It will start at nearby Lake Banook.

Route to the Dells

Chicago Motor club officials reported yesterday that they have received many requests for a route from Chicago to the Wisconsin Dells which would avoid movements by the United States army during maneuvers from Aug. 11 to 31.

The army will operate in a 1,000 square mile area adjacent to Camp McCoy, near Sparta, in Monroe county, and Camp Douglas, in Juneau county. The heavy days of troop movements will be on Aug. 11, 12, 13, 29, 30 and 31, according to Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commander of the 2d army.

The Wisconsin Dells route recommended by the motor club follows: Take Illinois 21 north to junction with Wisconsin 83 at the state line; 83 to U. S. 18; U. S. 18 to Wis. 67 to Oconomowoc; out of Oconomowoc on U. S. 16 to Portage; U. S. 51 from Portage to junction with Wis. 23, follow to Wisconsin Dells.

NORTH LAKE FISH SEEM TO SEEK OUT THE ANGLERS

That's the Way They Are Striking the Lures.

BY BOB BECKER.

Midwesterners who are following "aquatic trails" that lead to the haunts of the black bass, muskies, and walleyed pike in hundreds of north woods lakes are waving their fishing tackle around with deadly effect.

Two Oak Park residents have surprised anglers in Wisconsin by bringing in a couple of bass so big that every sportsman would like to claim them. They are Charles Billheimer of 520 South Grove avenue and Col. E. T. Miller of 233 North East avenue, and last week they landed small mouthed bass that tipped the scales at 6½ and 6¾ pounds.

The two were fishing Clare lake in Polk county, in the northwest corner of Wisconsin. Billheimer started off with the 6½ pounder. Then Col. Miller broke the record for the lake with his 6¾ pounder. These two fighting small mouthed black bass are just about tops for that state so far this season.

Bass Behave Nicely.

Bass have been behaving nicely in the north country. F. L. Krein of Park Ridge fooled a 4 pound 9 ounce specimen in Catfish lake, Wisconsin. Edward Rice of Peoria had an unusual experience on Wolf lake, near Muskegon, Mich. He had just one strike. But that was all he needed. It produced a small mouthed black bass weighing exactly 5 pounds.

The recent warm weather has been a boon to the muskie fishing, for it has caused the 'lunge to move around and show more interest in lures. The party headed by T. M. Conway of 710 Forest avenue, Evanston, profited by this behavior. The four casters fished Teal, Lostland, and other lakes near Hayward, Wis. They came in with fish weighing 14, 17, 18, and 28 pounds, all taken the same day. The muskies hit spoon and bucktail lures.

J. R. Hickox of La Grange found the muskies just as active in Gunlock and other lakes in the Lac du Flambeau Indian reservation. In one day he hooked four fish, all more than 30 inches—the legal length for a Wisconsin 'lunge. The walleyes in Fence lake haven't been backward about hitting. One Chicagoan came home this week with two that weighed more than 7 pounds each.

16th Year at Canadian Lake.

Louis De Costa of the Chicago Board of Trade and Adolph F. Kramer, bulldog fancier and president of the Western Specialty Clubs association, returned this week with a report on the muskellunge fishing in the Lake of the Woods in Canada. Both caught many muskies from 12 to 22 pounds, with the largest weighing 43 pounds.

This was their 16th consecutive year of fishing that big body of water. De Costa landed the 43 pounder near Big Island, and from the same reef which produced a 45 pounder for him two years ago.

Chicagoland sportsmen also are leaving their mark on the fish in Minnesota. Among the successful anglers who are tossing lures at the bass in Big Sand and other lakes near Park Rapid, Minn., is Paul E. Tillman of Park Ridge.

Anglers from Middlewest to Fish Chesapeake Bay

Salt water fishing on Chesapeake bay will be the sport indulged in by a group of midwesterners this coming week-end. The anglers will leave Chicago over the Baltimore and Ohio road Friday morning and will return Monday morning. In Maryland they will try their luck on more than 200 varieties of fish.

About 75 miles. Motor coaches make the trip daily.

Please give me a few figures on the size of the new liner America. When will it begin its maiden voyage? R. L. B.

The America has an overall length of 723 feet, a displacement tonnage of 35,440, and a passenger capacity of 1,202. This makes it the largest passenger liner ever built in this country. It will leave New York next Saturday on its first trip, with St. Thomas, Virgin islands; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Port au Prince, Haiti, and Havana, Cuba, as the ports of call.

I understand Cordoba, in the state of Vera Cruz, Mexico, annually holds a celebration commemorating the signing of the so-called treaties of Cordoba. What are this year's dates? F. H. W.

Aug. 22 to 26.

I am confused about the status of the various cities visited by tourists when they go to or thru the Panama canal. Which cities belong to which countries or territories? R. D.

At the Atlantic end of the canal, Cristobal is in the Canal Zone, while its sister city, Colon [separated from Cristobal by a street], is in the republic of Panama. On the Pacific side, Balboa lies within the zone, while Panama City is a part of the republic. The zone, of course, is controled by the United States government.

What can you tell me about Elk Island National park in Canada? G. S.

It is situated in the center of Alberta, about an hour's ride from Edmonton. It was established in 1906 as a preserve for Canadian elk, and now has more than 400 of those animals. At the time the park was opened there were only two remaining herds of bison in North America—one in Montana and the other in Kansas. The Canadian government bought up most of these animals and placed them in Alberta. Today nearly 2,000 bison are to be seen grazing in the park. The area has facilities for sailing, swimming, golfing, and other sports.

CONSERVATION NO CREATION OF AAA, ASSERT FARMERS

Soil Building Program Antedates New Deal.

[Following is the fourth article in a series by a Tribune reporter who traveled thru seven farm states and parts of the south to gauge accomplishments of the Agricultural Adjustment administration. Today's article discusses soil conservation steps taken long before the New Deal.]

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

It was in 1933 that the man in the street suddenly became conscious of soil conservation. It had been made a part of the federal farm program, which, under the Agricultural Adjustment administration, was intended to cure all the ills of American agriculture.

There were motion pictures—"The River" for one—which still is running in some theaters. It deals with soil erosion and its dangers. In this and other ways the public was made aware of erosion and the necessity of its control.

To some city folk it appeared that the New Deal had discovered soil conservation and was correcting the evil of erosion. But is soil conservation new? Were crops rotated and soil rebuilt before the days of the New Deal?

Both Being Done Long Ago.

Farmers in seven central western states say both these things were being done long ago. In Hancock county, Illinois, Melvin Shepherd recalled practicing erosion control as a boy.

"You would think to read some of the statements out of Washington that we never had fought erosion or tried to build up the land," he said. "Every good farmer conserves his soil and builds his land.

"Even as a boy I put straw and brush into ditches to stop the top soil from washing away. On this farm we have always hauled lime, have grown sweet clover, and have rotated crops."

Soil building in America began before the days of the white man. The chronicles of the pilgrims in Massachusetts tell of finding Indians burying fish in each hill of corn they planted to restore the fertility of their fields.

Cradle of Modern Conservation.

Missouri, however, is understood to be the cradle of modern soil conservation. When the first settlers reached there in the 1820s and 1830s, by way of Kentucky, they settled along creeks and rivers. This was because their bull tongue plows could not cut the grassy prairie sod.

The first farming was done along the watercourses after the timber had been cut. A few years later the iron moldboard plow arrived. The settlers began plowing up the rich prairie lands. Meanwhile, of course, the countryside had been largely denuded of timber.

The pioneers thought they had found bottomless and inexhaustible soil. But with those first crops the fertility began leaving the land. Erosion set in.

Move on to Fertile Fields.

This meant little, however, 100 years ago. The settlers had only to move on to newer fields where the fertility was unimpaired. Eventually the country began filling up. Farms were not so easy to get.

By 1880 eroded and overworked land was a definite problem. It was necessary that something be done toward restoration. One of the first to suggest a plan was Dean F. B. Mumford of the Missouri College of Agriculture. In that year, holding that grass is the only 100 per cent restorative crop, Dean Mumford advocated livestock raising and conversion of worn out fields into pasture lands.

Missouri authorities assert the first person to advocate crop rotation on a national scale was Norman J. Coleman. He was the nation's first secretary of agriculture and served in the second Cleveland administration in the '90s. His plan, which called for growing legumes, was similar to the present AAA program.

Crop Diversification Urged.

A few years later diversification of crops was advocated by another Missourian, George W. Waters of Rolls county. He was the first lecturer for the old Farm Institute in that state.

By the turn of the century there were national farm organizations that were sponsoring soil conservation, erosion control, and diversification.

Agricultural colleges began teaching these things. By 1925 efficient farmers everywhere knew that to keep their yields up they would have to care for their land.

Dramatized by New Deal.

But to the average city dweller erosion control and soil conservation were merely words until 1933. A midwestern state official—a Democrat—who asked that for political reasons his name not be used, said:

"The New Deal simply dramatized soil conservation for a purpose. The man in the street heard little of it. As a matter of fact, no one heard much of it until January of 1936, when the Supreme court outlawed the first AAA."

Another farm authority who believes conservation has been overdramatized is James R. Howard, of Marshall county, Ia. He was the first national president of the American Farm Bureau federation.

"The program is being carried out in the name of conservation, which has been dramatized far out of proportion," Howard said. "The danger is not nearly so great as the administration would have us believe. Land in China has been worked 4,000 years and still is producing."

[Is the AAA compulsory upon the farmer? If so, to what extent? Tomorrow's article will go into these questions.]

BROADCASTERS ACT TO RESIST MUSIC CONTROL

Seek to Avoid Paying Higher Royalties.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 6.—The National Association of Broadcasters decided today to back up its own music company, Broadcast Music, Inc., in a move to break the control over Radio Music exercised by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Lured by the prospect of lower rates for broadcast music and a competitive market, nearly 650 delegates to the broadcasters' annual convention approved President Neville Miller's plan to stop use of the society's music if that organization boosts its royalty rates as planned.

Miller said new contracts proposed for the first of next year by the society would cost the stations about $8,700,000 annually compared to the $4,500,000 they paid this year. Each station makes its own contracts for the rights to broadcast music, but BMI executives reported they had signed 81 per cent of the dollar business held by ASCAP.

Mutual Officials Tell Action.

Mutual Broadcasting System executives said they had advised 143 affiliated station that after Jan. 1, no ASCAP music would be broadcast from originating stations. Their statement followed previous similar announcements from Columbia Broadcasting system and National Broadcasting company.

The concerted action by the three national chains would mean:

Works of 1,100 song writers, who now compose 85 per cent of all popular tunes, would be banned from network broadcasts. This includes works of Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern, Sigmund Romberg, and Victor Herbert.

Scale Would Be Cut.

American popular music, consuming 70 per cent of all musical time on the radio, would be written by men now practically unknown.

Radio, which pays ASCAP at the rate of 5 per cent of gross station time value, would pay BMI a sliding scale of 1⅓ to 2⅓ per cent.

"The key to our problem is not music itself, but the exploitation of music," said Sydney Kaye, BMI vice president. "If all our subscribers play BMI music, that will be the popular music."

Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war, speaking at a luncheon, urged the broadcasters to create a slogan to promote national unity. Johnson said America must have "the will to stay out of wars not involving this hemisphere" and must depend for this stand upon a strong national defense.

12 GIRL SCOUTS TAKE SCHOONER ON LAKE CRUISE

James Ryan's schooner, the Sea Jay, put out from the Columbia Yacht club yesterday, manned by 12 Girl Scouts. With Ryan as skipper, they were to have a week's cruise on the lake, charting their own course, handling the ship and swabbing her decks. The crew, ranging from 14 to 18 years old, represented all mariner scouting ranks—midshipmite, jack tar and old salt. Others aboard were Mrs. Paul W. Johnson, member of the Jackson Park Yacht club and vice chairman of the senior Girl Scout committee; Miss Henriette Ryer and Miss Janet Dunlap, both skippers of Scout ships, and the ship's cook. The Sea Jay was to drop anchor last night off Holland, Mich.

OBITUARIES

Robert K. Quayle Sr.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 6 [Special].—Robert K. Quayle, Sr., 98 years old, founder of an engraving firm, died today. He came to the United States from the Isle of Man, and established in 1869 the business which he headed until 1925, when control passed to his son, Oliver A. Quayle Sr. Surviving, besides Oliver, is another son, Robert K. Quayle Jr., and Oliver's two sons, Oliver Quayle Jr., treasurer of the Democratic national committee, and Howard B. Quayle, employed by the bureau of printing and engraving at Washington, D. C.

Claude A. Webb.

Services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1732 Wilson avenue for Claude A. Webb, who was killed Sunday in an automobile accident near Madison, Wis. Mr. Webb, who was 52 years old, had been a sales executive with the Universal Atlas cement company and at the time of his death was with the Wolverine cement company. Surviving are his widow, Dorothy, and two daughters, Joyce Carol and Betty Jane. Burial will be in Acacia Park cemetery.

William W. Miller Jr.

William W. Miller Jr., president of the E. W. A. Rowles company, Arlington Heights, dealers in school supplies, died unexpectedly yesterday in his home at 861 Lincoln avenue, Highland Park. He was 45 years old. He leaves his widow, Adeline Rowles Miller, daughter of the founder of the Rowles company, and one son, William W. III. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Highland Park Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

William Tyler.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the chapel at 310 South State street, Elgin, for William Tyler, 89 years old, one of Kane county's oldest residents. Mr. Tyler, who died Monday, retired several years ago from the Elgin National Watch company by which he had been employed 60 years. A son, Clarence, three brothers and a sister survive. Burial will be in Bluff City cemetery.

A. Samuel Wallgren.

A. Samuel Wallgren, dean of North Park college for 20 years, died last night in Swedish Covenant hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Wallgren, who was 55 years old, lived at 3410 Foster avenue. He had been a member of the North Park faculty since 1911, when he became a teacher of English and registrar. His widow, the former Ruth A. Swanson of Evanston, a son, Vincent, and a daughter, Evelyn, survive.

Joseph Bell Cotton.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Duluth, Minn., for Joseph Bell Cotton, 75 years old, of New York, who died Monday in the Alice Home hospital, Lake Forest. Mr. Cotton had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Phelps Kelley of Green Bay road, Lake Forest. He was general counsel of the American Metal Company, Ltd., and was a director of several other metal concerns.

Sir Hugo Gerald de Bathe.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—News was received in London today of the death of Sir Hugo de Bathe, second husband of the late Lily Langtry, celebrated actress. His death occurred in south France three weeks ago. He was 68 years old.

Mrs. Marie Agnes Christian.

Funeral services for Mrs. Marie Agnes Christian, 33 years old, of 500 West 82d street, who died Sunday at Englewood hospital of bronchial pneumonia, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in St. Leo's church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Peter G. Hartz.

The funeral of Peter G. Hartz, president of the Aurora Sanitary district and business man, will be held at 10 a. m. today at Our Lady of Good Counsel church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery, Aurora.

OPEN REHEARSAL OF SWING SHOW AT W-G-N TODAY

Cast's Size Creates Technical Problem.

W-G-N studios will be busy today and tomorrow with intensive rehearsals by a cast of more than 100 persons who will appear tomorrow night in the swing version of "The Chimes of Normandy" on W-G-N and the Mutual network. This production, which will be broadcast from 7 to 8 o'clock, is another "first" for W-G-N on its Thursday night series—In Chicago Tonight—which specializes in bringing listeners the newest in entertainment.

Participating in the production will be the cast of 80 Negro performers who present "The Chimes of Normandy" nightly in the Coliseum in connection with the American Negro exposition, the W-G-N Dance orchestra, directed by Harold Stokes, and a corps of sound effects experts.

Thirty Singers on Stage.

The cast is so large that it cannot be accommodated on the stage of W-G-N's big No. 1 studio. Thus, only 30 swing singers from the company will be on the stage along with the orchestra. The other singers will be seated in the front rows of the studio and special microphones will be suspended over their heads.

This arrangement will require the solution of technical problems to get the best possible balance of the voices.

All performers will be in full costume for the program. They must rush to the Coliseum for their nightly performance immediately after the broadcast. The operetta is produced by the Illinois Music project.

Singers to Be Featured.

Featured as singers in the W-G-N production will be Glady Boucree, as Germaine; William Franklin, as Henri; Frankie Fambro, as Serpolette; Maurice Cooper, as Grechineaux; Louis White, as Bailli; Shelby Nichols, as Gaspard, and Emmett Richardson, as the notary. Charles Johnson, Magda Washington, and Leonard Bean will be featured as a trio.

The Coliseum show is directed by Harry Minturn, who is assisted by Sammy Dyer and Gentry Warden.

W-G-N's version of "The Chimes of Normandy," a French operetta, will be produced by William A. Bacher. The adaptation is by Fran Coughlin and John Hess.

INDICT DETROIT EX-MAYOR ON TAX EVASION CHARGE

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—A federal grand jury today indicted Richard W. Reading on charges of evading income tax payments of $12,039.10 for the years 1938 and 1939, when he was mayor of Detroit.

The indictment is in two counts. The first alleges Reading filed no income tax report for 1938 and paid no tax. The indictment charges he had an income of $16,502.83 in 1938, besides his nontaxable salary of $15,000 as mayor.

The second count charges he received a gross income of $60,169.99 in 1939, upon which he should have paid a tax of $12,288.02. His salary as mayor was taxable in 1939 under a changed federal statute. The indictment alleges he received his salary, miscellaneous small amounts, and $43,025 other income.

J. Thomas Smith, assistant United States attorney, asked to explain this "other income" item, said:

"I know what it is, and the grand jury knows. But I can't tell you now."

Also accused of income tax evasion is Fred W. Frahm, former superintendent of police in the Reading administration.

HUNDREDS FLEE STORM ALONG LOUISIANA COAST

New Orleans, La., Aug. 6 (AP).—Hundreds of storm refugees fled Louisiana's low-lying gulf coast today before a tropical disturbance, which was edging westward toward Texas after causing extensive floods and disrupting communications from Mobile, Ala., to western Louisiana.

The death of one man from fright was the only casualty reported, but it was feared there might be additional loss of life in isolated coastal settlements swept by the high tides that accompanied the gale and tropical downpour.

The weather bureau this afternoon said the center of the storm, the first of the gulf hurricane season, was on or near the Louisiana coast just southeast of Morgan City, and that apparently it was moving west northwestward. Storm warnings were extended to Houston, Tex.

In New Orleans high winds before dawn uprooted trees and littered streets with débris. All airplanes grounded, railroad service eastward was halted by flooded tracks, and several highways were inundated.

HIT-RUN DRIVER GETS 90 DAYS ON 2 CHARGES

A hit and run driver was sentenced to 90 days in jail yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court.

The driver was William Stevenson, colored, of 3245 Grenshaw street. Witnesses testified that Stevenson, who is 31 years old, ran down and injured a colored pedestrian on June 16 at 47th street and Michigan avenue and then fled. Judge Borrelli sentenced Stevenson to 60 days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident and 30 days for reckless driving, and ordered the sentences served consecutively.

A 10 day sentence was imposed on Steve Doroff, 25, of 5210 24th place, Cicero, on a charge of drunken driving. Doroff was accused of driving thru a red light on the wrong side of the street after drinking some beer.

Tony Liss, 34, of 1718 22d street, was sentenced to 10 days in jail on a drunken driving charge.

AUTO MASSACRE TAKES ITS 500TH VICTIM IN COUNTY

Cook county's 1940 automobile accident death toll rose to 500 yesterday—seven days earlier than the 500 mark was reached last year.

The 500th victim was Oscar Gilders, 28 years old, a colored steel worker living at 5846 South Park way. He died in Provident hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile collision at 63d street and South Park avenue.

Marion Ioli, 8 years old, was killed when she was struck by a truck near her home at 2216 Taylor street. William Frederick of 2319 South Wolcott avenue, the driver, told police the girl darted into his path.

Up to 4 p. m., 376 motor deaths had occurred within the city since Jan. 1. There were 13,552 persons injured in Chicago traffic accidents since Jan. 1.

Fred J. MacIsaac, Writer, Kills Self in Hollywood

Los Angeles, Aug. 6 (AP).—Shot in the head, the body of Fred J. MacIsaac, 54, widely known author of mystery and adventure novels, was found in his Hollywood home yesterday. William Chase, detective lieutenant, said a note found on a dresser read: "This is a case of suicide. I'm ill, tired, and going broke." MacIsaac was a native of Cambridge, Mass.

P. LORILLARD, SON OF TOBACCO MAGNATE, DIES

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Pierre Lorillard, sportsman and clubman, died at his Tuxedo Park estate today after a long illness. He was 82 years old. Son of the founder of the tobacco fortune, Pierre Lorillard the older, who also founded the ultraexclusive Tuxedo Park colony, Lorillard, in 1933 married Ruth Hill Beard, daughter of James J. Hill, the railroad magnate, and their wealth combined to produce a fabulous fortune.

Mrs. Beard was the widow of Anson McCook Beard, a great Yale athlete who died in 1929. The first Mrs. Lorillard died in Washington in 1919. She was the mother of Col. Pierre Lorillard Jr. and Griswold Lorillard.

The Lorillard line was founded in this country by a Frenchman who fought in the revolution. Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's church, Tuxedo Park, at 11 a. m. Thursday.

Delphine, Largest Yacht on Great Lakes, Aground

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6 (AP). — The yacht Delphine, carrying its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dillman, a party of six guests, and a crew of 52, was reported aground today on a reef off South Baymouth, at the eastern tip of Manitoulin Island, Lake Huron. The vessel, largest yacht on the great lakes, was put in service last April after lying moored to a private dock on Lake St. Clair for five years. Advices said that craft is not in danger and may be released today.

Parade of Fall Styles Staged by Designers

BY REA SEEGER.

While the rest of the world mops a sticky brow smart designers are presenting early fall and winter fashions. Fashion sleuths sit in on previews in air cooled comfort and watch the fall fashion parade start out with a flourish. It's quite as interesting as it sounds. The plaids of big and bright color combines will lead in fitted coats for the small fry as well as teen ages. Reversible coats are tremendously popular, with or without the hoods. Velveteen combined with wool stages the usual fall excitement, forest green with scarlet and green plaid, brown with other plaids, using mixed designs of brown and so on.

Brother and sister outfits are going out as fast as they can be packed, slick ideas in wearable knitted fabrics to be used as the first back to school clothes for fall weather. Sister clothes are smart, the sister trios being especially intriguing in gathered skirt dresses of dark color accented with snowy white smocking and rickrack braid, all made of good sturdy materials.

This annual presentation of what the young set can wear, good looking daytime clothes for any occasion, usually forecasts what will be the popular fashion from oxfords to hoods or small rakish Scotch bonnets. Color and contrast also get a big play, the only flaw no one as yet has had a brilliant idea to take the place of those baggy snow pants that extend so sloppily beneath a trim winter coat.

Fashion photograph. . . . New 1940 jacket model of laskin mouton [dyed lamb] is of a rich flattering brown shade, ideal for general wear as well as for spectator sports outfits. The deep slant pockets and tuxedo collar are slendering details to accent the wide loose sleeves and free swing of the silhouette.

Coverlet Guild Outing.

Fur Jacket for College Girl

For college or career girls with small budgets and a lively appreciation of smart fashions here is the best buy in 1940 fur flattery. The newest jackets have that swinging flare that is so becoming to all personalities. The slant pockets and tuxedo collar accent the long simple lines that make such a jacket ideal for either spectator sports clothes or dress parade occasions.

Lake Geneva Holding First Cub Regatta

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE biggest little yacht regatta of the middle west will be held today, tomorrow, and Friday at Lake Geneva, Wis. It is the first annual "cub" regatta, sponsored by the Inland Lake Yachting association, with the Lake Geneva Yacht club as host.

Heretofore the regatta has been an invitational affair, but this year it is an official regatta, and the winner will be champion cub of all the members of the association. Forty-five boats are assembled at Lake Geneva to take part in the five races, two today, two tomorrow, and one on Friday. There will be trophies for all races, and a glorious big one for the champion. Prizes will be distributed at the Yacht club after the Friday race.

Cub skippers and crews range from 9 to 16 years old. Homes around Lake Geneva are filled to the last guest cottage with these young sailors clad in navy blue shorts and white jackets bearing their boat numerals, with stop watches dangling about their necks. Conversation concerns yachting technicalities that puzzle veteran mariners.

Homes Are Crowded with Visiting Cubs.

At Black Point both the Henry Bartholomay and William F. Petersen homes are crowded with visiting crews. The David A. Crawfords, Mr. and Mrs. A. Frederick Gartz Jr., the Arthur W. Wakeleys, the Sanford B. Whites, the C. Wallace Johnsons, the Glen S. Reids, the Horace R. Lyons, and many other families have cubs staying with them.

Judges for the regatta will be Walter M. Sprinkman and Fred Kasten of Cedar lake, DeWit W. Buchanan of Oconomowoc lake, James A. Friend of Pine lake, Henry H. Porter of Lake Geneva and Elmer T. Stevens of Delavan lake. Also on board the judges' boat will be the Inland association commodore, vice commodore, and secretary-treasurer, John R. Kimberly, Charles H. Bell, and Ernst C. Schmidt, respectively. It is expected that the regatta will bring out the largest gallery of the season, with relatives and friends of the young sailors as well as local yachting enthusiasts crowding the seating capacity of all the power craft on the lake.

Four Parties Are Planned for Subdebutante Crowd.

The hundred members of the subdébutante crowd who belong to the Dinner club are looking forward to a gay season next winter. The club is to have four dances, beginning on Nov. 2 with a party at the Indian Hill. The Christmas party, on Dec. 30, will be held at the Exmoor Country club. The other two parties will be given on Feb. 15 and June 7.

The 40 girls and 60 boys who are members of the organization live in north shore towns from Lake Forest to Kenilworth. The parents who will be acting as hosts and hostesses at this year's series of parties include Mrs. Louise T. Bovingdon, Mrs. Walter A. Strong, the Francis H. Hardys, the George P. Lyndes, the Gilbert P. Bogerts, the Lon C. Hills, and the Darrell S. Boyds, among others.

Another party on the débutante calendar is a dinner-dance Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Stone will give for their niece, Miss Barbara Warner, on Sept. 13 at the Indian Hill club. The party will follow a tea at which Mr. and Mrs. John Eliot Warner will introduce their daughter that September afternoon. The tea will be given at the Warners' Winnetka home.

Invitation Golf Tourney at Lake Geneva Club.

The 43d annual invitation golf tournament of the Lake Geneva Country club will bring an older group of houseguests to many homes in the resort over this week-end. The tournament will open tomorrow and continue thru Saturday. Prizes will be awarded at a gala dinner-dance Saturday night. John Lehman Jr. currently is in possession of the Henry H. Porter Family cup, which is

Tomorrow Is Deadline for Sally's Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

All the boys and girls who are fond of stringing up an old curtain in the back yard and giving plays will surely be interested in coming to our Jack and Jill Studio party, which will take place on Aug. 15, because the youngsters they'll see are children who enjoy the very same thing.

These young actors and actresses have training and talent, and a charming little theater of their own to work in, with curtains and footlights and costumes and makeup. You'll get some good ideas for your own back yard performances and have a lot of fun, too, if you're lucky enough to be invited to this party.

Tomorrow's the deadline, you know, so if you want to see your name in the list of winners which will be printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE, better scurry to the mailbox with your letter. Tomorrow 100 children will be selected as my guests, and they'll be the youngsters who write the most enthusisastic letters about this party. If you haven't already mailed your letter—don't forget to look it over carefully and see if you remember to tell me who you are, where you live, and how long ago you had your first birthday.

Long Distance Call.

Harlan Stone, the small, redhaired lad who plays the youngest of the Day boys in Life with Father, received a telephone call from his father from the World's Fair in New York the other evening. It was one of those free long distance calls from the telephone company exhibit. Harlan began an excited recital of his trip to the circus with Lillian Gish. He told how one of the clowns had come and sat with them, described the lions and tigers, and recited the antics of the midget clown. His father reported that the entire telephone company exhibit was hilarious as they listened to the conversation via extension head phones.

Big City Sight.

The most astonishing sight visitors to Chicago see this summer is the large red truck which draws up to an empty lot south of Passavant hospital almost every evening, from which two kangaroos are let out by two attendants. The kangaroos then get their daily exercise in the lot. They live in the truck in a garage on Fairbanks court.

From a Seattle newspaper (relayed by Hazel E. Stephenson): "VASSAR GRADUATE needs a job! Radio continuity, ad copy and layout, secretary, receptionist, typist. Attractive, flexible and durable, but getting desperate. Elliott 3738."

Conductor's Quip.

On a recent afternoon in New York, Edwin McArthur, the young conductor who will direct the Chicago Opera orchestra in the concert at Grant park Aug. 8 for the famous Wagnerian soprano, Kirsten Flagstad, was conducting a rehearsal of his National Youth Administration Symphony orchestra—100 young musicians between the ages of 18 and 25, training under government sponsorship for professional musical work.

They were doing the William Tell overture when right in the middle of the storm music the first violinist dropped his bow.

In the Morning Mail.

Dear Miss Provines: On a day when the thermometer read over 100 it was refreshing to get a letter from the Crystal Spring Water company on Brook avenue, New York, and then to have the letter signed by a man named Rose.

Free Ice Fund Increased by Gifts of $127

Another company of TRIBUNE readers enlisted yesterday with the Good Samaritans who have been aiding the poor this summer thru the Free Ice fund. The contributions which The Tribune Charities, Inc., custodian of the fund, passed on to the United Charities for administration amounted to $127. Heading the list was a gift of $50, sent by Nettie W. Adams.

The sincere thanks of this paper and the administrating agency of the fund goes to Miss Adams and other thoughtful friends who sent contributions ranging from $1 to $20.

Three donors who remembered the Camp Algonquin fund assured two-week vacations for three needy children with gifts amounting to $27.

| | |
|---|---|
| Nettie W. Adams | $50.00 |
| Laura V. Marshall | 20.00 |
| A. J. O. | 15.00 |
| E. C. A. | 10.00 |
| Mrs. Charles H. Pajeau | 5.00 |
| L. M. B. | 5.00 |
| Hilda V. Maltitz | 5.00 |
| John Palmer | 5.00 |
| Mrs. Joseph Beech | 3.00 |
| Florence A. Cohn | 3.00 |
| Mrs. F. H. Fritscher | 2.00 |
| Mrs. R. B. | 1.00 |
| Harold E. Hinrichs | 1.00 |
| A. E. L. | 1.00 |

Gifts to the ice fund now have reached the total of $1,395.93.

The Algonquin donors were:

| | |
|---|---|
| A. J. O. | $15.00 |
| B. E. W. | 10.00 |
| E. A. M. | 2.00 |

Friends of Camp Algonquin have contributed $510.19 to that fund. The United Charities can give a needy mother or child a two week vacation at Camp Algonquin for approximately $10. All contributions, large or small, are gratefully received by The Tribune Charities.

Hamlin Park Concert.

The Dearborn Concert orchestra will give a concert under Theodore Romhild's direction at 8:30 o'clock this evening in Hamlin park, Hoyne and Wellington avenues.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 6.—Samuel Goldwyn, who wrote that piece about double bills killing the motion picture business, still feels the same way, still hopes that the movies will cut down production and improve their product, still gets jabs and pokes from people who don't think the way he does.

A sort of cinematic Jim Farley, who smilingly accepts the kicks and pokes, he says, "I can take it. I've taken all those Goldwyn gags for years."

Those who don't see his way report about as follows: "Sam is shrewd about getting publicity. He hasn't anything in production at the moment, so this double bill stuff keeps his name up in front....Sam is sore. His last few pictures haven't been any too good and he's using the double-bill B pictures that went with his things as an alibi....There will always be double bills, and there will always be B pictures. You don't hear Saks Fifth Avenue squawking because Woolworth's is selling stuff for dimes, do you? There's room for both."

Goldwyn says: "Why should anybody deliberately try to make a B picture? You try to make A's and you'll get enough B's anyhow. I haven't liked some of my own pictures—but I tried to make them as good as I could."

Goldwyn is not alone, of course, on his side of the fence. It is reported that Paramount, which, last June, announced the usual yearly number of productions, will actually name only 25 films during the 1940-'41 season. At the Paramount convention it was announced that the firm would issue only A pictures.

Goldwyn's mail from the magazine piece has been large, and the letters have been overwhelmingly against double bills. He has let me look them over, and here are excerpts from a few:

From Redwood City, Cal.: "Excessive production of any commodity, be it motion pictures or summer squash, lowers the value of that commodity. . . . I doubt if Mr. and Mrs. Public care whether the story you bought set you back ten dollars or ten hundred thousand. Nor do they care whether the star receives fifty dollars a week or fifty hundred. They are interested in the finished product."

From a Columbia City, Ind., exhibitor: "We are one of the suckers who never double billed and never intend to. But we are the sufferers. To fill our bookings we have to take the little features that go on the bad end of the double bill program. . . . I can't fill 208 dates with what they produce now and satisfy the customers."

From Milwaukee: "I am on the road all week. When I return on Friday my youngsters ask me to take them to the neighborhood movie. I have discontinued this because the double feature plus the short plus advertising and trailers keeps me there until after 11 o'clock. . . . My objections to present day movies are: Double features, advertisments, advertising of coming attractions, with those horrible superlatives, the tiresome names of the director, producer, camera man, etc., and I don't like my movie actors to appear on the radio. If I have to make a choice I'll retain radio and give up movies."

From Bloomington, Ill: "You are dead right about it being an overdose for most of us. I became surfeited long ago and seldom attend. Just got out of the habit."

Pro Arte Group Gives Second in Concert Series

The program:

Quartet, C minor, Opus 18, No. 4....................Beethoven
Quartet, A major, Opus 18, No. 5....................Beethoven
Quartet, B-flat major, Opus 18, No. 6....................Beethoven

BY CECIL SMITH.

The Pro Arte Quartet, well under way in its week long marathon at Ravinia, last night completed its exposition of the string quartets of Beethoven's "first period." Improved weather brought out an audience a little larger, I am told, than that of Monday's opening concert.

The opus 18 quartets are often passed off lightly as examples of Simon pure classicism, in the style of Haydn. Yet while the Haydn quartets, and to a lesser degree those of Mozart, obviously provided Beethoven with his models, a new largeness of scope and a new individualistic vigor set certain movements apart from the classical tradition. The opening movement of the fourth quartet, to cite a single example, is not particularly ingratiating, and it carries a foreshadowing of the introspective mood of many of the later quartets.

The audience received the Pro Arte players enthusiastically, and derived obvious pleasure from their performance. Without wishing to belittle their extraordinary accomplishment in mastering the entire imposing Beethoven quartet literature, I must own that I found certain deficiencies in their playing. On the whole their approach to these early quartets was a surface one, somewhat lacking in dynamic intensity, and often either overlooking or failing to solve problems of tempo, of structural relationships, and even of phrasing and intonation.

The concert was a valuable and interesting one, but it contributed little that was final or definitive to our understanding of the quartets.

In Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

"He sure scrapes a mean gut," said a Grant park patron last night as Edmund Kurtz, principal cellist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, completed a performance of Tschaikowsky's "Rococo" variations.

This ecomium was fully deserved, for Mr. Kurtz was in royal form. In the beautiful sixth variation his playing had had not only a great songfulness but also that softness and pliability of line which accord so well with the charmingly decadent quality of the music. In the piece's more florid passages he had scampered over the strings in a genuinely bravura manner.

Besides providing sympathetic support for Mr. Kurtz, Hans Lange and the orchestra did some excellent things on their own responsibility. The almost barbaric glitter of the Borodin B minor symphony was more than usually in evidence, for each section of the orchestra seemed to play with an especial brilliance and verve. The big climaxes had an almost explosive power.

The evening's exotic note was continued in Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade" suite. Its great length went virtually unnoticed, for its wealth of rhythmic and melodic interest and the splendor of its orchestral colorings made 50 minutes seem like 10. John Weicher, concert master of the orchestra, played the violin solos meltingly.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

One of the beauty salons has worked out a most attractive plan for the career woman that insures her beauty care in record time and at a special rate. As a matter of fact, there are two plans, one that combines attention for face and hair, another that combines face and body massage.

The two hours between 12 and 2 are set aside at the salon for the special benefit of the working woman. According to one plan, she can devote this time to face and hair, beginning with a brisk shampoo and a hair set. While her hair is drying she has a manicure and just before her curls are combed out she has a nice little face treatment. The windup is a make-up, with lips that match her fingertips.

If the career girl is getting worried about her figure and wants to improve her silhouette she spends her two hours quite differently. Under the second plan the face treatment comes first, followed by a body massage. This last has a great deal to recommend it to the working woman. It's a favorite way of trying to reduce, of course, but another one of its virtues lies in its relaxing qualities. The woman who works at high tension will find that it soothes her taut nerves and imparts a wonderful sense of well being.

Jailer Type of Husband Stands to Lose His Wife

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I kept company with a girl for two years, and then we married. Our married life was serene. We had minor arguments, as most couples have, but we got over them quickly enough. Now we've been married five years. About two weeks ago we had a bad argument about the company she was keeping with a single girl friend. It wound up in a regular fight. After the fight, she left the house and didn't return for three days. Then, when I went to see her to bring her back, she said she did not want to return, as she was in love with another fellow and wanted a separation.

"This cannot be true. There never has been another fellow within miles of her. She's never been out with any other fellow in all the time I've known her, and we never have gone out much where she would meet any other men. What do you think?

—FRIENDLESS."

We think, Friendless, that your last sentence explains much of your domestic trouble. You say the young wife never has gone out much. Yet you fight with her over her maintenance of an old-time single girl friend. It looks to us, Friendless, as if you were trying to isolate the wife from all contacts.

A boned and rolled chuck roast is an economy cut and one easy to carve. Pot roasted and served with potatoes which have been cooked in the meat drippings, and gravy made from them, a chuck roast is savory enough for a company dinner.

With this meat we're planning to serve asparagus in an unusual way, a plain tomato salad with chili dressing, fruity muffins, and ice cream for dessert. Tomorrow's dinner menu is a real meal, as this outline testifies, but it's a fairly easy meal to prepare and doesn't take much time at the stove.

ROLLED CHUCK ROAST.

Have the dealer bone, roll, and tie the chuck roast. When you get it home, wipe it with a damp cloth and dredge it with flour. Brown meat on all sides in hot fat and sprinkle with salt and pepper. If you like, add a cut clove of garlic to the meat as it browns, but be sure to remove it after 5 minutes or so.

When meat has browned thoroly, cover it closely and cook on top of the stove at low heat, or in the oven at 325 degrees for 3 or 4 hours, depending upon the size of the cut. A four pound chuck roast is about right for the average family. It will allow leftovers for meat pie, sliced cold meat, or some other second day dish. Three hours usually is a long enough cooking time. Add the potatoes about 45 minutes before the end of the cooking period.

Scalloped Asparagus Tips with Almonds.

1 square can asparagus tips
½ cup blanched almonds
1½ cups medium white sauce
Grated cheese

Drain asparagus tips and use the liquid in the white sauce. Season sauce well with salt and pepper, and pour over asparagus tips and blanched almonds in a greased casserole. Top with grated cheese and bake in a 375-400 degree oven until hot and browned.

Blueberry Muffins.

2 cups sifted flour
⅝ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup fresh blueberries

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together. Cream shortening and sugar and beat in eggs, one at a time. Add flour and milk alternately, stirring only until the flour disappears. Fold in berries. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full, and bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes.

Toffee Ice Cream.

[Serves eight.]
⅝ cup crushed toffee
1¼ cups milk
2 eggs
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon gelatin
¼ cup cold milk
1½ cups heavy cream, whipped
½ teaspoon vanilla

Place candy in a cloth bag and pound with a hammer to crush it. Scald milk in the top of a double boiler. Beat eggs and add salt and sugar to them. Add a little of the hot milk, stirring. Pour egg mixture into the rest of the milk, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until the custard will coat a clean spoon. Meanwhile add gelatin to cold milk and let soak for 5 minutes. Combine with hot custard and stir until it dissolves. Add crushed candy. Cool and pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze to a mush, remove to chilled bowl, and whip until fluffy. Fold in whipped cream and vanilla. Freeze until firm.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

Aug. 7, 1940.

Universal Day—Keep your balance today. Listen to both sides of the question.

Coöperation is the keyword for a 2-month. After taking a lone stand in a 1-month you are now ready to consider those around you, and to make allowances for the wishes and desires of others beside yourself. It is a period of taking second thought on the action you started under the 1 vibrations—that sobering second thought when you fit in the little pieces and details of your plan.

Year Ahead—Those with birthdays today are in a 2-year so the above counseling is for them, too, with the added advice that taking in a partner, either in marriage or business, is a good idea this year.

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

[Central Daylight Saving Time.]

Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, veteran of the Spanish-American and world wars, will speak from 10:15 to 10:45 p. m. over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network in a special address preliminary to the army maneuvers at Canton, N. Y. The program will originate in the studio of WLSB at Ogdensburg, N. Y., near Canton. The speech will be directed to the thousand or more officers assembled in the area for participation in the 1st army—2d corps area maneuvers. Gen. Drum went to France in 1917 as Gen. Pershing's assistant chief of staff and later became chief of staff of the 1st army.

Capt. E. D. C. Herne, former British flyer, will present his regular evening review of the news from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m.

Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Attilio Baggiore, tenor, will be featured on Henry Weber's "Pageant of Melody" from 9:15 to 10 p. m. Miss Witwer and Baggiore will be highlighted in a duet from the first act of "Carmen." "Le Roi la dit," by Clement Delibes, "Angelus," by Jules Massenet, and "Southern Roses Waltz," by Richard Strauss, will be played by the W-G-N Concert orchestra.

At 9:45 a. m., June Baker will interview Edwin McArthur, noted musical director and conductor, for Kirsten Flagstad.

At 8:45 tonight W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network will present the coaching staff of the College All-Star football team, as selected by popular vote of the fans, in a special broadcast, which will feature Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and director of the All-Star game, and Bob Elson, W-G-N-Mutual's sports commentator, as well as the five coaches.

Other programs:
8:15 a. m.—The Gospel Singer.

Dainty, Feminine Lingerie

WOMAN'S AND MISS' LINGERIE.

There's no closed season on dainty lingerie. In summer it's a double necessity, and in the cooler months it seems that the frillier undergarments offset the stuffy effect of heavier fabrics. At any rate, there's no time of year when you DON'T need slips and nighties, and we decided that this between season would be a good period for you to utilize in making them for yourself, when you're not occupied with more important fashions.

In lingerie silks and cottons, and as tailored or as frilly as you like, these two models are easy to make and are so beautifully fitted that they're a comfort to wear. It may be that the remnant counters may help you observe economy, too.

Style No. 2794 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 3 yards of lace.

Style No. 3133 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material, 2 yards of ruffling for hem, 5 yards of beading.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Medallion for Tablecloth

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This is one handsome crocheted medallion for a tablecloth which may be created without extreme thought or deep concentration, and the result is much to be desired. It consists of round medallions set together with a star joining which is achieved with chain stitches and double crochets. By the use of a size larger crochet hook and heavier crochet cotton, this same design is adaptable to a lovely bedspread.

For instructions in crocheting the medallion with star joining for a tablecloth, No. X-497, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

The suit preference signal is a comparatively new device [only a few years old] which has created great controversy among experts and average players alike. Briefly, this convention can be defined as "an unnecessarily high card used in leading or in following suit, asking partner to shift to the higher of the two suits other than trump." Under certain conditions, the lead or follow suit play of a very low card asks the shift to the lower of the two suits.

Like every other convention of bidding or play, this may be either a boon or boomerang, depending on the skill with which it is employed. Unfortunately, it is usually *mis*employed, leading to confusion rather than clarity. That it can be of great value, however, when treated with intelligence, is evidenced by the following deal:

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 heart | Double | 2 hearts | 3 clubs |
| 3 hearts | 5 clubs | 5 hearts | Pass |
| Pass | Double | Pass | Pass |
| Pass | | | |

This five heart contract was reached at several of the tables, obviously enough as a sacrifice against the five club bid of the opponents. Actually, five clubs could have been defeated, but since this would have involved virtual double dummy defense, including a diamond opening by South and a later diamond ruff by North, the sacrifice was not illogical. Indeed, it paid well at several tables, since South was defeated only two tricks at five hearts and since many East-West teams earned 400 points at five clubs or five diamonds.

The usual defense against five hearts was the club king opening by West, followed by a shift to trumps. These Wests were afraid to lead away from the spade king, hence their partners, holding the doubleton spade ace, were unable to get in a ruff.

At only one table did the East-West team make their opponents pay adequately for their sacrifice attempt. Here, also, the club king was the opening lead, but this particular East did not automatically follow suit with his lowest club. Instead, he thought a moment, and then followed with the club jack. As he had hoped, this caused West to sit up and take notice. On due consideration, East's attempted message was not too difficult to decipher. East had bid clubs freely at the three level, hence could not possibly hold less than five headed by the jack. This left one club as the limit of South's holding, hence it was out of the question that East could want West, if the latter's club king held the trick, to continue with the club ace, since the latter was sure to be ruffed. Thus, the club jack could not have its usual connotation of asking for a continuation; it must carry a different meaning.

The only other possible message which East could hope to convey by the play of such an unnecessarily high card was as a suit-preference signal. Thus, it became a comparatively simple matter for West to figure out that his partner wanted a shift to the higher of the two other side suits. Satisfied that he had figured out East's message correctly, and with complete partnership confidence, West promptly shifted to his fourth highest spade. East won with the ace and returned a spade. West won and played a third round, which East ruffed. Declarer's inevitable diamond loser gave the defenders their third setting trick and a 500 point penalty for top on the board.

Make a Child Part of Your Social Event

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Do you dread seeing "company" come in the door? Do you dread it because you know your little girl is going to make you uncomfortable and, perhaps, spoil your pleasure, and that probably your guests will go away with the impression that Dulcy is a troublesome child and you a very poor mother?

One of the most miserable moments a mother can have is when her child acts up, shows off, or is what she calls "plain naughty" when she has guests.

Sometimes she hides her discomfiture, except for losing the thread of the conversation and having that absent look in her eye every once in a while. If she hides her chagrin at the time a stormy session usually follows after the guests are gone. Spankings and reproaches and scoldings make up the "storm." Sometimes, instead, she tries to discipline or coax the young disturber into normal behavior on the spot.

But, in either case, the call is spoiled and she's either angry or disgusted.

Do you groan in sympathy? Probably every mother has had such a thing happen once, and some mothers have it regularly.

Did you ever sit down calmly, after your irritation was gone, and try to figure out why it had happened and what you could do about it? There are several things that account for such "goings-on."

One is that the child may be mismanaged most of the time, whether there's company or not. Naturally, when mother's style is cramped by having callers, it is a good time for the spoiled child to go a little farther than usual. The only cure in that case is a whole new system.

But often it isn't that a child is spoiled. A mother, by a little thought, can work out something.

Another I know draws her young son into the conversation for a while and tactfully leads her guests into treating the boy as more or less of an equal.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beach of 455 Briar place announce the engagement of their daughter, Greta Claire, to Robert Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Walter of Raleigh, N. C. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock on Aug. 24 at St. Peter's Episcopal church and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Beach attended St. Mary's school and Beloit college. Her fiancé was graduated from the University of North Carolina where he is now doing graduate work in engineering. Mr. Walter and his bride will live in Raleigh.

6 TAXING BODIES CUT TOTAL DEBT BY 14 MILLIONS

Year's Results Shown in Quarterly Statements.

The six major governments of Cook county cut their total debts by more than 14 million dollars in the year ended June 30, analysis of quarterly statements showed yesterday. The governments are the city, school board, park district, sanitary district, county, and forest preserve district.

Debts, both long and short term, of the six governments on June 30 totaled $466,054,566, compared with $480,490,149 a year earlier.

A breakdown of the statements showed, however, that altho the bonded or long term debts were reduced by more than 20 millions, this was partly offset by a rise of more than five millions in current debts, such as unpaid bills, salaries, and judgments.

Current Debts Rise.

Current debts of the six governments rose from $21,595,043 on June 30, 1939, to $26,606,601 on June 30 of this year. The school board was the only government which reduced its current debt during the year.

The climb in short term debts was caused by a decline in the collections of delinquent taxes due in prior years, tax officials said. Altho current collections on the 1939 tax bills were slightly higher than current receipts during the same period last year, total tax receipts fell off because collections on the tax bills issued in the early 1930s have dwindled.

In the year ended June 30, reductions in total debts were made by the city, the park district, and the forest preserve district. Increases were shown by the school board, sanitary district, and county.

City Makes Largest Slash.

The city, with a debt reduction of nearly 17 millions for the year, made the largest slash, but this was accounted for entirely in bonds and tax warrants. The city's current debts increased to $17,604,617 on June 30, up more than $750,000 for the year.

Each of the governments except the city showed a rise in the amount of tax warrants outstanding, but the city cut its warrants by nearly 9 millions.

During the second quarter of this year, from March 31 to June 30, the six governments reduced their total debts by more than 34 millions. This reduction was made possible by the heavy collections on 1939 tax bills just before the June 1 penalty date. The second penalty date is Sept. 1.

Total Debts Compared.

| | June 30, '40. | June 30, '39. |
|---|---|---|
| City | $135,273,653 | $152,308,574 |
| Schools | 65,775,449 | 61,268,485 |
| Park district | 92,948,336 | 97,155,874 |
| Sanitary district | 117,029,358 | 116,005,390 |
| County | 43,798,872 | 42,289,926 |
| Forest perserve | 11,228,898 | 11,461,900 |
| Total | $466,054,566 | $480,490,149 |

Net Bonded Debt.

| | June 30, '40. | June 30, '39. |
|---|---|---|

CULTIVATES FLOWERS AND VEGETABLES IN SHADOW OF THE LOOP

In the shadow of loop buildings a garden was thriving yesterday. It occupies one-eighth of an acre on the west bank of the Chicago river, between the Van Buren street and Jackson boulevard bridges. Leewin A. Wade has a photographic studio in an adjoining building and tends the garden. He reported yesterday that the corn and tomato yields are exceptionally good. And the lilacs, roses, snowballs, and iris grow as luxuriantly as in a rural setting.

Detour Is Urged to Save $150,000 in Bridge Job

The council finance committee, in order to make an estimated saving of $150,000, yesterday recommended that traffic now using the South Canal street bridge be detoured over other routes while the new bridge is under construction. Original construction plans called for construction of a temporary bridge at a cost of $150,000, but a subcommittee reported traffic could be detoured during construction.

JOSLYN DIVORCE SUIT TALK TURNS TO MISTRESSES

Witness Quotes Husband Concerning Propriety.

A conversation concerning the wisdom of keeping a mistress was repeated yesterday at the Joslyn divorce trial by Theodore Holm, a marine insurance adjuster, who said he is an acquaintance both of George R. Joslyn and his wife, Charlotte.

Holm, who lives at 37 East Division street, was questioned by Attorney Thomas Hart Fisher, representing Mrs. Joslyn, whose divorce suit is contested. Both Joslyns have accused the other of misconduct.

Holm took the stand in Judge John C. Lewe's court and added spice to an otherwise dull afternoon by telling of a visit in August, 1939, to Joslyn's farm near South Haven, Mich., and of meeting there a woman whose name was Miss U——.

Tells of Conversation.

The witness said he and Joslyn swam and dined with her, and that as he was about to leave the next day he had a conversation with Joslyn in the living room. According to Holm, he said:

"George, considering your position and feelings concerning Charlotte, and disregarding conventions, don't you think it's very foolish for you to live here with your mistress?"

Joslyn, Holm said, grew angry and responded:

"Do you want me to go to a house of assignation?"

"I told him," Holm said, "'There's such a thing as continence.' He said, 'Not for me.'"

Describes Previous Meeting.

On a previous occasion, Holm said, Joslyn had showed him a photograph of the woman to whom Holm was later introduced in South Haven and said:

"That is the young lady I left Charlotte for."

Holm said also that he had lunched with Joslyn, prior to the South Haven visit, and that Joslyn told of a visit to his office by a former employé in the Joslyn home at Lake Bluff. Holm said Joslyn told him the man offered information about things that happened there, but that he had "thrown him out."

"It was the kind of testimony I could have used in my divorce action," Holm quoted Joslyn as saying, "but my own conduct has been such that you know I wouldn't use it."

Prior to Holm's testimony Dr. Willis Kallis, whose office is at 30 North Michigan avenue, testified in Joslyn's behalf.

Introduction Is Described.

Dr. Kallis, an optometrist, said he was a friend of Joslyn's, and that he had introduced Joslyn to a patient of his, a Miss U——, whom Joslyn hired as housekeeper. Dr. Kallis said he, Joslyn, and the housekeeper made three trips to Michigan during the summer of 1938, that the housekeeper slept in her own bedroom, and that while she joined them at one meal, she did not swim with them or engage in other sports.

Joslyn himself had testified earlier in the afternoon, a quiet, polite figure under Attorney Fisher's questioning.

When the case adjourned for the day, Judge Lewe announced continuance to Sept. 18 and told Joslyn he could have custody of his four children from Aug. 12 to 31 at his South Haven home. Joslyn, in previous testimony, had said there was now a new housekeeper there.

CITY'S HAY FEVER SEASON OPENS; POLLEN COUNTED

Chicago's hay fever season began yesterday. O. C. Durham, chief botanist of the Abbott Laboratories, Inc., in North Chicago, found five grains of ragweed pollen on a slide which had been exposed by the weather bureau on the federal building roof. Durham said the increase in the amount of pollen in the air should be rapid now, because of the large numbers of weeds growing in and near the city. The largest number of pollen grains ever found on a single slide was 1,006, Durham said.

A pollen exhibit was opened yesterday at the Academy of Sciences in Lincoln park. It was set up by Durham and includes a graph showing the pollen count for the last 11 years. It will show the daily count for the next month or so. Another pollen count station will be run this season at the state game farm in Springfield in coöperation with the conservation department.

The Chicago Motor club yesterday listed midwestern places of refuge from hay fever-inducing pollen. The places are Isle Royal, Petoskey, St. Ignace, and Sault Ste. Marie, in Michigan; the region near Tower, Minn., and the Eagle river country in Wisconsin.

ELECT ANDERSON HEAD COACH OF ALL-STARS

FELLER HALTS CHICAGO RALLY IN SECOND GAME

Cleveland Yields 1st Place to Tigers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Thornton Lee painted a pitching masterpiece yesterday to shatter the White Sox's three game losing streak and at the same time assure Jimmy Dykes' fourth placers an even break in the double header chores with Cleveland's Indians, who have American league pennant ideas. The big southpaw unburdened himself of a sterling two hitter for a 5 to 1 decision. Then fiery, snarling Johnny Allen showed up and, altho the Sox made it necessary for Bob Feller to do a rescue act in the ninth, they succumbed by 3 to 2 before 12,843 in Comiskey park.

Thornton Lee.

Despite this victory the Indians surrendered the league lead to the Tigers, who whipped the Browns last night.

Lee Gets Two Hits, Too.

Bill Dietrich set out in the second game to carry on where Lee left off, but the bespectacled right hander's pitches failed to have the same effect. He was bashed for six hits, three runs scoring, in the first three innings. Thereafter Bill was effective for four innings and Clint Brown was the same way in two innings, but the good work meant nothing because of the Sox's inability to fathom Allen. Until the ninth, when two hits brought in Feller, the Chicagoans fashioned only five scattered singles.

Lee, who now boasts four successes in a row as well as nine for the year, not only duplicated the two hitter inflicted on Washington's Senators in his previous start, but almost made himself noteworthy by his bat wielding. He launched a two-run rally against Al Milnar, also a lefty, with a single in the second inning. He added to his margin by singling again to drive in a mate in the sixth. The two other runs, except for an assisting fly ball from Mike Tresh, were exclusively the work of Luke Appling and Taft Wright in the seventh. They helped themselves to triples.

Rosenthal Fails to Hit.

The Sox attack revealed a grievous weakness in the spot where Larry Rosenthal is swinging for Julius Solters, the man with the charley horse. Rosenthal fanned twice, sacrificed once and popped to an infielder in the first battle. In the other game he fanned two times and twice was the victim of infield fielding. One of this pair of strikeouts came between the pair of hits which routed Allen in the ninth. And both these runs scored only because Solters, doing a pinch job, hoisted a fly which Jeff Heath caught, but didn't hold.

FIRST GAME

CUBS' OPENER WITH REDS IS PUT OFF BY RAIN

Lee, Derringer to Start Today's Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 6.—The Cubs this afternoon escaped the ordeal of meeting the league leading Cincinnati Reds. Rain busted loose a half hour before game time and the contest was called off shortly before 3 o'clock. At 3 o'clock it had stopped giving down.

The match which was postponed today will be played off as part of a double header on Sept. 1, when the Cubs come here for their final visit of the year.

Will Start Same Pitchers.

Managers Gabby Hartnett and Bill McKechnie announced they will start the game tomorrow with the same pitchers they had selected for today. They are Bill Lee for the Cubs, winner of seven victories, and Paul Derringer for the Reds, winner of 16, including his last seven.

Zeke Bonura would not have played today. He was not in uniform and is nursing a charley horse which may keep him out of service for many days. Rabbit Warstler, who also suffered a pulled muscle in the Brooklyn final, announced he was ready to play today.

Go to Pittsburgh Friday.

The Cubs are scheduled to play single games here tomorrow and Thursday. They then go to Pittsburgh for a night game Friday, a single game Saturday and a double header Sunday. The Cubs return home to receive the Cardinals, the Pirates, and the Reds and all the eastern clubs, starting with the Phillies, beginning Aug. 12. The Chicagoans will be home until they come back here on Aug. 31.

Tigers Defeat Browns, 6-2; Regain Lead

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers regained the American league lead with a 6 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns tonight as Buck Newsom scored his 14th pitching triumph of the season, altho rescued by Archie McKain in the ninth inning.

Detroit clinched the decision with a four run outburst in the sixth which broke a 2-all deadlock and enabled the Tigers to go a half game up on the Cleveland Indians.

Don Faurot of Missouri, who polled the second highest point total, was the leader in the midwest outside the Western conference.

Lowell Dawson of Tulane rolled up a heavy vote in the south to win place on All-Star staff.

WIEMAN, SHAW, DAWSON, FAUROT CHOSEN AS AIDS

Coaches on Air

DR. EDWARD N. ANDERSON of Iowa, head coach of the 1940 College All-Stars, and his assistants—Tad Wieman of Princeton, Lowell Dawson of Tulane, Don Faurot of Missouri, and Buck Shaw of Santa Clara—will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system at 8:45 p. m., Chicago time, tonight.

The program, which will originate in the studios of W-G-N, will shift to St. Louis to pick up Faurot's talk and to Denver for Wieman's acceptance. The Princeton coach is vacationing in the Rocky mountains. Shaw, who is visiting in Iowa, will speak from Des Moines, and Anderson from Chicago. Dawson's voice will be heard by electrical transcription.

BY ARCH WARD.

Eddie Anderson of the University of Iowa will lead the College All-Americans against the Green Bay Packers Aug. 29 in Chicago's seventh annual All-Star football game.

The Hawkeye gridiron chief, widely recognized as the coach of the year after Iowa's brilliant 1939 season, has won the coast to coast poll conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 391 other newspapers, and radio stations.

Anderson's assistants, also chosen by popular vote, will be:

Anderson the People's Choice.

It was apparent from the beginning of the balloting that Anderson was the people's choice. Backed solidly by the state of Iowa, Anderson also polled heavily thruout other conference centers. The demand for Anderson was so strong that none of the other Western conference coaches had any organized support. Robert Zuppke of Illinois, dean of the Big Nine group, actually withdrew in favor of the Hawkeye leader.

Competition was keener in other sections. Wieman won out in the east after a race with Jimmy Crowley of Fordham, Carl Snavely of Cornell, and Raymond Pond of Yale that kept the decision in doubt until the last few days of the poll. Dawson's strongest rival was Harry Mehre of Mississippi, who finished in second place ahead of two former assistants on the All-Star staff—Bernie Moore of Louisiana State and Maj. Robert Neyland of Tennessee.

Phelan Chief Competitor.

Buck Shaw of Santa Clara, who had almost undivided backing of fans in the San Francisco bay district, where the voting always is heavy, had only one real competitor—Jimmy Phelan of Washington, who was a member of the 1937 staff. Faurot's principal competition came from within his own state. The Kansas City region put on a great drive for Frank Hood of Rockhurst college.

The coaches' poll drew a total of 5,881,130 first place votes. The balloting was heaviest in the midwest area outside the Western conference where 2,357,350 first place votes were cast. The Big Nine total was 1,670,544. Eastern fans went to the polls 685,050 strong to put over their fa-

Oscar Was Sorry!

Last year he forgot to buy tickets for the All-Star football game. His family let him know what they thought of his mental processes, too. This year he vowed not to miss the seventh annual charity battle between the College All-Americans and the Green Bay Packers to be played on Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 29—and Oscar has made good, for he bought his tickets early. Don't be an Oscar of 1939 vintage. Tickets are available at the Tribune Public service office at 1 South Dearborn street from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily and in Tribune Tower from 9 to 5:30. Address mail orders to All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower. Make check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Prices:

DERBY HOPEFULS TAKE LICKING IN ALLOWANCE RACE

Inscolassie, Super Chief Lose in Sprint.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The American Derby shapes up as a four horse race following yesterday's developments at Washington Park. Sirocco, Bimelech, Gallahadion, and Weigh Anchor stand out as the likely starters in next Saturday's $50,000 stake.

Gallahadion, winner of the Kentucky Derby, demonstrated that he is ready by working a mile and a quarter in 2:07 yesterday morning. Then in the afternoon two doubtful starters—Inscolassie and Super Chief—were beaten so badly in a seven furlong allowance event that most observers believe they might just as well stay in the barn Saturday.

Mioland May Start.

Charles S. Howard's Mioland is still conceded an outside chance of getting to the post, but he never has recovered his best form since the accident that threw him out of training soon after he ran second to Bimelech in the Preakness. He is reported to be underweight and has been working so lightly that it is not generally believed he will be ready.

Bimelech, winner of the Preakness and Belmont, is due to arrive tomorrow together with Sirocco, winner of the Classic. It is reported that Edward R. Bradley may engage Basil James to replace Freddie Smith as Bimelech's jockey Saturday.

Until yesterday afternoon Inscolassie had been considered a likely starter. Tho she would have been an outsider in the betting, it will be remembered that two other fillies have won the American Derby in recent years—Black Helen in 1935 and Dawn Play in 1937. Super Chief, winner of the Arkansas Derby, also had been conceded a chance of getting to the post Saturday.

Moscow II. Wins.

The field for the $50,000 Derby has been cut to four probable starters, but among them are the winners of practically every important 3 year old event. The probable field follows:

| | Jockey. | Weight. | Probable. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Bimelech | [B. James] | 126 | 2-1 |
| Sirocco | [G. Woolf] | 126 | 8.5 |
| Gallahadion | [C. Bierman] | 126 | 2-1 |
| Weigh Anchor | [N. Merritt] | 118 | 20-1 |

In their trial race yesterday, however, Inscolassie finished fifth and Super Chief sixth behind Joseph E. Widener's Moscow II. Tho Inscolassie had some excuse, having been forced to go wide on the turn, she tired steadily after being clear of interference in the stretch. Super Chief also weakened badly in later stages. Alhalon, which had gone to the post in the Classic and is eligible for the Derby, showed a good early effort, but wound up seventh. His handlers have no intention of sending him into the Derby.

Moscow II. finished a length in advance of Night Lady in this seven furlong allowance event, Tippity being third. His performance gave the Widener stable a double victory in the two feature events of the afternoon.

Misty Isle Scores Again.

Misty Isle, Widener's fleet juvenile filly, which has never been out of the money, won again yesterday, beating five rivals in an allowance event. She ran the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5, the fastest time for juveniles in the Chicago area this season. The crowd backed her so confidently that she was held at 1 to 2 odds, her mutuel prices being $3, $2.20 and $2.20 across the board. She finished two lengths ahead of W. E. Smith's My Bill, while Mrs. J. F. Waters' Swell Chance was taking third money.

Complications set in soon after the break, for Swell Chance began carrying Misty Isle out on the dash to the far turn while My Bill, racing along the rail, was opening up an advantage of two lengths. All the way around the turn Misty Isle went wide, while Jockey Johnny Adams was easing Swell Chance over toward the fail. Meanwhile My Bill continued to hold command, showing an excellent turn of speed. He was at the quarter in :22 3-5 and the half in :46 2-5.

She Moves Up.

As the stretch drive began, Misty Isle moved up steadily on the outside, took command approaching the final furlong and had no trouble thereafter, tho Jockey Ken McCombs kept her under light urging to the end.

Misty Isle's record now consists of five victories, two of which were in stake events, three seconds and two thirds out of 10 starts. This has been compiled against the best competition in her division. Her stake victories were the Lafayette at Keeneland and the Hyde Park at Arlington.

ELECT ANDERSON HEAD COACH OF ALL-AMERICANS

Wieman, Shaw, Dawson, Faurot Named as Aids.

vorites. The south cast 643,505 votes and the far west 524,681.

All five coaches, two of whom are on summer vacations, have accepted election to the staff. They will be at Northwestern university Sunday morning to welcome the squad of 67 All-Stars who have accepted invitations to the training camp.

Named by Walter Eckersall.

Anderson succeeds Elmer Layden of Notre Dame as head coach of the All-Stars. His other predecessors were Bo McMillin, 1938; Charles Dorais, 1937; Bernie Bierman, 1936; Frank Thomas, 1935, and the late Noble Kizer, 1934.

Anderson was picked by the late Walter Eckersall as an All-American end when he was the running mate of Roger Kiley at Notre Dame. His first coaching job was at Columbia college [now Loras] of Dubuque, Ia. He left there in 1924 for a similar position at De Paul university, Chicago, where he had a chance to complete his medical studies. He specialized in eye, ear, nose, and throat work. He accepted an offer to become head football coach at Holy Cross college in 1933 and he remained there until moving to Iowa a year ago. His record at Holy Cross was 47 victories, seven defeats and four ties.

Fifth Year as Tulane Chief.

Dawson, one of the nation's youngest head coaches who at 32 is starting his fifth year as Tulane's chief of staff, was a quarter back on the Tulane elevens of 1929, 1930 and 1931. Bierman of Minnesota was coaching the Green Wave in those days. Dawson served as back field coach under Bierman at Minnesota from 1932 to 1935.

Wieman has been Princeton's head coach since 1938 when Fritz Crisler resigned the post to accept an offer from Michigan. He entered the coaching field immediately after his graduation from Michigan where he showed his versatility by playing end, full back and tackle in successive seasons. Wieman was line coach at his Alma Mater from 1921 until 1926 and head coach in 1927 and 1928. He served as line coach at Vanderbilt in 1929 and spent the following two years at Minnesota under Crisler. He went to Princeton with Crisler in 1932.

Leads Missouri to Title.

Faurot, a graduate of the University of Missouri, has spent all his 14 years as a coach in his native state. He piloted Missouri to its first Big Six conference championship last fall. Faurot was a 148 pound letterman in football, basketball and baseball in his undergraduate days. His first position as head coach was at Northeast Missouri Teachers' college, Kirksville, where he remained until called back to his Alma Mater after Frank Carideo resigned as Missouri's head coach in 1934. His all time coaching record includes 90 victories and 28 defeats.

Shaw, a teammate of Anderson at Notre Dame, has been head coach at Santa Clara since 1936 when he was moved up from line coach, a position he had held from 1929, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Maurice [Clipper] Smith. In his four years as leader of the Broncos his teams have lost only 4 of 35 games and the opposition has included many of the leading teams in the land.

EVERT REACHES FOURTH ROUND IN JUNIOR TENNIS

Benny Migdow Beaten in Three Set Battle.

Culver, Ind., Aug. 6 (AP).—Seeded tennis players lived up to their reputations today, driving thru the third round of the singles of the National Junior and Boys' tournament at Culver Military academy. Tomorrow's matches will tell a different story, however, since eight of the 12 seeded juniors meet in the fourth round.

Two seeded juniors were forced three sets by their opponents. Jimmy Evert of Chicago, No. 9, eliminated William Vogt of Drexel Hills, Pa., 8-6, 5-7, 6-3. Benny Migdow of Chicago pushed Jack Tunnell of Los Angeles, No. 12, to a trio of sets before the western youth downed him, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

Carrothers Plays Today.

Bobby Carrothers, No. 2, from Coronado, Cal., was the only seeded junior who did not play today. He meets Fred McNair of Annapolis, Md., tomorrow.

Jim Brink of Seattle, Wash., seeded No. 1 among the boys, did not play singles today, but teamed with Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Cal., to take a doubles match from Tom Barber and Peter Schuttler, both of Glencoe, Ill., 6-2, 6-0.

Chicagoans Win in Doubles.

Jerry Evert of Chicago and Carl Meyer of St. Joseph won their first round doubles match over Edwin Davis of Baton Rouge, La., and James Harrison of Ruxton, Md., 7-5, 7-5. William Bauman of Oak Park and Robert Smidl of River Forest won from Lawrence Flora and Robert Myers of Elkhart, Ind., 6-0, 6-1. Frank Lazarus and Benny Migdow of Chicago lost to Tom Brown of San Francisco and Jack Kerr of Hollywood, 6-1, 6-4. Summaries:

PACKERS WILL BE READY THIS TIME—LAMBEAU

They Learned All About All-Stars in 1937.

BY EARL (CURLEY) LAMBEAU.

Green Bay, Wis. Aug. 6.—An ordinary football team never will win the Chicago All-Star game. In 1937 we learned that even a good team may be leading with its chin when it tackles the collegians. We were ordinary in Soldiers' field that night and lost, 6 to 0. That six could not possibly have looked any bigger if it had been written by a skywriter.

Our most profitable experience while absorbing that licking was the realization that the pros' assignment in the All-Star game is not against college football, but against the toughest type of opposition provided by an inspired squad. How willing do you think Minnesota, Notre Dame, Purdue, or any other college football leader would be to send its 1940 squad against the All-Stars on Aug. 29?

They Know Better Now.

We didn't realize just what we were getting into as we got ready for the 1937 game and consequently we entered the contest psychologically unprepared. Our squad was indifferent, not overconfident. Our players figured they were big shots because they had qualified to play in Chicago. This will not happen again—I hope. But one never can be sure, for the reactions of a veteran squad are unpredictable as the weather, due in a measure, I presume, to the fact that so many football players can read.

Packer records for 1937 contain numerous memoranda filed for specific use in case we again qualified for the All-Star game. And before we take the field in Chicago on Aug. 29 one of the items in that folio will be brought to the attention of the college coaches and Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. We intend to insist that some concession be made the pros in the rules on forward passes.

The Pass Rules Conflict.

Because the college rule, calling for the passer to remain five yards behind the line of scrimmage, conflicts with the professional rule, which permits forward passing from any point behind the line, a compromise was effected when the All-Star series was originated in 1934. This "compromise" was adoption of the college rule.

Obviously, a college passer, accustomed to having to watch where he stands, will not be handicapped by a rule which eliminates the need for such caution. And equally as obvious is the fact that the pro, accustomed to passing any where behind the line of scrimmage, is handicapped as soon as you force him into civil engineering every time he wants to throw a football.

If the college coaches will not agree to a permanent ruling that strikes a fairer balance, perhaps they will agree to a test and play the first half of the game Aug. 29 under the college code and the second half under the pro rule. There hardly could be any legitimate objection to such a proposal.

They're All Human.

All teams make mistakes in early games. We learned in 1937, tho, that you cannot make mistakes in the All-Star game, especially on the 2 yard line. That was where we blew the touchdown that would have tied the score. It was an excusable, altho costly error. Our quarter back mistook a suggestion by an assistant coach for a command. The playing coach, a Packer veteran who had not been with us the year before, did not know we had abandoned the play he proposed.

One mistake the Packers made, as it turned out, was entering the game with only 29 men. This was the smallest squad that ever represented the National Football league. We kicked off with only one full back and one right tackle and lost our two passers, Bobby Monnett and Arnie Herber, thru injuries in the first half. Had we a passer in the second half, I am confident we could have salvaged victory in our last two thrusts into All-Star territory.

OAK BROOK WINS OVER CYCLONES IN POLO, 12-10

Led by Steve Hammond, who scored eight goals, the Oak Brook polo team won the Oak Brook cups tournament on its field yesterday by defeating the Cyclones, 12 to 10.

Two goals by Hammond and one by Claude Mackey in the third period, during which the Cyclones went scoreless, proved valuable to Oak Brook, since the Cyclones rallied in the final chukker. Lineups:

| OAK BROOK. | | CYCLONES. |
|---|---|---|
| McAllister | No. 1 | Townsend |
| Hammond | No. 2 | Capt. Mura |
| Mackey | No. 3 | Gloor |
| Keehn | Back | Capt. Everett |

Score by chukkers:

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Oak Brook | 2 | 2 | 3 | 1 | 3 | 1—12 |
| Cyclones | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 3—10 |

Goals—Hammond [8], Mackey [1], Keehn [3], to Oak Brook by penalty, [1], Mura [6], Gloor [1], Everett [3].

Ol' Diz's Arm Is Good for 11 Innings; Tulsa Wins, 6-2

Shreveport, La., Aug. 6 (AP).—Dizzy Dean went the route in an 11 inning game tonight, hurling the Tulsa Oilers of the Texas league to a 6 to 2 victory over the Shreveport Sports before approximately 6,000 fans. The Saints scored both their runs in the first two innings, but after that Dean stopped them.

Ellamae Cards 74 in Derby to Tie Miss Hicks

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Ellamae Williams, the slim Medinah golfer who has proved within the last few weeks that she is the town's leading feminine player in match play, yesterday demonstrated that she also is right sharp in stroke competition by shooting a 74, two under par, in the second round of the Women's Western Golf association's 12th annual derby at the Westmoreland Country club.

Ellamae's pert pair of 37s not only established a new competitive course record for women at Westmoreland, but also projected her into a tie for the 36 hole lead with the defending champion and first round leader, Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal. The latter duplicated her opening round of Monday with a 38—40—78 for a half way aggregate of 156. Miss Williams had trailed the Californian by four shots as a result of a first round 82.

Lead Field 8 Strokes.

The Williams-Hicks twosome went into this morning's third 18 with an eight stroke advantage over the field, their nearest pursuer being Virginia Ingram of Sunset Ridge, who once won the C. W. D. G. A. title on this same Westmoreland course, and who yesterday added a 41—40—81 to her 83 of Monday.

Deadlocked at 165 were Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., second place scorer in the first round, with 80—85—165, and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex., with 82—83—165. Next, at 167, were Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis with 84—83 and 15 year old Phyllis Otto of Omaha with 84—83 in yesterday's round, including an out nine of 39. Eleanor Dudley of Ridge followed with 84—84—168.

Play to End Tomorrow.

The tournament, longest medal play battle in women's golf, will be concluded with tomorrow's final 18 holes. The second round cards for the Misses Williams and Hicks:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Par—Out | 445 | 434 | 455—38 |
| Par—In | 454 | 345 | 535—38—76 |
| Miss Williams—Out | 445 | 436 | 434—37 |
| Miss Williams—In | 455 | 245 | 435—37—74—156 |
| Miss Hicks—Out | 354 | 545 | 444—38 |

Third Round Pairings.

9:00—Mary Wilder, Skokie, and Helen Peterson, Exmoor.

THOMPSON SEEKS THIRD VICTORY IN HUMBOLDT BOWL

Marvin Thompson, one of the youngest competitors for a place on the United States Olympic cycling team, will seek his third victory tonight in the one mile trials in the Humboldt park racing bowl. Thompson won the quarter and half mile events to almost cinch a place on the middle west's two man team which meets riders from the east and west Aug. 29 and 30 in Humboldt park.

Evans Wins in City Amateur on 19th Hole

Charles [Chick] Evans of Edgewater advanced to the second round of the 36th annual Chicago amateur golf tournament yesterday in Jackson park in the company of the defending champion and two former titleholders. Evans, three times winner of this tournament, employed all his skill to eliminate Paul Krivanec of Navajo Fields at the 19th hole, 1 up.

Gene Budd of Lake Hills, last year's champion, and R. S. Scott of Jackson park, and Harold Mathisen of Wood Ridge, former winners, survived yesterday's round. Budd eliminated John Phillips of Wicker Park, 4 and 3, after being three down at the sixth. He recovered brilliantly to end the match on the 15th. Mathisen found a stubborn foe in Chris Miller of Jackson park for the first nine holes, but sauntered on to a 4 and 3 victory on the final nine on which his opponent had several three-putt greens. Scott defeated Bill Spaulding of Old Elm, 1 up, in 20 holes.

Culp Eliminates Springer.

Young Jack Culp of Ridge scored the first major upset of the tournament by putting out the veteran Marshall [Moe] Springer of Evergreen, 1939-1940 member of the Chicago Public links team, 1 up at 21 holes.

Earl Gocke of Jackson park was the only medalist to survive the first round. Gocke eliminated Joe Glob of Pipe o' Peace, 1 up, while Keith Morrison of Lincolnshire and Jack Kamsler of Ravisloe, who both shared medal honors with Gocke with subpar 69s, were defeated in their matches. H. M. Schaack of Jackson park scored a 1 up victory at 19 holes over Kamsler, while R. F. Dougherty, also of the home club, administered a 1 up beating to Morrison.

Lee Pitches 2 Hitter; Sox, Indians Split

Rosenthal fanned and Kennedy popped out before the second inning began to develop into a rally. Lee singled to right and Webb singled to center. A single shot into center off Kreevich's bat. Weatherly's return throw was intercepted by Milnar, and Hemsley, thinking there still remained a chance to keep Lee from scoring, yelled for the ball. Milnar obeyed the call, but his aim was so bad Webb followed Lee across the plate while Hemsley was pursuing the loose ball. Kuhel fanned for the third out.

Boudreau Drives in Run.

After nine Indians had been chopped down in succession, Chapman coaxed a pass from Lee in the fourth and skipped down to second when Webb, after starting to cover second, turned to make a neat capture on which he threw out Weatherly. Boudreau singled for Cleveland's first hit and Chapman hiked home, after which Trosky lined to Kreevich and Bell flied to Rosenthal.

Lee attended to the recovery of his two run lead in the sixth. Tresh survived on a fumble by Peters, Rosenthal sacrificed and Kennedy was thrown out by Keltner. Lee stepped in with a single on which Tresh scored. With one out in the seventh, Appling cracked a three base drive down the left field line, scoring an instant later on Wright's triple against the right field wall. Tresh's fly to Bell gave Wright time to score.

The Indians' second and last hit was a dinky bounder by Weatherly with two out in the sixth. Lee reached for it but it slipped off his glove tip. There wasn't another Indian on base until the ninth, when after two were gone, Boudreau walked, whereupon Lee finished his job by fanning Trosky.

SECOND GAME

Distress came to Dietrich quickly in the second game. He got the first man in the opening inning, but the next, Weatherly, doubled to right and scored on a single by Boudreau, who went to second when Turner fumbled the throw to the plate. The error, however, caused no complications.

The third inning, which caused Dietrich as well as his associates more pain, began with Allen's double to right center. Chapman sent a pop foul to Kuhel, but luck rode with Weatherly, who beat out a slow bounder to Appling. Boudreau lifted a low fly over short right center and it dropped out of Webb's glove for a single, Allen scoring and Weatherly taking third whence he counted on a legitimate line single to center by Trosky. Dietrich then fanned Heath and Keltner grounded to Webb.

Sox Miss Chance in Fifth.

The Sox's first good chance to place an assessment against Allen appeared in the fifth when he walked Turner and Dietrich with one out. Webb forced Dietrich and Kreevich struck out. The sixth also aroused a flicker of hope. Kuhel led off with a single, but the next three dropped in succession.

The ninth, in which the Sox stirred up enough excitement to make Oscar Vitt, the Indian boss, rush out of the dugout and run around the infield like a scared rabbit, opened with a single by Wright. Rosenthal fanned, but Turner singled. After Kennedy had been thrown out, Solters was sent up to bat for Brown, a change that induced the seemingly frantic Vitt to oust Allen in favor of Feller. Solters flied to left, but Heath dropped the ball, Wright and Turner scoring. Rigney ran for Solters, but Webb popped to Peters.

The pitching program for the final of the White Sox-Indians series today will be Johnny Rigney against Southpaw Al Smith. Rigney's start will be his second in four days.

Manager Jimmy Dykes isn't at all superstitious, but he has abandoned his favorite perch. His habit is to squat on the wall at the far end of the dugout during a game. Now he's sitting on the bench like an ordinary citizen. The losing streak made him move.

Coach and Mrs. Stagg Leave Today for West

A. A. Stagg, football coach at the College of the Pacific, and Mrs. Stagg will leave Chicago today for the west after visiting Mrs. Stagg's sister, Miss Josephine Robertson, a librarian at the University of Chicago since 1892. Coach Stagg is returning to start preparations for the start of the practice season. His team opens its season at Notre Dame on Oct. 5.

Bees Beat Phils, 3-0 and 12-2 on Tight Pitching

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 6 (AP).—The Phillies tried a good luck charm today in an effort to end their six game losing streak but it failed and the Boston Bees won a double header, 3 to 0 and 12 to 2.

After Manuel Salvo, aided by Eddie Miller's two run homer blanked the Phils with four hits in the opener, and 8 year old Negro boy, Dayton Smith, was brought into the Phillies clubhouse. All hands, from Manager Doc Prothro Down, rubbed his head for luck. The charm worked for five innings, then Chet Ross' single off Kirby Higbe drove in two runs to break a 1 to 1 tie. In the seventh, Higbe blew up and the Bees scored five runs. Miller hit his second homer of the day off Syl Johnson in the ninth. Scores:

PIRATES WHIP CARDINALS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 6 (AP).—The upsurging Pittsburgh Pirates climbed into a tie for fifth place with St. Louis in the National league pennant race today by trimming the Cardinals, 3 to 1, behind the pitching of Ken Heintzelman, rookie southpaw. Rain twice interrupted the game and so delayed it the second part of a double header was called after three scoreless innings because of darkness. Score:

Zale to Open Drills Today at Trafton's

Champion Tony Zale will open boxing workouts in Trafton's gymnasium today for a 10 round nontitle bout with Billy Soose, Scranton, Pa., middleweight, in Mills stadium Aug. 21. It will be the first time Zale has boxed since dethroning Al Hostak in Seattle last July 19. . . . Promoter Irving Schoenwald is negotiating for a 10 round match between Milt Aron and Cal Cagni, Crosskill, N. Y., 155 pounder, in Marigold outdoor arena Aug. 26. Aron, who has not given up hope of eventually forcing Henry Armstrong to risk his welterweight championship against him, will leave today for Philadelphia, where he meets Mike Kaplan of Boston in 10 rounds Monday.

Chief Sanooke will face Juan Humberto in the windup bout of a wrestling show tonight in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Other matches include those between Bert Rubi and Fred Grubmier, Jack [Bad Boy] Brown and Cecil McGill.

Palmer House Defeats Mills, 4-2; Keeps Title

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 6 (AP).—The Palmer House All-Stars of Chicago captured their second straight state semipro baseball championship tonight with a 4 to 2 victory over Mills, their home town rival, in the final game of a three game series. Mel Marcum held Mills to four hits and one earned run, driven in by Catcher Clare Finucane, who collected three of the four hits.

SENATORS CRUSH A'S, 11-0; HUDSON YIELDS ONE HIT

Chapman's Single in 7th Mars Rookie's Feat.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—Rookie Sidney Hudson from the Florida State league barely missed a no-hit game today as he shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 11 to 0, for the Washington Senators. He yielded a single safety to Sam Chapman in the seventh inning. Earlier this season Hudson missed no-hit fame by the same margin as he beat the St. Louis Browns, 1 to 0. In that game Rip Radcliff doubled in the ninth. By beating Philadelphia, Hudson won his 10th victory of the season. Score:

DEBT BURDENED FARMERS TO GET LOANS DEFERRED

FCA Policy Is to Apply in Meritorious Cases.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—Decision of the Farm Credit administration to defer principal payments on federal land bank loans in meritorious distress cases was reported today by Representative Karl Stefan [R., Neb.].

Rep. Karl Stefan.

He said he was informed the FCA had sent the necessary advices to individual federal land banks and that the new policy would take effect as soon as the banks had formulated procedure for its application.

Stefan termed the action "a life-saver" to thousands of farmers who, because recurrent drouths had blasted their crops, were unable to meet their obligations. Its adoption represented a victory, he said, for those who had been seeking such a policy ever since the expiration on July 10, 1938, of mandatory principal deferment legislation.

Short Extensions Unsatisfactory.

Since then, Stefan said, FCA officials had held the land banks lacked authority to enter into deferment agreements. They had sought to meet the situation, he said, by granting short term extensions.

"Our experience with this procedure, however," Stefan quoted a high FCA official as saying, "has not been altogether satisfactory, and upon further consideration of the question, we have concluded that the banks have power to enter into agreements of this kind."

Statutes Limit Policy.

Stefan asserted the deferment policy would be limited in some instances by state statutes. He emphasized that deferments would be available only to borrowers who in good faith had made every possible effort to meet their payments.

This method of relief, Stefan said, would be in addition to those already in effect, including simple forebearance, formal extensions, reamortizations, and special arrangements for adjusting payments to conform to variations in income and to the temporary inability of the borrower to meet his instalments.

COTTON

Rumors that the department of agriculture loan on the 1940 cotton crop would be announced before the end of the current week, with the price about 9 cents a pound, or the same as last season, led to southern selling of futures yesterday. Trading, however, was slow, and it was not until noon that the markets showed any semblance of activity. Closing trades were .01 to .06 cent a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .10 cent lower with New Orleans, 10.25 cents; New York, 10.06 cents; Galveston, 9.39 cents and Houston at 9.35 cents a pound. prices follow:

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By HOMER CHEISZ

Crab Grass Curbed.

Aug. 6, 1940.

THE drouth has about dried up the lawns at the Du Page county farm, but it also helped to curb the growth of crab grass, one of the worst pests of bluegrass lawns. This is the time of year when bluegrass normally is dormant unless it is kept watered heavily. The lawns have been sprinkled occasionally to keep them from drying up completely.

Bluegrass lawns can be kept green all summer if given enough water, but the gardeners say too much sprinkling usually stimulates crab grass too much, causing it to crowd out and kill the bluegrass. Then when the crab grass dies late in the summer there is nothing left and the lawn is bare during the fall. Unless bluegrass is killed it gets green again when fall rains start and makes a beautiful lawn until cold weather comes.

Lawns to Be Seeded.

Some new lawns are to be seeded late this month or early in September. The soil was prepared several weeks ago and has been cultivated at intervals ever since to keep down weeds. The surface soil was stirred to a depth of six inches in preparing the seed beds.

A complete commercial fertilizer will be put on about a week before seeding. A seed mixture of 80 per cent Kentucky bluegrass and 20 per cent domestic rye grass will be used.

The gardeners regard late August and early September as the best times to seed new lawns. They say there is less trouble from weeds than where lawns are made in spring, giving a better chance for a clean stand of grass right from the start. Spring seedings usually need sprinkling thru the first summer, and that encourages growth of crab grass. Fall seeded lawns seldom need sprinkling, and, even if they do, crab grass does not bother because it flourishes only in hot weather.

Gladiolus Plants Sprayed.

The gladiolus plants were sprayed last week with tartar emetic to control thrips, tiny insects that attack the plants and ruin the blooms. They had given no trouble all season until last week. The plants likely will be sprayed every two weeks during the rest of the summer to keep the thrips under control.

The spray mixture is two level tablespoonfuls of tartar emetic, one-half pound of brown sugar, and four gallons of water. This is the best spray that ever has been used at the farm for controling gladiolus thrips.

Vegetable gardens that were not watered during July are almost burned up. Those that were watered regularly are producing well. The first tomatoes, sweet corn, and lima beans were picked last week.

EXPORTS IN JUNE TOP YEAR AGO IN SPITE OF WAR

Great Britain Makes Up for Losses Elsewhere.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—The department of commerce reported today that United States merchandise sales were higher in June to nearly every part of the world than in the same month last year, despite war restrictions.

Altho the war has cut off United States trade with most of continental Europe, exports to Great Britain more than made up for these losses in June. Officials said, however, that since the surrender of France, which was still a customer during part of June, these trends might change.

Please send me some details on the Aro Equipment corporation. Where is its stock listed?—D. K.

Answer: Aro Equipment corporation manufacturers automotive, aircraft, and industrial lubricating equipment. It has outstanding 156,918 shares of $1 par common stock listed on the Chicago Stock and the New York Curb exchanges.

| | Net income | Earned per share | Dividends per share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1937 | $261,799 | $1.67 | $1.00 |
| 1938 | 164,052 | 1.06 | 1.00 |
| 1939 | 166,671 | 1.06 | 1.00 |

In filing its listing application with the New York Curb recently, the company reported net sales of $305,394 and net income of $40,601, equal to 26 cents a share, in the first four months of 1940. A dividend of 15 cents a share was paid April 15 this year.

NEWSPRINT.

How much newsprint was produced in this country and how much was imported in the last five years? Have such statistics any significance in studying business conditions?—R. P.

Answer: Newsprint production and imports into the United States were as follows in the last five years:

[In tons]

| | Imports | Output |
|---|---|---|
| 1935 | 2,383,000 | 948,000 |
| 1936 | 2,752,000 | 938,000 |
| 1937 | 3,317,000 | 976,000 |
| 1938 | 2,275,000 | 832,000 |
| 1939 | 2,615,000 | 940,000 |

Newsprint production and imports are regarded by some business analysts as a rough index of the trend of newspaper advertising volume, and, thereby, of activity of retail trade and the consumers goods industry.

WARNER & SWASEY.

Do you have a report on the earnings of Warner & Swasey company of Cleveland?—F. R.

Answer: Earnings and dividends of Warner & Swasey company have not been made public. Its stock is held by a small group. The company is a leading manufacturer of precision machine tools, especially of turret lathes.

If Warner & Swasey consummates current negotiations with Smith, Barney & Company, underwriters, to offer a portion of its capital stock to the public, its earnings and financial condition will be disclosed in the registration statement to the Securities and Exchange commission covering the offering.

A meeting of stockholders has been called for Aug. 20 to approve a 3 for 1 splitup of the present 248,245 shares of $5 par common stock preliminary to a public offering of the proposed new no par stock. The company plans to retire 13,502 shares of 6 per cent preferred stock of $100 par value.

SHAVE HONGKONG DOLLAR'S VALUE THRU CONVERSION

Traders Switch Currency Into U. S. Funds.

Foreign exchange trading in New York yesterday centered on the Hongkong dollar which dropped nearly ½ cent as residents and traders in the British crown colony converted their holdings into United States dollars and the pound sterling. The Hongkong currency closed at 22.72 cents.

Recent Hongkong dispatches have indicated that trade has been seriously affected as a result of strained British-Japanese relations. Many residents are reported to have fled the city and have bought what they considered safer money.

One of "Free" Currencies.

Altho England controls the area in which Hongkong lies, the Hongkong dollar is only indirectly linked to the British pound and is regarded one of the two "free" currencies in the far east, the Shanghai dollar being the other.

The "free" British pound rose 4½ cents to $3.94½, within ten cents of the official buying and selling rate. The Canadian dollar dipped ⅛ cent to 87 United States cents.

Meanwhile gold imports into the United States had slumped to $78,684,221 in the week ended July 31, the department of commerce reported, the lowest since May. In the preceding week shipments to this country totaled $105,308,975.

British Shipments Cut.

Smaller than usual shipments from the British empire were the primary cause of the drop, it was reported. Such shipments included $41,535,676 from the United Kingdom and $28,983,526 from Canada. Other large shipments were $3,737,131 from Colombia and $1,882,646 from Brazil.

Gold deposited under earmark by foreign governments and central banks in the federal reserve system declined $17,852,156 during the week to $1,761,251,482. Silver imports also were somewhat under usual figures, totaling $990,437, including $249,422 from Canada, and $491,422 from Mexico. Gold exports amounted to only $500 and silver exports were $3,726.

NET OF EASTERN AIR AND SOCONY FAR ABOVE 1939

Line's Revenue from All Sources Up.

Sharp increases in earnings were reported yesterday by Eastern Air Lines, Socony-Vacuum Oil company, and several other large companies.

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker.

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines, announced net profit for the six months ended with June was $733,926, equal to $1.32 a share, after provision of $431,303 for depreciation and $279,000 for federal income taxes. In the first six months of 1939, the airline earned $363,416, or 87 cents a share, after providing $368,898 for depreciation and $123,000 for income taxes.

Increased revenue was realized from all sources of income, Rickenbacker stated. Gains included 57 per cent in passenger revenue, 11 per cent in air mail revenue, and 33 per cent in other income. Earnings for the second quarter of 1940 were $222,346, compared with $130,291 in the quarter last year.

Socony-Vacuum Net Gains.

Socony-Vacuum estimated its consolidated earnings for the first six months at $25,000,000, compared with $17,000,000 a year ago. However, the company said, oil industry price levels have declined since the first of the year and profits may be lower during the second half.

Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation reported consolidated net operating profit of $117,213 for the 26 weeks ended June 29, compared with profit of $2,325,525 for the first half of 1939. For the quarter ended June 29, there was a consolidated net operating loss of $236,163, including a $700,000 reserve against foreign assets, compared with profit of $1,101,275 for the second quarter of 1939.

Sales and profits of Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., South Bend, Ind., manufacturer of electrical laundry units, in the first six months were among the largest for the period since establishment of the company, D. O. Scott, president, reported. Yesterday was the fourth anniversary of the company's incorporation.

93 Cents on Class A Stock.

Net profit for the half year was $312,758, equal to 93 cents a share on class A stock and to 26 cents on the common, in contrast to an estimated net loss of $345,846 in the first half of 1939.

Sales in the six months totaled 38,594 units and amounted to $2,540,435, slightly more than the total for all of 1939, Scott said. He added that new products will be introduced in the near future.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., announced net income for the nine months ended June 30 was $771,258, compared with $625,818 in the 1939 period. Income for the June quarter was $343,560, against $360,144 a year ago.

In the first half of 1940, American Locomotive company and subsidiaries earned $1,178,470, equal to $3.35 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock, against a net loss of $931,710 in the first half of 1939.

Mack Trucks' Total Up.

Mack Trucks, Inc., reported net profits for the June quarter of $702,847 or $1.17 a common share, compared with $257,628, or 43 cents a share, in the 1939 quarter. For the six months, net income was $814,296, or $1.36 a share, against $162,756, or 27 cents a share, in 1939 half year.

The Borden company and subsidiaries reported net income for the first six months of $3,302,322, or 75 cents a share, against $3,475,210, or 79 cents a share, in the 1939 period.

Cities Service company reported consolidated net income of $8,821,642, or $1.72 a common share, in the first six months, compared with $3,176,742 and 35 cents a share in the parallel period of 1939. The company controls many oil and gas producing firms.

Purity Bakeries corporation, large chain organization with headquarters in Chicago, reported consolidated net income of $280,512, or 37 cents a share, for the 12 weeks ended July 13, compared with $484,661 or 62 cents a share, in the corresponding period of 1939.

Extra Dividend Actions Taken by More Firms

Extra dividends were declared yesterday by several companies, while another deferred the usual dividend action because of uncertainty about the proposed federal excess profits tax.

Vick Chemical company authorized an extra payment of 10 cents in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the common stock. Both are scheduled for payment Sept. 3 to holders of record Aug. 16.

Lane-Wells Votes Extra.

An extra of 10 cents was also announced by Lane-Wells company, together with the usual quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the common. The company, which furnishes specialized services in the drilling and maintenance of oil wells, will pay both dividends Sept. 15 to stock of record Aug. 30.

An extra dividend of 12½ cents a share was declared by Storkline Furniture corporation, manufacturer of children's furniture. It will be paid, together with the regular quarterly dividend of 12½ cents, Aug. 30 to holders of record Aug. 17.

Electrolux Defers Action.

The directors of Electrolux corporation, maker of vacuum cleaners, deferred the dividend action customarily taken at this time because of uncertainty as to the form which the proposed federal excess profits tax legislation will take, Charles G. Groff, chairman, said. The company paid 30 cents a share March 15 and June 15, 1940, and 30 cents, Sept. 15, 1939. Earnings are ahead of last year, Groff added.

Simonds Saw and Steel company authorized an increased dividend of 60 cents a share, payable Sept. 14 to stockholders of record Aug. 24. Payments of 40 cents were made in previous quarters this year and in the same quarter a year ago.

MINORITY GROUPS OBJECT TO ERIE ROAD'S REVISION

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6 (AP).—Minor groups registered objections to the Erie railroad reorganization plan as today's deadline for such action passed. A special master will hear the objectors on Aug. 12, after which Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin will decide on the plan.

The Interstate Commerce commission proposed the plan, which would reduce the Erie's capitalization from $490,000,000 to $332,000,000. Stockholders would receive one new common share for each five old shares and would be entitled to purchase 1¼ new shares for each old share at $37.17 each.

The plan permits the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad to maintain its control of the Erie by putting in $40,000,000 to $45,000,000 of new funds thru purchase of stock.

FEDERAL GROUPS SEEK POSSIBLE RUBBER LANDS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—Secretary Wallace disclosed today that two department of agriculture exploration parties are now in Latin America conducting surveys to determine the most promising areas for production of rubber.

A third party, he said, is on its way to survey the headwaters of the Amazon river tributaries. The two already at work are covering northwestern Central America and southeastern Central America and parts of Colombia.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX MAY BE AS HIGH AS 40 PCT.

Ask Speedy Defense Plant Expansion.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—A subcommittee of the house ways and means committee approved unanimously late today a tax of 25 to 40 per cent on excess profits of corporations. It is estimated that the new tax, requested by President Roosevelt on July 1, will apply to 70,000 corporations and raise 300 million dollars on 1940 income and 500 millions annually on later income.

Public hearings on the revenue measure will begin on Friday, with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. as the first witness. The subcommittee's report will be the basis of the hearings, to be held jointly by the ways and means committee and the senate finance committee as a step to hasten enactment of new tax legislation.

It was agreed that the new tax bill will also provide for complete amortization of the costs of expanding plants and equipment for national defense purposes over a period of 5 years or less.

Suspend Profit Limitations.

It will suspend the profit limitations now imposed by the Vinson-Trammell act on contracts for warplanes and warships.

The tax plan as announced by Representative Jere Cooper [D., Tenn.], chairman of the subcommittee on taxation, allows alternative methods by which corporations may compute the excess profits tax, but both allow a flat exemption of $5,000. The alternative plan resulted from a controversy between the treasury and the congressional joint committee on internal revenue over the taxing basis. These alternatives are:

1. The corporation determines its average net income for the taxable years 1936 to 1939, inclusive. It takes an average for those years and compares it with taxable income for 1940 and subsequent years. If the taxable income exceeds the average for the base period plus a flat exemption of $5,000 the corporation is required to pay an excess profits tax on the balance. If the corporation acquires new capital in a taxable year it gets an added credit of 8 per cent of the new capital. If it reduces its capital it is required to cut its credit by 6 per cent of the capital reduction.

Return on Invested Capital.

2. This plan, advanced by the treasury, relates average earnings to a return on invested capital. The tax would be applied to profits in excess of the flat $5,000 exemption and an excess profit credit. In no event would the credit amount to more than 10 per cent of invested capital over the base period. This rule would allow an exemption of 6 per cent on the first $500,000 of invested capital and 4 per cent on invested capital beyond that amount. New capital or new companies would be allowed a return of 10 per cent on the first $500,000 of invested capital and 8 per cent on invested capital above that amount.

The subcommittee said that a rough definition of invested capital would be the amount paid in for stock plus accumulations in the form of surplus and undivided profits, and also all or part of borrowed capital.

The amount of borrowed capital that could be included in "invested capital" would amount to 100 per cent up to $100,000; two-thirds of any amount between $100,000 and $1,000,000, and only one-third if above $1,000,000.

Sliding Scale Provided.

On earnings in excess of 10 per cent of the excess profits credit, 25 per cent.

On earnings in excess of 10 per cent but not more than 20 per cent the tax would be 30 per cent.

On earnings above 20 per cent of the credit the rate would be 40 per cent.

The excess profits tax is in addition to normal corporation income taxes and is applied after determination of normal taxes. Committee attachés said that the average rate of excess profits tax will be 35 to 36 per cent, which will be in addition to the present average corporate rate of 20.9 per cent of net income.

Tax Example Given.

As an example of the tax based upon the first alternative, the subcommittee said that if a corporation earned an average of $50,000 during the base period and in 1940 had a net

Russian Trade Pact Extended Another Year

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—The United States and soviet Russia today extended their trade agreement another year, with the Moscow government reserving the right to suspend purchases at any time if American defense restrictions make exporting too difficult.

Russia already has raised objections to the restrictions imposed on the export of machine tools and other equipment declared to be needed in America's defense program.

The text of the agreement, made public by the state department, showed that Russia agreed to purchase at least $40,000,000 worth of goods in this country during the next year—the same amount as in the treaty which expired today.

Letter Outlines Reservation.

In an accompanying letter which became a part of the agreement, A. Mikojan, the soviet foreign trade commissar, made this reservation:

"If restrictions imposed on exports by the government of the United States should render it difficult for soviet economic organizations to satisfy their needs in the United States, it may be impossible for these organizations to carry out their intentions. The government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is therefore not in a position at the present time to guarantee the abovementioned value to its purchases in the United States."

A. Mikojan (left), soviet commissar, and Walter C. Thurston, American chargé d'affaires, who negotiated trade pact.

State department officials said the agreement and the reservation spoke for themselves. It was considered likely in other informed quarters, however, that the United States gave some oral assurances to the soviet government regarding the export restrictions, possibly that there would be no discrimination for political reasons in licensing exports to Russia.

Other Terms Unchanged.

Apart from the soviet reservation, the new agreement was identical with the previous ones which began in 1937.

During these years, soviet purchases have greatly exceeded the guarantee figure. During the first 11 months of the last trade agreement year, they mounted to approximately $67,000,000. United States purchases from Russia during the same period were about $23,000,000.

In return for the soviet agreement to purchase at least $40,000,000 worth of goods here, the United States grants Russia unconditional most-favored-nation treatment.

Difficulties between the two governments over the export restrictions had raised doubts whether any form of commercial agreement would be concluded for another year.

The negotiations were carried on in Moscow by Mikojan and Walter C. Thurston, American chargé d'affaires.

$5,000 BUYS PRIVATE RAIL CAR ONCE USED BY CHARLES SCHWAB

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 6 (AP).—The late Charles M. Schwab's palatial private railroad car, which cost $70,000 15 years ago, has been sold to a Pottsville lawyer for $5,000. The attorney, Abe Cramer, said today he acted "for a client" whom he refused to identify.

The rolling home of the former chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel company has a large lounge room, two private bedrooms, berths for eight, a dining room, kitchen, pantry and its own refrigeration plant. It is in the yards of the Bethlehem plant at Wilmington, Del.

CITY SEEKS PLAN TO GET SUBWAY RUNNING IN 1941

Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, said yesterday that the city is trying to work out a plan whereby the State street subway can be placed in operation sometime in 1941. Harrington's statement followed disclosure on Monday that the promised federal loan of 53 millions, part of which would be used for subway cars and subway track, will not be available until 1942 at the earliest.

Harrington said no specific plan for getting funds elsewhere had yet been worked out, but said the State street tunnel could be placed in operating condition at a cost of about $3,000,000 and that 450 of the present allsteel "L" cars could be used in it. Presumably the operation of the Dearborn street subway would be delayed until RFC funds were obtained.

The elevated lines, which would operate the subway until the RFC loan was made to a unified company, have no cash available, city officials conceded. One possibility suggested for raising money was that the city lend the "L" money from its traction fund on a promise to repay when the RFC loan is made.

BACKING SOUGHT FOR NEW STEEL PLANT IN BRAZIL

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—As an initial step in the establishment of heavy industries in Brazil, a commission has reached New York and will go to Washington tomorrow to seek United States government aid in establishing a steel plant in the Latin country.

The president of the commission is Dr. Guilherne Guinle, vice president of the financial and economic council, one of the large economic organizations that has replaced parliament in Brazil.

Plans for establishing a steel plant in Brazil with the financial assistance of the United States Steel corporation were rejected by directors of the corporation several months ago. The Brazilian government now plans to negotiate for the help of the export-Import bank in purchasing about $20,000,000 of machinery and equipment in the United States to launch the enterprise.

OIL MONEY TO AID 'MIKE AND IKE' IN RETIRING BONDS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6 (AP).—Profiting from the Illinois oil boom, the Missouri-Illinois railroad, familiarly known as the "Mike and Ike," has been granted permission in federal court to establish a fund to retire $2,727,500 in outstanding bonds.

The petition by the trustee for the Missouri Pacific, the parent road, stated the Mike and Ike has had $400,000 for retirement purposes, including $280,000 income from its property in the Illinois oil field.

RAILROADS BUY 2 STREAMLINERS FOR $4,000,000

Expand Chicago to West Coast Service.

Two new streamlined trains costing a total of $4,000,000 are being purchased at once for service between Chicago and the Pacific coast, officials of the North Western, the Southern Pacific, and the Union Pacific railroads announced yesterday. The purchase, it was said, is the result of highly successful records made by streamlined trains now in operation.

The new trains will consist of 17 cars each and will be pulled by Diesel electric locomotives. They will expand existing 39 hour 45 minute service between Chicago and Los Angeles and between Chicago and San Francisco.

One to Be Owned by Three Roads.

One of the trains, the City of San Francisco, will be owned and operated jointly by the three roads named, which now have one train of the same name in service. It will make possible streamlined train departure every three days from Chicago and San Francisco.

The other train, the City of Los Angeles, will be owned and operated by the North Western and Union Pacific railroads. It will replace a nine car train in service between Chicago and Los Angeles. The two roads have had two trains in operation between Chicago and Los Angeles for some time, with departures every three days.

Both new trains will be Chicago built. The cars will be made by Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company and the locomotives by Electro-Motive corporation.

Capacity 230 Passengers.

Each train will have a capacity of about 230 revenue passengers. Observation car, lounges, and diners will increase considerably the carrying capacity of the trains.

All cars in the new trains will be constructed of aluminum alloy and will be of the same general contour as the streamlined trains now being operated by the three roads in their transcontinental service. However, it was stated that there will be certain modifications "to make for more effective streamlining." The color of the trains is described as "harbor mist gray roof, with the sides in armour yellow, trimmed with scarlet-red striping and lettering."

All developments of interior facilities that have been made since preceding streamlined trains were built are to be incorporated in the new trains. Fluorescent lighting will be used in the club and lounge cars, diners and chair cars. Each car is to have a self-contained air conditioning and lighting system.

Will Have Electric Heat.

The cars will have intercommunicating telephone systems. Each train is to have electric heat as well as steam heat.

The locomotives will be Diesel electric of 6,000 horse power. Each locomotive will consist of three power units of 2,000 horse power each.

R. L. Williams, chief executive officer of the North Western, said that the present streamlined trains running between Chicago and two Pacific coast cities have been making a notable record, frequently leaving their starting points with all available space filled. The first streamlined City of Los Angeles went into service May 15, 1936, and the first City of San Francisco made the first run on June 14, 1936.

NEW YORK CITY'S 30 MILLION BOND ISSUE ON MARKET

New York, Aug. 6 [Special]. — A banking syndicate headed by Chase National bank today reoffered $30,000,000 New York City serial 2¾ per cent bonds at prices to yield from 0.30 per cent for the 1941 maturity to 2.95 per cent for the 1970 maturity.

The banking group won the issue by a bid of 100.917 for the 2¾s, and the award by City Controler Joseph D. McGoldrick gave the city an interest cost basis of 2.6694 per cent.

The Chase winning bid was on an all-or-none basis, and the group announced that shortly after the reoffering was announced, the first 10 maturities, totaling $15,700,000, had been sold.

Ward, Sears Sales in July Set Records

Montgomery Ward & Co. and Sears, Roebuck & Co., the two largest mail order and chain store enterprises in the country, established new sales records for July and the six months ended with July, the companies announced yesterday. Other retail systems, including F. W. Woolworth company, also announced increased sales.

Volume of business last month for Montgomery Ward totaled $37,212,720, an increase of 11.24 per cent over the $33,451,508 for July, 1939. Sales for the first six months of the fiscal year, which began Feb. 1, amounted to $241,450,081, compared with $219,365,339 in the 1939 period. The increase was 10.07 per cent.

Sears Gain Is $7,410,757.

A gain of $7,410,757 or 16.9 per cent was reported by Sears for July as compared with the same month last year. The respective totals were $51,351,896 and $43,941,139. The six month aggregate of $328,749,926 was 11 per cent larger than the $296,226,587 reported a year ago.

Except for a February gain of 17 per cent, the July sales increase of Sears was the largest of the fiscal year.

The lower July sales increase reported by Montgomery Ward, as compared with Sears, was believed to be due chiefly to the company's smaller representation in the large industrial cities where the gain in business activity over last year has been the greatest.

June Gains Compared.

For June, the volume of Montgomery Ward had shown an increase of 4.4 per cent over June, 1939, and sales of Sears had gained 11.5 per cent.

F. W. Woolworth company, the variety store chain, reported sales of $24,507,300 for July, an increase of 0.7 per cent over the $24,340,150 for July, 1939. For the seven months ended July 31, volume totaled $170,542,574, a gain of 4.5 per cent compared with the $163,089,508 for the corresponding period last year.

ATLAS INCREASES ITS HOLDINGS OF AVIATION STOCKS

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—An increase of more than 102,000 shares of aviation stocks in the portfolio of Atlas corporation in the first six months of 1940 was disclosed today by the investment company's report for June 30.

The heaviest acquisition among the aircrafts, compared with the Dec. 31, 1939, report, was 34,000 shares of Curtiss-Wright stock, with the second largest 30,000 shares of Northrop Aircraft.

Other aircrafts added to the holdings included Bendix Aviation, Consolidated Aircraft, Douglas, Lockheed, Glenn Martin, Republic Aviation, and United Aircraft.

Atlas also increased its General Motors holdings by 12,500 common shares.

The company reported a net profit of $3,920,055 for the six months ended June 30, including $3,854,992 profit on the sale of securities, but deducting $488,268 provision for federal income taxes.

The investment company reported indicated asset value on June 30 of $11.43 per share of its common stock, compared with $11.00 a share on June 30, 1939, and $12.80 a share on Dec. 31, 1939.

Downs, Illinois Central Chairman, in Hospital

L. A. Downs, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central railroad, has been confined to the Illinois Central hospital for the last 10 days, his office reports. He is under the care of Dr. Le Roy H. Sloan. Downs, who is 68 years old, is rounding out 36 years with the Illinois Central this year. He became chairman in 1938.

PULLMAN HEAD LASHES BACK AT MONOPOLY SUIT

Firm's Quarter Net Up to $777,846.

The Pullman group of companies has not violated and is not now violating any law of the United States, David A. Crawford, president of Pullman, Inc., asserted yesterday in reply to a recently filed government civil suit charging "monopolistic control" of the nation's railroad sleeping car business. Pullman, Inc., is the holding organization for the Pullman enterprises.

David A. Crawford.

Crawford's statement, classing the government's action as an "apparent general assault upon large scale business," was contained in the financial statement of second quarter earnings sent to stockholders.

Earnings Increase.

Consolidated profit of Pullman, Inc., was $777,846 in the quarter ended June 30, against $336,918 in the second quarter of 1939, Crawford's report showed. For the first half of 1940, net income was $3,433,662, or 89 cents a share, compared with $1,072,682, or 28 cents a share, in the first six months of 1939.

Commenting that it is usually inadvisable to engage in a "publicity contest with a government agency in legal attacks of this kind," Crawford said "it is nevertheless desirable that stockholder-owners of the assailed companies be informed that the basic allegation of restraint of trade in respect to introduction of lightweight equipment is clearly disproved."

Says Growth Is Natural.

"This action attacks a business, which during its long history since incorporation in 1867 has developed naturally into the present large scale operation, as the result of economic forces and in response to the demand of the railroads and the public for sleeping car service on a unified nation-wide basis that could best be rendered by the Pullman system of pooled operation," Crawford asserted.

"The bill of complaint filed in this case is incorrect in many statements alleged to be fact, and is wholly mistaken in its allegations with respect to the spirit and manner in which the Pullman manufacturing and car operating businesses have been conducted for so many years.

"No Change in Practice."

"There has been no change of principle or practice in the conduct of either of these businesses following the introduction in recent years of new types of passenger equipment and new methods of passenger transportation, and there is no warrant for this present belated action except as it may be found in an apparent general assault upon large scale business under federal antitrust laws."

He said the charge that Pullman has used its contract with the railroads to discourage or prevent the introduction of modern types of equipment is "clearly disproved by the facts."

He said the Pullman company, the sleeping car affiliate:

"1. Has furnished to the railroads several hundred lightweight sleeping cars of the most modern type.

"2. Has employed more than $25,000,000 of its resources in financing the investment required to place this new equipment in service.

"3. Has sought vigorously to extend such improved services on the railroads.

"4. Has additional supplies of such equipment in the course of manufac-

New York Stocks.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Steels, aircrafts, motors, and specialties led a decline in today's stock market of fractions to around 2 points.

The list was shaky from the start and dealings picked up a little momentum near the end of the first hour. While offerings dwindled substantially from then on, few recoveries were in evidence at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 0.4 of a point at 42.5, largest drop for any session since July 1. Transfers of 289,890 shares compared with 283,950 yesterday.

General Motors slipped despite declaration of the $1 dividend after Monday's close. Yellow Truck finished all even in the face of an announcement the concern had received a big war department contract. New York shipbuilding was up a shade on the outlook for new orders.

Prominent on the losing side were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, United States Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, Glenn Martin, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Great Northern, International Paper common and preferred, Loft, American Can, du Pont, Union Carbide, International Harvester, and Eastman Kodak.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—A rising movement among a few rails and Latin American issues failed to stimulate a general rise in the bond market today and the session ended with prices averaging about unchanged.

Argentine 4½s, Buenos Aires 4¾s, Cuban 4½s of '77, and Brazilian 6½s were among those advancing.

Rails up a point or more included Michigan Central 4½s, Missouri-Illinois 5s, Warner Brothers 6s, and Alleghany convertible 5s.

United States governments closed 3-32 point higher to 10-32 lower.

Chicago Stocks.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares advanced 2 points and First National declined 2 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Continental Illinois was off ⅜ point. Other leading issues were unchanged.

Commodities

Domestic copper and lead prices declined in the cash markets yesterday while most commodity futures were weakening. Santos coffee and world sugar futures established record low marks and cottonseed oil futures reached new seasonal lows. Moving the other way, zinc, cocoa, and some positions of rubber and silk made moderate gains.

Custom smelter and smaller producer sections of the copper industry reported sales at 11 cents a pound in cash dealings. This was a decline of ¼ cent a pound from the price that had prevailed since July 31. The big primary producers continued to quote 11¼ cents a pound, a price established in February. Futures dropped 0.14 to 0.15 cent a pound, with the September delivery finishing at 9.40 cents.

Leading producers of lead announced a reduction of 0.15 cent a pound to a basis of 4.70 cents, East St. Louis. The last price change was early in May, when the base was trimmed 1-10 cent a pound to 4.85 cents. There was no trading in lead futures yesterday.

Liquidation in a quiet market depressed coffee futures. The September Santos closed at 5.38 cents a pound after selling at the new low of 5.36 cents. Declines in Santos futures prices ranged from 0.02 to 0.07 cent a pound.

Liquidation was in evidence in both world and domestic sugar futures. World futures established a new low of 0.88½ cent a pound for the September contract, with the close at the bottom. Hedge pressure along with the liquidation of the domestic contract pushed the September contract down to 1.73 cents.

All deliveries of cottonseed oil futures sold below 6 cents a pound as liquidation and indifferent demand reflected weakness in grains and lard. Final prices were 0.06 to 0.08 cent a pound lower with September closing at 5.77 cents, a new seasonal low.

CORN ADVANCES; WHEAT LOWER AS RALLY IS NIPPED

Corn dominated trading in the American grain markets yesterday, advancing around 1 cent in the early trading on scattered buying induced by reports indicating serious deterioration in the outlook for the Illinois crop. The upturn in corn carried wheat along with it, but both grains later reacted, with corn closing ¼ cent higher and wheat ⅛ to ¾ cent lower on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Oats finished unchanged to ⅜ cents higher, rye 1 cent lower and soy beans ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower.

Improvement is reported in the outlook for the corn crop in Iowa, eastern Nebraska, Minnesota and southern Wisconsin as the result of heavy rains recently, but traders expressed belief that losses in Illinois and other dry areas may offset the grain elsewhere. Harvesting of the new crop is expected to get under way in Texas within about 30 days.

While the harvest of the new domestic oats crop is still incomplete, Canadian grain for the last half of August shipment is reported to be offered in New England at a price equal to 1 to 2 cents a bushel less than American oats.

TRUCK CONTRACT OF $15,254,786 IS LET BY ARMY

Stewart-Warner Receives $506,001 Order.

A $15,254,786 order for trucks placed yesterday by the war department with the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company topped reports of industrial expansion. The truck order was the largest in a group of contracts placed by the war department totaling $19,221,472. Included were contracts for powder, ammunition parts, cloth, and other materials.

The largest of the army orders, besides that for the trucks, were: Stewart-Warner corporation, Chicago, ammunition parts, $506,001; E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Inc., Wilmington, Del., powder, $175,964; Doehler Die Casting company, Pottstown, Pa., ammunition parts, $141,946; Pollak Manufacturing company, Arlington, N. J., ammunition parts, $555,350; Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company, Inc., New York, military equipment, $129,396; United States Industrial Chemicals, Inc., New York, supplies, $120,400.

Navy Contracts Awarded.

Navy orders placed during the day included: E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., ammonium picrate, $308,749; Morris, Wheeler & Company, Inc., Philadelphia, sheet steel, $120,514; Latrobe Electrical Steel company, New York, tool steel, $56,605; Carnation company, Milwaukee, Wis., canned evaporated milk, $339,474.

Chicago area manufacturers are taking a leading rôle in seeking to supply the government with various supplies in its defense program, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said. He said that an analysis of 2,857 random bids received by procurement offices in July discloses that Chicago area manufacturers entered 168, or 5.8 per cent of the total. The Chicago area contains 5 per cent of the nation's manufacturers.

Share of Bids Disclosed.

Chicago area companies entered 43 bids or 7.4 per cent of the 586 bids for machinery; 30 bids or 6 per cent of the bids for iron, steel, and other nonmechanical metal products; 7.6 per cent of the food products; 10.7 per cent of truck and tractor bids; 6.3 per cent of the chemicals, soaps and paints; and 12.3 per cent of the construction industries bids.

Among other evidences of industrial activity was announcement by Lima Locomotive Works, Inc., Lima, O., that it is working on the largest volume of orders in 10 years, with work assured at capacity in the plant for six months or more. Among the orders on which it is working are those from the Southern Pacific for 20 oil-burning streamlined passenger locomotives to cost a total of $3,500,000, 13 locomotives for the New York Central, and 4 for the Detroit, Toledo and Irontown.

Six Vessels to Be Built.

Bids were submitted yesterday on six C3 type single screw cargo vessels for the maritime commission. The offers ranged upward from $3,150,000.

Contracts were approved by the secretary of the interior for another large generating unit at the Boulder Dam power plant. Allis-Chalmers company was awarded a contract for a 115,000 horsepower turbine and pressure regulator at a cost of $584,000 and the Woodward Governor company, Rockford, was given a contract for $25,000 for a governor, with pumping equipment for regulating the speed of the huge turbine.

The A. C. F. Motors company has received an order from the Pittsburgh Motor Coach company for 30 motor coaches powered with Hall-Scott horizontal engines.

PULLMAN HEAD LASHES BACK AT MONOPOLY SUIT

Reports Increase in Firm's Earnings.

Crawford's statement outlined the pioneering work done by Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company in the development of lightweight passenger car structures and practicable separate cars and unit trains of that type.

"This whole charge—that the Pullman group of companies has obstructed or grudgingly permitted the development and use of modern passenger equipment—falls to pieces when subjected to the impact of fact," Crawford declared.

"It is the considered opinion of the management and counsel of the Pullman group of companies that these companies have not violated and are not now violating any antitrust or other laws of the United States; and further, that this suit will be successfully defended and should not therefore occasion anxiety to stockholders."

French Operations Excluded.

Earnings figures excluded the results of Entreprises Industrielles Charentaises, the French subsidiary of Pullman-Standard Car Export corporation, Crawford said. He added that operations of the company's manufacturing subsidiary have been well sustained and that future prospects are favorable, but that the sleeping car business has shown a disappointing trend during the second quarter and so far in the third quarter.

"This reflects failure of summer tourist travel to develop its expected volume on account of wartime uncertainties, and further in roads on the Pullman company's sleeping and parlor car business by competing modes of transportation, Crawford said.

PLEA TO SUBPENA ALL OF EDISON'S BOOKS REJECTED

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday denied a request by Attorney Charles Liebman, representing eight Chicago apartment dwellers, for power to subpena in their entirety records of the Commonwealth Edison company.

Liebman has filed a petition alleging that the company has failed to comply with the commission's order in 1936 to reduce electric rates $2,500,000 a year. His petition asserts that Chicago domestic users are being overcharged $1,100,000 a year. Commission Chairman William W. Hart yesterday granted Liebman permission to call as witnesses Edison employés who are familiar with the company's records.

Fred Kleinman, chief of the commission's accounting division, reported on Monday that he found no evidence that the company had failed to meet the rate reduction order.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL COAL RATE CUT MOVE REJECTED

A proposal made by the Illinois Central for lower trainload rates on coal shipped from central Illinois mines to Chicago factories located on waterways was voted down yesterday at a meeting of the Illinois freight committee. The Illinois Central, with certain other roads, favored a rate of $1.30 a ton on coal shipped in minimum trainloads of 50 cars as a means of beating barge competition.

F. H. Law, vice president in charge of traffic, and Roy E. Barr, freight traffic manager of the road, presented th. position of the Illinois Central, which has seen the barge lines take business in the Chicago area which the road formerly held. The road is seeking the lower rates to meet the charges on coal shipments made by the barge lines.

1,800 from Three Nations at Auto Accessory Show

About 1,800 representatives of the auto accessory and supply business from Canada, Mexico, and all parts of the United States had registered yesterday for the annual show of the Automobile Accessories association on Navy Pier. Merchandise is on exhibit in 298 booths. A "Hall of Merchandising" demonstrating the most effective methods of displaying products is one of the features of the show, which will last thru Thursday.

Transfer Coach-Sleepers to Chicago-California Run

The two coach-sleepers recently introduced by the Pullman company into service between Chicago and the Pacific northwest will be transferred to runs between Chicago and California, it was announced yesterday, to operate thru the remainder of the summer. The cars offer a compromise between the low cost of a coach and the sleeping advantages of the Pullman.

THE FAIR PLANS REMODELING AT COST OF $100,000

A remodeling and refurnishing program for The Fair, large Chicago department store, and its Oak Park branch to cost more than $100,000 was announced yesterday by James S. Schoff, president. Completion is expected by October.

The major change to be made will be the installation of new show windows on the State street side of the downtown store. The exterior will be of gray terra cotta and black granite, with gray granite and aluminum for a trim. Special lighting will be used. The front will extend to the second floor.

The third and fifth floors of the loop store are to be modernized. In the Oak Park branch, the basement will be altered to include displays of household appliances, china, and glassware. The plans also include remodeling of the second and third floors of the suburban store.

I. C. C. APPROVES LEASING OF TWO TEXAS RAILROADS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission today authorized the Colorado and Southern Railway company to lease the properties owned and operated by the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company and the Wichita Valley Railway company, both Texas lines.

Texas interests, including the state, its railroad commission, chambers of commerce of Fort Worth and Childress, and various labor organizations opposed the Colorado and Southern's application for the lease. They said they feared control of the Texas lines would be transferred from Fort Worth to Denver and that numerous employés might lose their jobs.

The Colorado and Southern is controled by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. The Colorado and Southern in turn controls the two Texas lines.

EXCESS PROFITS MAY BE TAXED AS MUCH AS 40 PCT.

Urge Speed in Defense Plant Expansion.

profit of $65,000, the excess would be $15,000, less the specific exemption of $5,000, making the taxable excess profit $10,000. The first 10 per cent of the credit of $50,000 is $5,000, taxable at 25 per cent or a tax of $1,250. The second 10 per cent would be taxable at 30 per cent, or a tax of $1,500. The total tax thus would be $2,750, or about 27½ per cent of the excess profits. No example was given on the complicated second alternative.

Earlier today the subcommittee had urged industry to go ahead with plant expansion on assurances that amortization provisions would be made more liberal. The statement, made by Cooper and supported by Representative Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee, was believed prompted by word that a $31,871,349 contract for army bombers had been held up because the Boeing Aircraft company of Seattle had refused to expand its plant facilities until congress authorized shorter amortization periods.

Period Extends to 20 Years.

At present 10 to 20 years are permitted for writing off plant costs by the treasury in determination of taxes. Other defense work has also been delayed because manufacturers objected to the present amortization policy.

Under the tentative provision, as drawn up by the subcommittee, Cooper said that some taxpayers would have the right to amortize the costs of plant or equipment over less than five years. A manufacturer who claimed 20 per cent for each of three years and then found his plant useless if the emergency period had ended, would be permitted to reopen his tax returns and adjust his amortization to take 33⅓ per cent in each of three years.

Pleads for Prompt Action.

Cooper said that he was making this statement in the presence of William S. Knudsen, production coordinator on the national defense commission, and the full membership of the ways and means subcommittee "with the hope that contractors will accept it and will feel justified to rely upon it and go forward with the execution of contracts that are so necessary and vital to the national defense of the country.

"I am authorized to state," he said, "that Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee and Chairman Pat Harrison [D., Miss.] of the senate finance committee feel confident that the recommendations of the tax subcommittee will be approved by the full committees."

A joint conference at the treasury yesterday paved the way for assurances that amortization will be allowed over less than five years if necessary. On the previous day Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. had a lengthy "back porch" tax conference with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y. The President has abandoned his first request for an excess profits tax on individuals, Morgenthau said yesterday.

Morgenthau Issues Ruling.

Mogenthau today announced a bureau of internal revenue ruling affecting the Vinson-Trammell act that will enable contractors to include as a cost the interest paid on money borrowed for the acquisition of special facilities in connection with contracts under the national defense program.

The treasury said that this ruling is expected to facilitate the furnishing of capital and credit to industries desiring to participate in the defense program and that it will make it possible for contractors of modest means to receive the same net profit on emergency orders for the war and navy departments as contractors with ample liquid capital. Under the ruling, interest on working capital necessarily required to operate emergency facilities also will be allowed as a cost, with the rate limited in both cases to 4 per cent.

OIL PRODUCTION LOWER FOR WEEK IN STATES, NATION

United States daily crude oil production declined 194,177 barrels to 3,494,217 for the week ended Aug. 3, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday.

Oklahoma displaced Illinois as third largest producer with an increase of 10,225 barrels to 413,850 barrels a day. Illinois production continued its decline of recent weeks with a drop of 10,086 barrels to 408,545 barrels daily. The largest decline was in Texas, where production was off 184,296 to 1,169,893. Concerning Illinois developments during the week, the Journal said: "Montgomery county jumped into the limelight with two oil completions and a third well which was reported making 75 barrels per day on the pump. Bond county had 67 completions and 84 new operations reported."

Four Tires of Synthetic Rubber Arrive in Chicago

Four tires made of Ameripol, new synthetic rubber developed by B. F. Goodrich Rubber company, arrived in Chicago yesterday by United Air Lines plane from Akron, O. Consigned to A. C. Kelly, Chicago district manager of the company, and G. D. Motherwell, assistant district manager, the tires were placed on an automobile at the airport and driven to the Goodrich offices at 333 West Lake street. J. J. Newman, vice president, and James W. Schade, director of research of the Goodrich company, will be the principal speakers today at lunch being given by Goodrich at the Palmer House.

Senate Gets Opposing Views on Latin America Loan Plan

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—A majority of the senate banking committee declared today that a proposed $500,000,000 increase in the capital of the Export-Import bank was "an essential measure of economic preparedness for ourselves and our Latin American neighbors against the uncertain future of a war torn world."

The committee made this report to the senate at about the same time that a minority of seven members filed a protest condemning the proposed Latin American lending as "unsound, futile, and a waste of the people's money."

The measure provides that the bank's capital shall be increased from $200,000,000 to $700,000,000, with authority to make loans to governments or central banks in the western hemisphere.

Hull Terms Action Essential.

Earlier today Secretary of State Hull sent a letter to the house banking committee saying the bill was essential to economic defense of the western hemisphere.

"The bill places this government in a better position to meet an emergency which might otherwise eventuate in irreparable economic chaos and further totalitarian infiltration in Latin America.

"A situation of political, social and economic instability in the Latin American republics renders them helpless of defense against future domination and control by totalitarian forces.

"Such a situation demands and justifies anticipatory steps to prevent a disastrous economic and political future. The authority established by the bill is thus vital to our own defense and to the rigorous application of the Monroe Doctrine thruout the western hemisphere."

Charge Bill Is Invalid.

The minority report made these assertions, among others:

"1. The bill is unconstitutional.

"2. The policy of international surplus control is not only futile but positively harmful to the producers of South America and North America alike.

"3. The furnishing of economic aid to South America is not an advisable foreign policy.

"4. The new policy has a distinctly anti-German flavor.

"5. In our opinion, the ultimate effect of the policy proposed will be distinctly harmful to the United States and to its producers."

Signers of the minority report were Senators Frazier [R., N. D.], Townsend [R., Del.], Adams [D., Colo.], Herring [D., Ia.], Tobey [R., N. H.], Danaher [R., Conn.], and Taft [R., O.].

Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, took the witness stand to deny that the expanded lending authority of the bank was a plan to buy up South American surpluses to sell to Great Britain.

COURT APPROVES ALLEGHANY PLAN AND STAYS TRIAL

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—In a further step toward changing the indentures for bond issues of the Alleghany corporation, Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell today signed an order staying the trial of the pending litigation involving the corporation and its three trustees. The stay will permit Alleghany to go forward with the plan of indenture readjustment for its issues of 1944, 1949, and 1950. The court took the action in approving the indenture readjustment plan.

Alleghany's application advised the court that the substance of the readjustment plan now has been finally approved by the trustees and would be recommended by them to the respective bondholders.

The court ruled that the proposed plan is fair and equitable to bondholders and the corporation. Judge Leibell said the effect of the plan will be [1] to remedy the difficulties caused by the complicated 150 per cent collateral ratio provision in the existing indentures, and thereby to assure the regular payment of interest on all three issues, [2] to stabilize the collateral under the 1944s and 1949s, and [3] to permit the building up of the 1950s collateral out of surplus funds.

TVA AND UNIONS SIGN ONE YEAR LABOR CONTRACT

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 6 (AP).—David E. Lilienthal, director of the Tennessee Valley authority, announced today the first signed labor contract between the TVA and its 8,000 employés in the building construction and metal trades, represented by the Tennessee Valley Trades and Labor council.

He described the agreement, effective for one year, as "charting the way toward welding together groups which are dependent upon each other in a terrific industrial program."

The labor council represents 15 international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

DETROIT TAKES TITLE TO SKYSCRAPER HOTEL IN TAX FORECLOSURE

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6 [Special].—Title to the 22 story Hotel Barlum passed today to the city of Detroit as the result of a tax foreclosure suit.

City Treasurer Albert E. Cobo announced that the city had leased the property to the Pick Hotels, Inc., of Chicago for three months at $2,500 a month. Cobo said the rental approximated the amount of tax income to which the city would normally be entitled. The Pick company operates 16 other hotels and has operated the Barlum sinch March 1. Cobo said the city hopes to find a buyer for the property within 90 days.

Built in 1927, the downtown skyscraper hotel had a first mortgage debt of $1,570,000 when it went into bankruptcy. The court in the foreclosure suit found that the Barlum owed the city $376,303 in taxes and $1,184,554 in interest and principal on the original debt. The court set the present value on the property at $640,000.

SHIPMENTS THRU 'SOO' LOCKS MAY SET NEW RECORD

Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 6 [Special].—Iron ore shipments thru the "Soo" locks in July totaled 10,775,121 tons, with the total freight movement rising to the highest figure of the year at 13,841,813 tons, it was announced today.

Last month's total brought the season's shipments to 40,825,685 tons, indicating a new record for Great Lakes shipping may be established this year. The July movement of iron ore to the steel centers was 966,290 tons more than that of June and was about equal to that of July a year ago.

Wheat shipments continued to fall as grain elevators at the head of the lakes remained filled virtually to capacity. The July total was 17,371,258 bushels, compared with 24,158,597 in June and 20,366,083 in July, 1939.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Prices of hogs were unchanged to lower yesterday, with demand failing to improve in spite of moderate receipts, cooler weather, and another rise in wholesale markets for fresh pork. Most classes of hogs sold at about the same prices as on Monday, but some grades showed 5 to 10 cents loss. Top sales, at $6.55, were off 5 cents. The day's average was steady, at $5.90.

Steers and yearlings met good demand at mostly 15 to 25 cents higher prices. Heifers ruled strong to 25 cents higher. Beef cows, canners, cutters, and bulls sold strong to 15 cents higher. Calves rose 25 to 50 cents. Further advances of 10 to 15 cents were registered in the market for lambs.

2 INDIANA FIRMS SEEK TAX WRIT AGAINST ILLINOIS

Push Fight on Revision of Retailer Levy.

Two Indiana coal companies attempting to test the legality of revised article 5 of the Illinois retailers' occupational tax act have filed a brief in the circuit court of Sangamon county, Springfield, Ill., Earl B. Wilkinson, attorney, said yesterday.

Under the new ruling, taxes are levied on purchases made thru Illinois offices of out of state companies. Previously these sales were tax exempt.

The brief asks that the court take jurisdiction in the case and issue a preliminary injunction enjoining action against the plaintiffs until the court has decided on the merits of the case. The attorney general of the state will file a brief in answer.

Complaint Filed June 21.

Opening the case, a bill of complaint was filed June 21. The court directed the filing of briefs at the time.

Wilkinson asked in his complaint that Samuel L. Nudelman, state director of finance, be enjoined from forcing the plaintiffs to obtain certificates to do business in Illinois and to file a return of the coal shipped to Illinois, and from assessing any tax on these sales or penalties for failing to obtain the certificate, file the return, or pay the tax.

The companies which made the complaint are Knox Consolidated Coal corporation and Ayrshire Patoka Collieries corporation, both with headquarters in Indianapolis. Both ship large amounts of coal to Chicago. Knox has an office and Ayrshire an exclusive agent in Chicago to solicit orders.

Outlines Company Stand.

In his arguments presenting the complaint in June, Wilkinson contended that soliciting of orders by company representatives in Illinois and then sending them to Indiana to be filled do not constitute doing business in this state. He cited several cases to support his stand.

Coal is sold f. o. b. mine and the purchaser becomes the owner at the time of delivery to the railroad for transportation, he contended. Thus, he said, the sale actually takes place in Indiana. Such a sale would not be subject to Illinois tax, he declared.

The revision of article 5 provides that goods bought from outside Illinois for consumption within the state thru a seller located in the state are subject to the Illinois occupational tax [often termed a sales tax].

PREPARE TO ISSUE RULES.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—The bituminous coal division of the department of the interior announced today it had completed mailing of minimum price schedules to coal producers and was preparing to issue rules and findings of facts.

Howerd A. Gray, division director, said he expected to issue the findings of facts immediately after the market rules had been issued.
